House Passes Small Business Tax Relief Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House shouted its approval of a 260 million dollar tax relief bill for small business Monday despite scattered charges that it was inadequate and a "mirage."

The Senate also was expected to approve the legislation. President Eisenhower favors the legislation although he has slammed the door on general tax relief this year.

The small business measure was strongly supported by lawmakers from both parties. It was passed under a procedure barring amendments and requiring a two-thirds majority for passage. Only a few no's were heard.

The only opposition came from lawmakers who protested the bill failed to provide enough relief. But chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) of the House Ways & Means Committee told the House "we can't afford more".

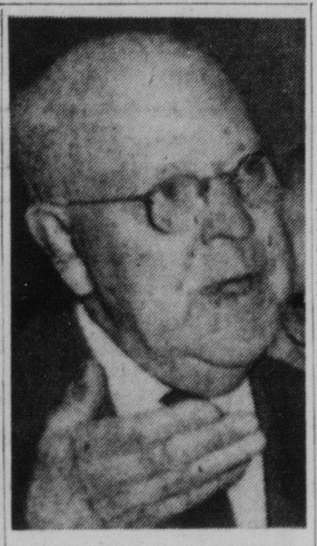
The bill would not provide for any reduction in tax rates. Its chief provision would permit small business firms to reduce their taxable income by deducting an increased percentage of machinery and equipment costs for depreciation in the first year after purchase.

This would free funds for reinvestment or other purposes at an earlier date than is now possible.

The liberalized depreciation allowance would be available to any taxpayer investing in income-producing equipment or machinery. This could include manufacturers, merchants and farmers.

However, it would apply only to the first $10,000 of investment outlays each year or $20,000 in the case of joint tax returns. This is aimed at making the bill of greater value to small business than large corporations.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) objected that the measure was not a small business bill because its benefits would go largely to manufacturers. He said 80 per cent of the nation's small businessmen would get little benefit because they are engaged in trades and services involving little investment in depreciable assets.



CRITICIZES ADAMS — Rosswell M. Austin, retired member of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, gestures as he talks with newsmen outside the hearing room after waiting yesterday to testify before a House Armed Services Subcommittee. Austin said he felt Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams made an improper inquiry in behalf of Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., defunct New England textile firm, in a case involving late delivery of fabric for Army uniforms. Leathernecks Join Lebanon Army Patrols

BEIRUT (AP) — U.S. Marines joined Lebanese army patrols Monday with the aim of stopping attacks on American planes flying noncombat missions over Lebanon.

Other top developments:

1. The United States was making a strong diplomatic effort to stop the Lebanese civil war through compromise measures.

2. A U.S. Navy spokesman here said American forces in the Mideast have "atomic capability." The Defense Department in Washington later sought to ease the impact of this statement, saying it "can not foresee any circumstances requring the use of atomic weapons" in the current Lebanese situation.

The Leathernecks strove, with patrols of the Lebanese army, to reduce rebel sniper fire on Marine guards at strategic points as well as on planes.

They also took over guard duty at the British Embassy, relieving a Lebanese detail. The patrol action seemed likely to increase the Marines' contact with rebel-held areas.

The Marines sometimes had returned sniper fire in the last few days, but otherwise left counteraction to the Lebanese government's armed forces.

Rifle and machine-gun bullets have nicked 16 American planes since the landings last week. No casualties have resulted. A rebel area is in the path of planes using Beirut's International Airport.

Speaking of the equipment of the American forces, the Navy spokesman reported "all combat units, including ground, air and sea have atomic capability."

The 6,300 Marines brought with them howitzers capable of throwing atomic shells about 11 miles. The Navy spokesman did not specifically say they had atomic warheads, but the implication seemed clear. The 3,100 paratroopers from West Germany also have landed heavy artillery.

In Paris, Soviet sources said there was a possibility Moscow would send troops to adjoining Syria if an emergency summit conference failed to bring a Mideast settlement. These informants said Moscow believes the United States is building up a strong base in Lebanon for an attack on Syria or the Nasser-allied regime in Iraq.

"If the situation is not regulated, there is every possibility the United Arab Republic (headed by Nasser) will ask us to station troops in Syria, and we will," the Soviet sources said.

The news in Washington, London and Paris, however, was that the Western powers were refusing to be rushed into the summit talks proposed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. They believed the problem should be fully dealt with in the United Nations first.

To counter Soviet charges of American aggressive aims here, U. S. planes began a leaflet-dropping campaign. A million leaflets in Arabic were dropped from one end of Lebanon to the other Monday telling the people American forces would leave as soon as the United Nations has taken measures assuring the independence of Lebanon. The leaflets carried pictures of President Eisenhower.

Allies Shun Kremlin Boss' Summit Bid

Note Will Suggest Charges Be Aired Before U.N. Council

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western allies drafted a note to Soviet Premier Khrushchev Monday challenging him to complain to the United Nations Security Council if he believes Anglo-American military action endangers international peace.

This was understood to be their joint answer to Khrushchev's dramatic bid for an immediate Big Five summit conference to consider the Middle East crisis.

The main line of the American-British - French answer became known after President Eisenhower had met for 55 minutes with Secretary of State Dulles. This was toward the end of a day of intense allied diplomatic activity.

The American - British - French answer to Khrushchev was reported designed to avoid any specific proposal for a summit-level meeting even within the United Nations.

It ruled out any thought of an immediate heads - of - government parley in Geneva Tuesday as Khrushchev had proposed.

Two Main Points

Instead, the Western allies were reported hammering hard at these two main points:

1. The United Nations Security Council already is considering the problem of American troops in Lebanon. Any country on this 11-nation group has the right to ask the Council to enlarge its work to consider other matters if it believes a grave danger to world peace exists.

This could be viewed as a challenge for Khrushchev to present such accusations personally since governments can be represented at the U.N. by leaders of even the highest rank.

2. The three Western governments are ready and willing to resume confidential talks with Moscow to prepare for an over-all summit conference on the great world issues.

Such a broad summit parley could include Middle East problems if East - West diplomats agreed to this as part of their preparatory spadework.

The State Department agreed with the British and French Foreign Offices on the main outline of the parallel, but not identical, answers to be sent to Moscow, perhaps Tuesday.

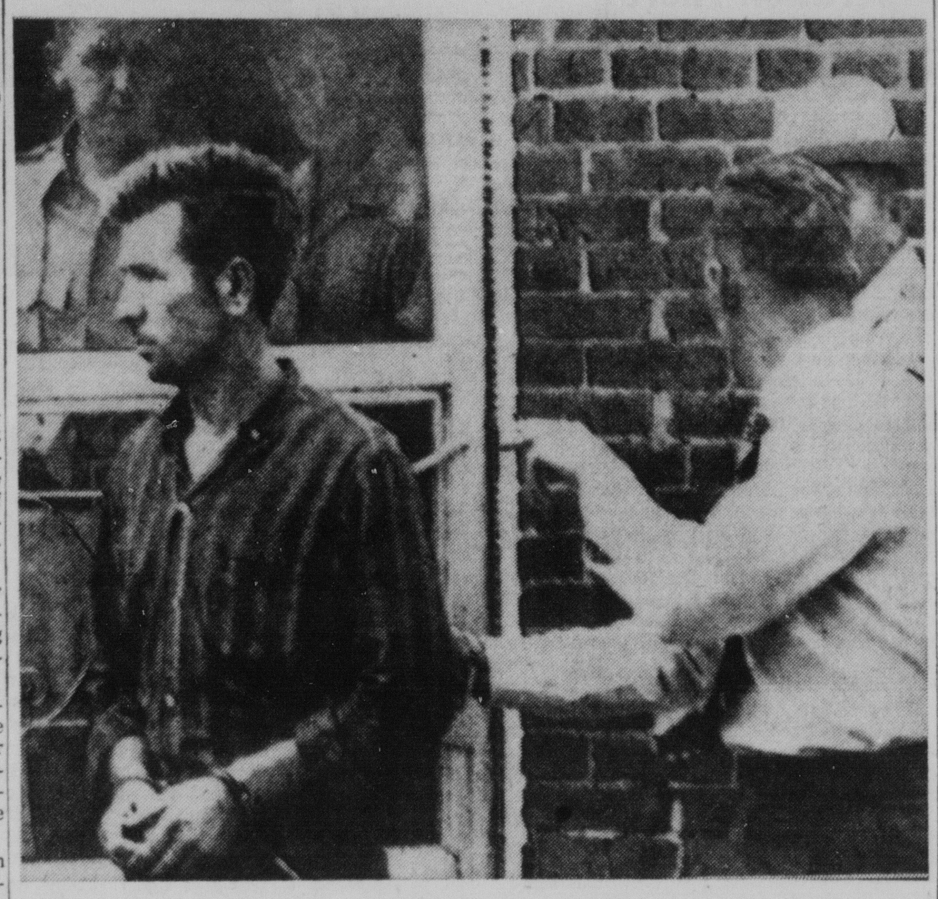
Council Duties Noted

The draft of the American answer was understood to note that the Security Council under Article 24 is specifically charged with maintaining international peace and security. Further, the Council also is responsible for determining a threat to world peace.

Just noting these Security Council duties amounts to challenging Khrushchev to back up his charges that British-American forces are guilty of aggression by their troop landings in the Middle East.

Khrushchev gravely called the landings a threat to world peace in explaining why he wants an immediate summit conference.

Diplomatic spadework to prepare for a summit conference collapsed temporarily, at least, in Moscow nearly two months ago with neither side able to agree on a suitable agenda. The United States particularly has insisted that such a meeting be carefully prepared in advance to assure its success.



Ex-Convict Seized In Bride's Slaying

Clayton E. Breeding, 26-year-old ex-convict, is escorted from Newark, Del., police station after his capture early yesterday in connection with the June 30 slaying of Mrs. Ruth Ellen Cannon, 19-year-old bride of three months, of Burrsville, Md. She was found strangled with strips of cloth from her blouse. Breeding was nabbed by a policeman who was answering a burglar alarm at a veterans post home. (Story on page 3) (AP Photofax)

Sobolev Says Compromise Unacceptable

Special Session Of U.N. Assembly Is Foreshadowed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union assailed as unacceptable Monday night a Middle East compromise aimed both at safeguarding Lebanon's independence and making it possible for U.S. Marines to withdraw.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev strongly indicated in a speech to the Security Council his country would veto the compromise plan advanced by Japan and endorsed by a majority of the Council, including the United States and Britain.

Outside the Council he refused to say flatly whether he would cast the Soviet Union's 85th Council veto. The veto would leave the Council helpless to cope with the explosive Middle East crisis. In that event a special session of the full 81-nation General Assembly was expected.

The Council adjourned at 7:12 p.m. (EDT) until 10:30 a.m. Tuesday without taking a vote. The action was suggested by Lebanon. It wanted additional time to consult with Beirut on the Japanese resolution.

Plan Gives Dag Authority

The Japanese resolution gives Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold full authority to strengthen the present U.N. observer group in Lebanon in whatever way he deems necessary to protect that country's independence.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared the United States believes the resolution "represents the indispensable minimum action which the United Nations should take in Lebanon at this time."

"It could lead to conditions which would make possible the withdrawal of United States forces from Lebanon," he added.

Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain endorsed the resolution as a "praiseworthy attempt" to salvage something out of the situation. He offered also to explore with Hammarskjold steps to create conditions in Jordan that would permit withdrawal of British troops.

Sobolev urged the Council to give prime consideration to the call by Soviet Premier Khrushchev for a summit conference on the Middle East.

"In our opinion it is not too late to put out the fire of war, and this meeting is one of the measures for doing this," he said. "It is urgent to have it."

Sobolev's Argument

He said the summit meeting contemplates a settlement within the framework of the United Nations "because from the very beginning the participation of the secretary general is contemplated."

The United States and Britain take the position that the summit proposal bypasses the U.N., even though Hammarskjold is invited to attend.

Sobolev said a special Assembly session must deal with the situation if the Council cannot take action. Both the United States and the Soviet Union have resolutions before the Council asking for an emergency session but for divergent reasons.

The Soviet Union wants the Assembly to take up "the intervention of the United States and Britain in Lebanon and Jordan." The United States puts emphasis on the protection of Lebanon from indirect aggression by President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Hammarskjold told the Council an expanded observer group would enable the United Nations to carry out its responsibilities in Jordan.

"I hope this will equally be recognized by the parties concerned, thus providing for the early withdrawal of United States forces from Lebanon," he added.

92 Americans Who Fled Iraq Arrive In Rome

ROME (UPI)—The first planeload of Americans evacuated from Iraq arrived here Monday night: 2 men, 36 women, 54 children and 1 dachshund.

The men and women apparently were under orders from the State Department to say nothing about conditions in the Middle East country seized in a rebel coup July 14. But some of them did say Baghdad was serene and quiet.

The passengers looked somewhat tired, but appeared in good spirits. Their plane had stopped briefly at Ankara en route from Baghdad to Rome. About a dozen of the women were pregnant.

Maj. Robert Kilby, the flight project officer, read a formal statement saying that the flight was made "with the help of present authorities in Iraq."

"The move was prompted by unsettled conditions in the area," the statement said.

U. S. authorities in Rome estimated that 1,500 Americans would be evacuated from Iraq.

Kilby refused to say whether the passengers were under orders not to speak about the situation in Iraq.

The U. S. Embassy provided lodgings for the evacuees.

Trujillo Makes Marriage Plans

ENSENADA, Mexico (UPI) — Playboy Gen. Rafael Trujillo Monday made plans to marry actress Lita Milan, as soon as he produces legal proof of divorce from his first wife.

Ensenada Justice of the Peace Miguel Torres said the free-spending general and the Latin-looking actress were in his office Sunday night to ask for information about performing the ceremony.

Torres told the couple this was impossible unless he had proof of divorce. Trujillo was reported to have recently secured a Mexican divorce from his Dominican Republic wife—the mother of his six children.

Canada In Favor Of Summit Talks

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada hopes for a summit meeting on the Mideast as soon as possible, and meantime expects all concerned to maintain the status quo.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker voiced this view in Parliament Monday. He disclosed Canada had urged Britain, the United States and India to make a "positive and immediate response" to Premier Khrushchev's bid for a five-power meeting.

Sen. Proxmire Goes To Bat For Fair Trade Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William H. Proxmire (D-Wis.) urged Congress Monday to head off "jungle warfare" among American retailers by approving "fair trade" legislation permitting manufacturers to set minimum retail prices.

Proxmire appeared before a special Senate commerce subcommittee in behalf of a bill introduced by him and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

The Wisconsin senator said small businessmen are a "prime victim of the recession" and it is "time Congress did something about" fair trade laws.

A sharp dissent was issued by Charles F. Fort, president of Food Town Ethical Pharmacies, Inc., Baton Rouge, La. Fort said his stores would refuse to sell at prices "dictated by price-fixing manufacturers" until "every legal recourse had been exhausted."

He said the bill woud raise prices by 10 to 30 per cent in all "low-price high-volume retail type stores" and would be "harmful" to small business and consumers.

Supporting the bill was Maurice Mermey, director of the Bureau of Education on Fair Trade, New York City. He said the retailer who "demands the right" to set his own prices on brand products is "demanding a life and death warrant" over any merchandise he wants to "exploit."

He said nationally advertised cut-rate prices on name products "assassinates the character" of local retailers and leads to "chaos" in the retail market.

Mermey said 16 state supreme courts have found state fair trade laws constitutional but that 14 others have found it "fashionable to . . . find them unconstitutional." These states, he said, have "left holes in the market" which Congress should plug.

Second Man Seized In Fire-Bombing

BALTIMORE (AP) — A second man wanted in connection with the fire-bombing of a truck last month was arrested by Northeastern District police Monday.

Police Capt. Millard Horton said 30-year-old Alfred S. Lloyd of Baltimore was charged with malicious burning and auto larceny. Lloyd probably will be arraigned Tuesday on the auto charge, he said, then be turned over to Baltimore County authorities.

Charged earlier with malicious burning was Francis W. Jones, 28, also of Baltimore. He is under police guard at South Baltimore General Hospital, recovering from serious burns.

Police said Jones was caught in a flareback last June 25 when gasoline was hurled into the cab of a furniture truck parked in the Rodgers Forge section just north of the Baltimore limits.

Algeria Rebels Bomb Theater, Killing Five

ALGIERS (UPI) — French military headquarters disclosed Monday that five persons were killed and 37 others wounded when rebels exploded a hand grenade in a crowded open-air movie theater near Oran.

Officials report that many of the injured were children.

The announcement said the explosion occurred Friday night at Saint Denis du Sig, 30 miles east of Oran. News of the bombing was held up by military authorities until Monday.

On the military front, meanwhile, more French army reinforcements, newly - arrived from Tunisia and Morocco, were moving into combat zones across Algeria to firm up French defenses against Moslem rebel bands.

Budget Deficit For Fiscal 1958 Nearly 3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary reports Monday showed the national budget was in the red $2,813,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year last June 30.

The deficit was more than five times greater than that predicted by President Eisenhower last January, and was blamed largely on the recession slump in individual and business earnings.

The figure was based on preliminary reports still subject to revision, according to a joint announcement by Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and Budget Director Maurice H. Stans.

Officials are estimating a budget deficit of 10 to 12 billion dollars for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The deficit came after two fiscal years in which government budget books were in the black.

Eisenhower had predicted in January the deficit for the 1958 fiscal year, which ended June 30, would be only 400 million dollars.

Receipts for the fiscal year were $69,083,000,000, almost two billion dollars lower than fiscal 1957. Budget spending during the year was $71,900,000,000, an increase of 2½ billion dollars over fiscal 1957.

Post-Sputnik emphasis on defense, recession programs and later outlays under the farm price support program boosted spending.

The outlook for the new fiscal year is for revenues remaining near the fiscal 1958 levels while spending soars.

The federal budget showed a surplus of $1,600,000,000 in both the 1956 and 1957 fiscal years.

Anderson and Stans made no comment on the budget situation, merely reporting the figures.

Eisenhower's January estimate of receipts predicted revenues, taxes and other income would be $72,400,000,000. The actual total was $3,317,000,000 lower. All broad revenue categories netted less than he estimated.

Adams Is Defended By Commerce Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sherman Adams was criticized Monday for intervening in a government contract dispute last year. He was also defended from another quarter as a man of integrity.

The defense of President Eisenhower's right-hand man came from Secretary of Commerce Weeks. Weeks was the third Cabinet member to speak for Adams since the Goldfine probe hit the front pages.

Adams, Weeks said, has acknowledged an error in judgment in his relations with an old friend, Bernard Goldfine, the Boston textile magnate.

"For that mistake—and where is the man who never makes a mistake?—he has been whip-lashed more brutally than any man in public life in our generation," Weeks said in a statement.

A short time earlier, Roswell M. Austin said he thought Adams acted improperly when he made an inquiry about a case handled by the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals late in 1957.

But Austin, a retired member of the board, added that neither Adams nor an unidentified member of Congress who also interested himself in the case swayed the board in any way.

The White House has said Adams merely relayed inquiries and replies about the case, involving the now defunct Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., of Manchester, N.H.

Weeks said that from years of close association "I know Sherman Adams to be a man of integrity."

"He has been unfairly treated before a congressional committee and cruelly smeared by vindictive hatemongers."

It was understood that Weeks intended to attach the hatemonger label only on unfriendly witnesses who testified against Goldfine and Adams rather than to members of the committee. Adams has acknowledged accepting expensive favors from Goldfine but has denied that Goldfine got special treatment from government agencies in return.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of the Interior Seaton also have defended Adams in the face of demands that he resign.

Late last year the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals cut to $8,500 a $49,784 wartime penalty assessed against Raylaine Worsteds for late delivery of Army uniform serge. A request for a $25,000 refund had been denied earlier.

Austin told reporters Adams and the congressman acted to resurrect the case.

Strike Halts Atom Projects

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Work on two projects at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site was halted Monday, due to a strike by guards.

The projects are construction work on test facilities for an atomic rocket engine, and construction work for a series of nuclear test blasts planned for next winter.

Construction halted when site workers observed picket lines thrown up by the guards at all three test site entrances.

The guards, 105 strong, walked out Sunday, climaxing a wage dispute. Their union is an independent one, but members of craft unions representing 500 test site workers observed the picket line. Officials of the craft union said the workers were acting as individuals.

The Independent Guard Assn. of Nevada is asking a 17.5 cents an hour wage hike plus 2.4 cents in fringe benefits.

Russia Protests Airlift Of Troops Over Austria

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union protested Monday against the airlift of American troops over Austria.

The protest was timed to coincide with the arrival of Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab in Moscow for a week-long visit aimed at getting the Soviets to lighten his country's heavy reparations load.

Austria, neutral by treaty but pro-Western by popular sentiment, said Saturday it obtained U.S. assurance there would be no further unauthorized flights over Austrian territory. The United States said the decision to send troops from Germany to Turkey was made too hastily to win formal clearance for the flights over Austria.

The formal Soviet protest was given to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson at 12:30 p.m. Moscow time and announced over Moscow radio less than four hours later.

About the same time, the Soviets handed Thompson a reply to the U.S. protest against the shooting down of a U.S. Air Force plane in Soviet Armenia. The contents of this note were not immediately known.

The Soviet protest said the U.S. airlift of troops to the Middle East violated Austrian air space and the Austrian peace treaty. The Kremlin asked for an immediate halt to the flights.

Nasser Back In Cairo For Address Today

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—President Nasser returned home Monday after a week which brought his Arab nationalist movement great gains in the turbulent Middle East.

He conferred immediately with aides and made preparations for a speech which will highlight celebration Tuesday of the sixth anniversary of the Egyptian revolution.

The traditional military parades and big civilian festivities have been eliminated from the holiday program due to the Mideast emergency, leaving the stage entirely to Nasser. About a quarter of a million people are expected to hear his speech.

Syrians, Egyptians Caught In Squeeze

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Developments in the past 24 hours here left observers with the impression the Syrians and Egyptians are caught in a difficult squeeze of their own regarding their intentions toward Jordan.

As of this moment, the government seems to have the situation fairly under control. There is no reason to believe subversive forces intend to remain inactive for long.

The squeeze has developed this way:

The Syrians and Egyptians do not want to invite U.S. military intervention here. Already there are 2,000 British parachute troops on hand. Any really violent manifestation here might immediately invite the Americans to come in; King Hussein has stated he expects American help.

The Egyptians and Syrians are in danger of losing the momentum of the movement generated by the revolution in Iraq. They may think it perilous to stand still with regard to this country.

Thinking people appear to realize the world war potentialities in the Mideast situation but the trouble here is that those responsible for violence are not given to thinking.

The calm of Amman is not often broken. When it is, efficient government forces know what to do about it.

The impression persists that the Syrians and Egyptians are marking time, waiting for the Iraqi situation to jell and be digested. This may give this little country sufficient breathing space to prepare for the next attempts on its sovereignty.

It is extremely difficult to discuss the situation from here for the usual reasons attendant upon recurrent crises in Mideast countries. But this much seems certain—this particular crisis is going to be long and deep, for this whole Mideast area.

The announcement of the visit of Sheik Sir Abdullah As Sabbah of Kuwaitt to Damascus to confer with President Nasser has ominous overtones.

It is most likely Sheik Abdullah has been badly shaken by events in the north. Inside his country, which I visited a month ago, Nasser's propaganda has been powerful. The activities of Nasser supporters have been bearing fruit in internal ferment. Kuwaitis are outnumbered in their own country by people in the Mideastern states who imported the ferment and passed it on to Kuwaiti youth.

Abdullah probably is attempting to plumb Nasser's ultimate intentions toward his country with the knowledge the Egyptians still are eager to gain control of the major oil producing areas.

Crisis Caused Operation Alert News Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Middle East crisis resulted in a news blackout on Operation Alert 1958, last week's government wide civil mobilization test.

Officials disclosed Monday the blackout was imposed to avoid possible panic arising from public confusion between the drill and the real crisis in Lebanon, Jordan and Iraq.

Director Leo A. Hoegh of the Office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization ordered the ban on information, an ODCM spokesman said, shortly after President Eisenhower dispatched U.S. Marines to Lebanon last Tuesday.

Eisenhower's action came just as 4,500 key federal workers in about 40 departments and agencies were leaving Washington for secret relocation sites for a three-day test of government operations under simulated wartime conditions.

"We didn't want anyone to get the impression that the government was mobilizing in its relocation sites because of the international situation," said the ODCM spokesman, Harvey Mott.

Hassle Delays Opening Of Va. 'Model' School

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — School bells didn't ring as scheduled Monday for opening classes at a model private school sponsored by an Arlington County segregationist group.

More than 40 students were registered but classes were postponed indefinitely — until a hassle with county authorities is cleared up.

Jack Rathbone, acting secretary of the 10th District Educational Corp., talked with reporters who came to observe opening day.

The corporation's board of directors, he said, didn't want to subject students and teachers to the "harassing confusion" of county inspectors "swarming over the premises."

County officials say the private school must conform to county regulations. William H. Kennedy, zoning administrator, said inspectors will visit the two-story building Tuesday. He said there will be health, fire, electrical, plumbing, building and zoning inspectors as well as a child care official.

Rathbone said a state law exempts private schools from complying with all regulations for public schools. He said he was ready to repel inspectors "if they insist we comply with all county regulations."

Baghdad Hotel Raid Described By Newsman

By STAN CARTER

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Just a month after one of the plushest hotels in the Mideast opened, soldiers took away 11 of its guests. Four were beaten to death by a mob. Three barely escaped with their lives. The fate of the four others—all Jordanians—is still not known.

The dead included three Americans:

Eugene Burns, Sausalito, Calif.
George Colley, San Francisco.
Robert Alcock, Altadena, Calif.

A German, Heinrich Stempel of Grevenbroich, Germany, was the fourth killed.

All the victims but the four unaccounted for apparently were seized on the whim of the soldiers. The soldiers did not physically mistreat them and even made a half-hearted effort to save them from the mob.

The army officers who staged last Monday's revolution issued orders to protect foreigners. In mob demonstrations that followed the army's takeover, the British Embassy and the British Information Service and consulate were sacked.

Retired British Col. P. L. Graham, comptroller of the household of the embassy, was shot dead on the embassy steps. There were no demonstrations against other embassies.

The 90 guests of the Baghdad Hotel when the soldiers arrived at 9:15 a.m. on Monday were all foreigners. The hotel with its 200 rooms and 200 baths is said to be the most luxurious—and most expensive—in this part of the world.

The soldiers, accompanied by two men dressed in open white shirts and slacks, rolled up in a sand-colored desert patrol car and a black limousine. Their aim apparently was to get four Jordan ministers of the Arab Federation of Iraq and Jordan; these were the four hotel guests whose fate is unknown.

The soldiers and plainclothesmen deployed around the entrance to the hotel and the hotel garage and forced taxi drivers, bellhops and doormen to raise their hands and stand against a wall. All were searched.

The officer in command entered the lobby with two enlisted men and directed the staff and several of the guests there to put up their hands and join the group outside.

The soldiers ripped out telephones and ransacked the desk in the office of the Swiss hotel manager. The manager was forced at gunpoint to take the officer and two men to the rooms occupied by the Jordanian ministers. The first, second and third rooms were empty but they found the ministers in the fourth room.

The Jordanians were marched through the lobby and into the limousine.

Room numbers of foreigners were demanded and the soldiers began rounding them up.

One hotel guest who had been watching the events from his screened balcony over the entrance heard soldiers in the corridor outside. He locked the door, turned out the lights and did not answer when the soldiers pounded on the door. They went away.

Downstairs two Britons were loaded into a hotel station wagon taken over by the soldiers. They asked and got permission to go back into the hotel for a drink of water. Inside, they mingled with the hotel staff and escaped.

Mrs. L. J. Killian, formerly of San Francisco, was shoved toward the cars. She told a young Iraqi officer she had a baby upstairs who needed her and was permitted to go back to the lobby. There was no baby.

Mrs. Killian's husband, who has been stationed in Saudi Arabia 10 years, is a vice president of the Bechtel Co. of San Francisco. He was one of the many guests missed in the search of rooms.

SAFELY HOME — Two Catholic priests, Father Cyril Wagner (left) and Rev. Joseph P. McCormack, returned to the U. S. yesterday after long years of imprisonment by the Communists in Red China. They arrived in San Francisco by plane from Hawaii and Father Wagner left immediately for Pittsburgh, Pa. Both showed effects of their long confinement in Chinese prisons. (AP Photofax)

Priests Freed By Chinese Return To U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Father Joseph P. McCormack arrived here Monday after five years' imprisonment by the Red Chinese.

McCormack, 65, of New York City and Ireland, was accompanied by Father Cyril Wagner, 51, of Pittsburgh, who was a fellow prisoner. Wagner was suffering from asthma and fatigue and said nothing to the press.

McCormack said much of his imprisonment was in a cell six feet by four and one-half which he shared with four other prisoners.

Guards kept lights shining on the prisoners, he said. Because they were not allowed to move their lips, they communicated by writing symbols on the cell's dirt floor, McCormack said.

It was the first time since he was released at Hong Kong that McCormack told of his treatment.

"There is a skull in China of a Chinese Catholic priest with a bullet hole in it as proof of what they do," he said. "I know also that they beat five Chinese Catholics to death."

He said he was not accused of being a spy but of being "a tool of what they called imperialists."

McCormack told reporters, "We are so glad to be back we can hardly talk."

Wagner was met by several friends and his brother, Father Anthony Wagner of Teutopolis, Ill.

Smart Thieves Trick Firemen Out Of $2,400

NEW YORK (AP)—A pair of smart thieves tricked a fire department rescue squad out of $2,400.

While the squad was accompanying an engine company to a fire, someone broke into a locker at the fire station and stole the squad's Christmas and welfare fund.

The blaze was minor—some wooden crates in a market stall at the remotest part of the firemen's territory.

Police theorized that one man set the fire and another stole the money after the firemen had responded to the alarm.

Naval Academy Head Slated For Promotion

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Capt. Frederick L. Ashworth, the new commandant of midshipmen at the U. S. Naval Academy, has been selected for promotion to rear admiral.

He assumed his new duties here last Thursday, and his selection for promotion was announced by the Secretary of the Navy on Friday.

Two Killed, Nine Hurt In Four-Car Smashup

WOODBRIDGE, Va. (AP)—Two persons were killed and nine more injured early Monday in a four-car collision on Route 1 south of the Shirley Highway intersection in Fairfax County.

Dead on arrival at Alexandria Hospital were Danny Williams, 25, a Washington, D. C., tailor's assistant, and Marine Cpl. Kenneth A. Smith, a 20-year-old clerk typist from Derby, N. Y., stationed at Quantico.

Five other Quantico Marines were admitted to the Ft. Belvoir Army Hospital. Also injured were George Jordan, 40, of Washington, and his two sons, James R., 19, and Robert, 17.

Also admitted to Alexandria Hospital was George Sellmon, 23, of Washington, suffering from face injuries.

State Trooper J. L. Powell said the Marines were southbound on Route 1 when their auto collided with a north-bound one driven by James Jordan.

A third car, driven by Ashby Mills Jr. of Arlington, stopped to give first aid to victims of the accident, Powell said, and was in turn struck by a sports car driven by Ella Poindexter of Woodbridge. No passengers in the Mills or Poindexter cars were injured, Powell said.

May Go To Mideast

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — The 1st Marine Division Monday was being held ready for a possible move to the Middle East, officers said.

All but emergency leaves have been canceled for the division's 17,000 men. Men now on 30-day leaves will not be called back, however, unless orders to move are received.

Joke That Backfired Blamed For Drowning Of Man, Wife

By The Associated Press

A joke which backfired and touched off panic was blamed Monday for the apparent drowning of a Baltimore couple—object of an extensive Coast Guard search on the Chesapeake Bay.

Four other persons were drowned, two killed on the highways and one died of injuries suffered earlier for a total of nine accidental deaths in Maryland over the weekend.

The Coast Guard was dragging the bay near the mouth of the Magothy River for the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hammonds of Baltimore.

Kermit Fortney of Baltimore reported the couple may have drowned near the Baltimore Lighthouse Sunday night. He told this story:

Fortney and his wife went out in an 18-foot motorboat with the Hammonds. About 9:30 Sunday night, the motor ran out of gasoline.

The two men, according to Fortney, decided to have a little "fun" with their wives and told the women there was no more gas, that they were stranded. Actually, Fortney said, he had two gallons of gas in an emergency can.

When the women were told they were stranded, Mrs. Hammonds became excited and jumped overboard. Fortney said Hammond jumped into the choppy water to rescue his wife.

In the time it took Fortney to pour the extra gasoline into the outboard motor and get it started, the Hammonds had disappeared from sight, he said.

Fortney added that he used up the emergency supply of gas crusing around the spot, looking for the Hammonds. Then he and his wife—really out of gas this time—drifted with the wind and waves overnight until they were spotted off the Magothy River Monday morning and were taken in tow. Fortney immediately notified police and the search for the Hammonds began.

Week end traffic victims were:

William F. Matthews, 25, Negro, Washington, killed Sunday night when he lost control of his car while trying to pass another vehicle on Maryland 258 at McKenzie, Anne Arundel County.

Mrs. Nora Wachter, 79, RFD 1, Monrovia, fatally injured Sunday in a two-car collision which injured three other persons on U.S. 40 near Mount Airy.

Three men drowned in Chesapeake Bay Saturday when their 15-foot outboard motorboat capsized. They were Daniel H. Norris, 56, and Robert R. Torney, 79, Negroes, of Baltimore, and Samuel Shoulders, 56, Negro, also of Baltimore, whose body was not recovered.

Also drowned was John Hammonds, 44, Negro, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who toppled into the Wicomico River at Salisbury while fishing Sunday.

Clarence W. Foutz, 14, died in Mercy Hospital in Baltimore Sunday of injuries suffered May 30 when he fell from a bridge onto high tension wires of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

NOMINATED—Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, poses after President Eisenhower yesterday nominated her to be undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Miss Adkins is a native of Salisbury, Md. (AP Photofax)

Noted Dentist's Rites Thursday

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be here Thursday for Dr. Earl Wildes Swinehart, 82-year-old former president of the American College of Dentists. He died Sunday on a vacation trip in Ohio.

Dr. Swinehart practiced dentistry in Baltimore more than 40 years. He was inventor of orthodontic instruments used the world over and author of numerous scientific papers.

About 20 years ago, he gained national prominence when he published his findings of a five-year study on the effect of thumb sucking on infants.

A former president of the Maryland State Dental Assn. and the Washington-Baltimore Society of Orthodontists, Dr. Swinehart at one time taught at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, now the University of Maryland Dental School.

A native of Adelphi, Ohio, he moved to Baltimore in 1914 to begin practice.

His wife, the former Grace Ruth Riegel, died in 1945. Survivors include a son, Dr. D. Robert Swinehart, and three sisters, Mrs. Flora R. White and Mrs. H. G. MacFarren, both of Adelphia, and Mrs. Horace N. Curtis of Dayton, Ohio.

Bertha Adkins Named To Health, Education Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Miss Bertha S. Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, was nominated Monday to be undersecretary of health, education and welfare.

President Eisenhower asked the Senate to confirm her to succeed John A. Perkins, who resigned March 1.

Miss Adkins, 51, has long been active in Republican politics. A resident of Salisbury, Md., she has been GOP national committeewoman from Maryland since 1948. She has been assistant chairman since 1953 as well as head of the National Committee's Women's Division.

From 1934 to 1942, Miss Adkins was dean of women at Western Maryland College. From 1942 to 1946 she was dean of residents at Bradford (Mass.) Junior College.

Miss Adkins was graduated from Wellesley College in 1928 and received a master's degree from Columbia University in 1943.

The President also nominated for re-appointment Russell E. Atkinson of Pitman, N.J., to be comptroller of customs at Philadelphia.

Ex-Convict, 26, Held In Slaying Of Young Bride

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Clayton Edward Breeding, a 26-year-old ex-convict, was returned here by State Police Monday to face charges of murdering a young Eastern Shore bride three weeks ago.

He was arrested at 1:44 a.m. Monday at Newark, Del., ending a manhunt which began when the body of Mrs. Ruth Ellen Cannon, 19, was found in the woods near her Burrsville, Md. home.

Breeding was taken into custody by two Newark patrolmen when he tried to flee from the Veterans of Foreign Wars club in that town. Police had responded to a burglar alarm which had been set off in the building.

The patrolmen said he tried to flee from the scene, but two warning shots brought him to a halt.

Breeding waived extradition and was brought here on a warrant charging him with the murder of the red-haired, pregnant woman. She had suffered a fractured skull and a bruise over the left eye. The cause of death, however, was given as strangulation.

The medical examiner who performed the autopsy said there was no indication of sexual attack. When found she was wearing shorts and a blouse.

She was last seen June 28 by her husband, John S. Cannon, a maintenance man for a Burrsville food processing company. He told police he went home for lunch that day and when he returned at 5 p.m. she was gone.

Police said Breeding told him he had been hiding in a cornfield on the farm of the University of Delaware near Newark.

Police Chief William Cunningham said "he was very dirty." The prisoner related he had been living on fruit and had been milking cows on the farm to get food.

Maryland and Delaware State Police, the FBI, county officers, volunteers and a Navy helicopter had searched the area near the Maryland - Delaware border for Breeding. A 13-state police alarm also had been out for the man.

Police said Breeding has a police record dating back to 1950, including convictions for grand larceny, robbery and assault.

He was released from the Patuxent, Md. Institution while under observation in 1956 against the recommendation of psychiatrists. They said he was emotionally unstable and would get into trouble at any time.

Oyster's Foes Succumbing To Science

BALTIMORE (AP) — Scientists are working on several fronts to lick the enemies of the oyster, a Department of Interior official said Monday.

"It looks like a bright future for the oyster economy because we already have launched the kind of a partnership effort which is necessary," said Ross Leffler, assistant secretary.

He spoke at the opening of a four-day convention here of the Oyster Growers and Dealers Assn. of North America Inc.

One problem Leffler mentioned is the starfish, which grabs the oyster, octopus style, and forces it open for a tasty meal. He said funds asked in Congress would further research with selective chemicals to do away with the starfish.

The menace is particularly bad in beds off New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, Leffler said.

He also mentioned the method found effective in preliminary tests in some Chesapeake Bay Waters, where a copper screen offensive of the oyster drill is used to surround oyster beds. It serves as a poison to the drill.

The oyster industry is also pushing artificial propagation of seed oysters in studies at the Shellfish Laboratory at Milford, Conn.

Steel Output Rises

NEW YORK (UPI)—Steel production this week is slated to rise to 1,540,000 net tons, or 57.1 per cent of capacity, for the third consecutive weekly advance, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported Monday.

Production a week ago amounted to 1,481,000 tons, or 54.9 per cent of the 1958 rated capacity of 140,742,570 tons.

"Diene" Rubber

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. has added a new man-made rubber to its list of synthetic products.

President Raymond C. Firestone said that when used in tests of truck tires, the new "diene" rubber improved the crack - resistance, and held its running temperature at a satisfactory level.

Historical Society Group Plans Auction, Tours

The antique auction, opening of Historical House at regular intervals and the annual exhibition were discussed at the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Allegany County Historical Society, Inc., which was held Thursday evening at the Historical House, 218 Washington Street. Miss Ruth A. Clauson presided.

It was decided, in discussing the antique auction to be held August 16, that in the event of rain the auction would be held inside Historical House, instead o. at the stable, in the rear of the property, as at present scheduled.

A plan was adopted whereby one final effort by mail will be made to collect the dues of members in arrears. Those who do not respond to this final contact will be dropped from the society's rolls.

Other matters under discussion by the trustees included opening of Historical House to the public at regular intervals; beautification of the grounds, heating of the house; sustaining memberships; and plans for the annual Historical Exhibition to be held in October.

Trustees present were Mrs. F. Brooke Whiting, Mrs. William L. Wilson, Jr., Mrs. John A. Findlay, Mrs. A. N. Golladay, Mrs. Walter C. Capper and Louis B. Young.

W. Md. OES To Entertain

The Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a dinner for their families and friends at St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage, Thursday evening. It will begin at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Genieve Wyant, president; Herbert Schlotterbeck, vice president; Mrs. Schlotterbeck, secretary; Mrs. Edna Zeigler, treasurer; and Mrs. Marie Hartsock, secretary of the Central Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Hagerstown, will attend.

Following the dinner, cards and games will be played, under the direction of Mrs. Mary C. Davis, chairman; Mrs. Virginia Geary, Mrs. Sara Barringe, Mrs. Dorothy Ringler and Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman.

Victory Santha 30, Nomads of Avrudaka will meet at 8 tonight in Junior Order hall.

NFMC Is Sponsoring Programs

Following the series of summer weekends and midweeks of the National Federation of Music Clubs, which began at Chautauqua, N. Y., and Aspen Institute, Aspen, Colo., similar functions are being held at Inspiration Point Fine Arts Colony, Eureka Springs, Ark., tomorrow through Friday. Transylvania Music Camp, Brevard, N. C., will be July 25-26; the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Michigan, August 1, 2 and 3; the Peninsula Music Festival, Fish Creek, Wisconsin, August 15, 16 and 17; and Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va., August 27 and 28. The national president, Mrs. Ronald A. Dougan of Beloit, Wis., or some other national officer appointed as her representative, will attend all these events.

A Mid-Week at Inspiration Point, July 23, 25, will open the program with coffee at Stone Castle, at 9 a. m., July 23, followed by a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Colony. During their stay the Federation delegates will see at least two opera performances and a rehearsal. One of the operas will be either "Shanewis" or "The Witch of Salem", operas by Charles Wakefield Cadman which are being presented during Inspiration Point's six-week season as a part of a Cadman Festival. The other operatic performance will be of "I Pagliacci". A luncheon, for which the Eureka Springs Music Club will be hostess, and a banquet, also a symphony concert, are on the agenda.

The Transylvania week-end, July 24-26 has a tea, buffet supper and informal reception at Brevard College, a tour of Transylvania Music Camp and a banquet at the camp among the events scheduled. The Federation group will also attend a concert given by the Transylvania Symphony Orchestra at which the soloist will be Martha Deatherage, lyric soprano, a 1957 Federation Young Artist voice winner.

Of special significance will be the dedication of two practice cabins given to the camp by the Maryland and Alabama Federations, and also of the Hinda Honigman Library which was erected by the State Federation of the Southeastern Region in honor of Mrs. Maurice Honigman, former Southeastern Regional Vice President, now Chairman of the Fed-

Miniature Schnauzer Takes Best In Jr. Show

Harvey Ware awarded "Freddie" a miniature schnauzer, owned and handled by Thomas Kenny, best in the show of six groups at the Junior Kennel Club All Breed Sanction Match, Sunday at the North Cumberland Playground. It received three ribbons, best of breed, group ribbon and best of show, besides a silver plated trophy for best of show.

Ribbons and trophies were awarded in the six groups.

Judged by Philip Carolan, a cocker spaniel, "Marmeks Master of Pompey,," known as Amber, owned by Carol K. May and handled by David Winters, was awarded best in the sporting group.

In the hound group, Robert Berniece was the judge. A 13-inch beegle, "Blenda Lou", owned and handled by Betty Jane Wilhelm, was the winner.

The working group was judged by Earl Smith. The winner was a doberman pinscher, "Carolan Sheba" owned and handled by Mildred Derlan.

In the terrier group, judged by Mr. Ware, "Freddie" the miniature schnauzer, owned and handled by Thomas Kenny, won.

Clifton Jeffries judged the toy group. A pomeranian, "White Tippy-Toe" owned by Mrs. Alice Winegold and handled by Sally Myers was the winner.

The non-sporting group was judged by Mrs. Harold Meek. A standard poodle named "Christopher" owned and handled by Louis Hensel, Jr., of Bedford, was the winner.

The best puppy in the match was a Boston terrier, "Evening Star." It is owned and handled by John Marshall.

Most of the dogs shown Sunday will appear again in the fifth annual All-Breed Show of the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club, to be held September 6 at the National Guard Armory in Frostburg.

The Junior Kennel Club is planning to hold another show later in the fall. The regular meeting will be August 2, at the Police Boys Club room.

Former Academy Teacher To Work With Apaches

Mrs. Helen Begley Nixon, a member of the faculty of Allegany County Academy in the mid 1920's, is doing social work among the New Mexican Indians. During the two years Mrs. Nixon was in Cumberland she taught English and Literature at the academy. On her way to New Mexico, she visited Miss Sophie Deneen, Decatur Street, who also was a member of the faculty of the academy, prior to its closing.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Begley of Holyoke, Mass., Mrs. Nixon has been assigned by the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of Interior to the Gallup, N. M., headquarters as a social worker with the Jicarilla Apaches. She began her duties July 1, and will live in Dulce, N. M., a town near the Jicarilla reservation.

Since returning to the United States last year, after a two-year assignment in Vietnam, Mrs. Nixon has been residing in Londmeadow with her sister.

A graduate of Holyoke High School and Smith College, Mrs. Nixon also attended the New York School of Social Work and served as a social work supervisor with the New York City Welfare Department for seven years.

During her stay in Asia, she was refugee resettlement advisor of the International Cooperation Administration Mission to Vietnam. In this capacity, she traveled through the country, acting as liaison between the Mission and the seven voluntary agencies working to aid the thousands of refugees who left communism for freedom in South Vietnam.

With Mrs. G. Frederick Reinhardt, wife of the former Vietnam ambassador, Mrs. Nixon initiated the first International Women's Association in that country. In addition, she worked closely with the Vietnamese Department of Social Action in connection with service as a board member of the Family Welfare School for Young Women.

Mrs. Nixon, who once served as a temporary Red Cross director in Holyoke, spent two years in Berlin, Germany, with the public affairs division of the United States government before going to Vietnam. Her work in Germany included duties as cultural officer for women's affairs, adult education and community organization.

She previously served as chief advisor of the Women's Bureau of Military Government in Korea from 1946-1948 and has worked with the Red Cross in Korea, France, Belgium, Germany and Austria.

When Mrs. Nixon completes her work with the Jicarilla Apaches, she plans to visit with Miss Deneen and renew old acquaintances.

Mapleside Club Will Hold Tea

Short Course reports and making plans for a tea honoring new members featured the business session of the Mapleside Homemakers Club, held in conjunction with the annual picnic, July 16, at Constitution Park. A covered dish luncheon preceded the meeting.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, with Mrs. Frank White giving the treasurer's report. Mrs. Charles Moore, Sunshine Chairman, reported on cards sent to the shutins. Mrs. Dolan Lewis, Food and nutrition chairman, reported on "Quick oven meals," and distributed recipes.

Delegates and members who attended R. W. S. C. at College Park gave reports. Mrs. Helen Browne reported on food and nutrition which covered the highlights of the Food and Drug Administration, and clothing. Mrs. Forrest Snider reported on public speaking and personality development, and international relations. Mrs. Frank White reported on the home furnishing's class and commented on the Vesper's Service and the Allegany County Chorus program. Mrs. Kuhlman reported on the flower arranging class. Mrs. Reba Buser, guest from East Side Club, spoke briefly on music and demonstrated the song's learned with motion.

Mrs. James R. Smith, announced the club would hold a demonstration this year at the Cumberland Fair, arrangements to be announced later. Due to the fair it was announced the club will have no meeting in August, but will hold its next business meeting September 18, with new members being honored with a tea. Mrs. Kuhlman ap-

Flintstone Club Plans Lawn Party

Members of the Flintstone Homemakers Club formulated plans for a lawn party and selected a committee for a demonstration at the Cumberland fair. The meeting was held Friday in the basement of the Flintstone Methodist Church, with Mrs. William Mauzy presiding.

The Planning committee for the fair demonstration consists of Mrs. Mauzy, Mrs. Curtis Nash, Mrs. Paul Oster, Mrs. Chester Robinette, Mrs. Howard Robinette, Mrs. Russell Dolly and Mrs. Eugene Kinton. The group will meet at the Robinette home, July 22 to complete plans for the demonstration.

It was decided to have the August meeting in the form of a lawn party. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Curtis Nash, August 8, with Mrs. Franklin Norris cohostess.

The meeting was opened with the group saying the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Paul Oster read the homemakers Creed. The group sang "God of Our Father, Whose Almighty Hand," and "America." Routine reports were given and a card read from Mrs. Guy Thompson, past president, who is vacationing in England. The roll call was answered by telling of vacation plans. The quotation of the month wes read by Mrs. Howard Robinette.

Mrs. Roland Gilson, Food and Nutrition chairman, discussed oven meals. The Food and Nutrition committee, consisting of Mrs. Gilson, Mrs. Harold Chaney and Mrs. Leslie Wigfield, was hostess for the month and served an oven meal. Concluding the meeting games were played.

Mrs. Donald Bates, wife of the new minister at Flintstone Methodist Church, was a guest. Other members present were Mrs. William Heavner, Mrs. Carolye Nixon, Mrs. Leah Twigg, Miss Lena Twigg, Mrs. Oka Twigg and Mrs. Katie Oster.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge 1 will hold a basket picnic at 3 today in Grove 4 of Constitution Park.

Quality Control

Quality control is important in drug manufacturing as well as in any other field. Of course if you make it yourself or have an analytical laboratory at home, then you know what went into the product. Lacking this, the next best way to make sure you get what you are paying for, is to know the people you are buying from. When you buy drug products in an ethical drug store, you can be reasonably certain that the quality is there. The manufacturer and the Pharmacist are staking their reputations that the product is everything they claim for it. But, when you buy your drug products from a door to door peddler or a private brand from a food store shelf, who is standing in back of the claims the salesman makes? Not the salesman, he doesn't know anymore about drugs and their actions than you do. Not the manufacturer—his name isn't even on the label. You don't know who made it or where it came from. To be sure then, buy your drugs in a drug store. And to be doubly sure, make that drug store Walsh and McCagh, where quality and purity are always finest.

Need For South End Traffic Light, More Police Is Cited By Resident

The Mayor and Council yesterday heard an appeal for more policemen and the need for another traffic light in South End.

Guy Clark, 300 South Street, said a traffic light should be placed at the corner of Laing and Virginia avenues to meet a dangerous traffic situation.

Clark also called for more policemen to patrol South End on foot. He cited one period of time when no policemen patroled South End while seven were on duty on Baltimore Street. He said South End needs at least three patrolmen on each shift.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said he understood the next phase of the Industrial Boulevard project would clear up the traffic situation referred to by Clark. And City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said the State Roads Commission had informed him it hoped to start construction on that phase today.

Lee Marple, North Centre Street businessman, inquired about the need for the 4 to 6 p. m. parking ban on Center and Mechanic streets between Market and Baltimore.

Marple informed Council that he had conducted a survey of the two streets during which at least 15 vacant storerooms were observed. This situation could be corrected, he continued, if parking would again be permitted.

The situation is especially distressing, Marple pointed out, since U. S. Route 40 traffic is carried on both streets and travelers receive the impression that business is poor in Cumberland.

The need for the parking ban has been lessened since the new Baltimore Street bridge across Wills Creek has been opened to vehicular traffic, Marple said.

Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming informed Marple that he would appreciate it if Marple and any other interested businessmen would meet with him so that all phases of the situation could be aired.

In comparison to Marple's view on the parking ban, police and motorists have expressed the opinion that the regulation — in effect during the peak flow of traffic—has materially aided the movement of vehicles on downtown streets.

A number of residents also appeared to lodge protests on the condition of alleys in the area where they live.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw, 40 Gleason Street, told council a petition and previous requests concerning the opening of an alley between Utah and Gleason streets have been ignored. She requested that the present administration give consideration to the project.

Nuzum informed council that the alley opening had been dropped because of the estimated cost. He explained that the alley carries a natural drainage that would have to be included in the cost of the requested opening. The overall cost, including pipe, Nuzum estimated at $90,000.

Mrs. William M. Egan, 212 Arch Street, appeared to ask that an alley running parallel to Grand Avenue and Arch streets, between Second and Third, be blacktopped. Street Commissioner John J. Long informed Mrs. Egan the request would be added to the projects under consideration, and in an offhand comment to the other members of the council said "it looks like an additional bond issue is needed to take care of all such needed improvements."

L. V. Lowery, 714 Frederick Street, appeared to present an old complaint concerning the condition of the 700 block and to ask what action would be taken as the result of his claim for damages caused to his property by construction during the Frederick Street improvement project. He said his only interest was in the damage done to his property and not in getting the street paved. Carscaden told Lowery the matter will be studied and when a decision is made, Lowery will be informed by letter.

Commissioner Long told council two complaints made at last week's meeting had been investigated and the complainants contacted. He also said plans for mosquito control are being worked out and that inquiries concerning the program should be made in the Engineering Department.

Scout Camp Inspection Set

Camp Potomac of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, will be inspected by officials of Region 3, BSA, Thursday, Edmund S. Burke, council president, announced yesterday.

The executive board will hold a "dutch treat" dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. that day at the camp with the inspectors as their guests.

They are J. A. Kirkpatrick, Zelienople, Pa., member of the Region 3 executive committee and president of the Universal Manufacturing Company, and Cyrus Tribur, of the Region 3 office in Philadelphia.

Tribur, Kirkpatrick, the executive board and Willis V. Smith, council executive, will tour the large camping area near Oldtown.

Resident Suggests City Improve Its Atmosphere

Dr. Rita E. Brinker yesterday suggested that the city undertake a program in the "interest of a quieter and more pleasant atmosphere.

Dr. Brinker wrote the Mayor and Council that such measures should include statutes governing noisy mufflers on cars; noise, particularly at night and in residential and hospital districts.

Dr. Brinker also suggested that perhaps some arrangement can be made with the B&O Railroad concerning noise caused by the shifting of cars on the eastbound hump between midnight and 4 a. m.

It was also proposed that garbage collections be changed from night to day hours in residential areas, and that more trash receptacles be placed on city streets especially in the vicinity of places frequented by children.

The letter brought from Street Commissioner John J. Long the comment that it has "merit" and he said he has already talked with Street Superintendent Andrew Heller concerning an anti-litter campaign on a city-wide basis.

A tentative title for the campaign has been considered, he said. It would be called "The Big Sweep."

Long referred to the new street sweeper which was displayed at City Hall yesterday and the possibility of painting and marking 50 gallon drums to be placed at various points in the city to receive litter.

He said as soon as full details of the program are worked out, council will be informed and approval sought.

Local Man Named To C. Of C. Position

W. Arthur Grotz, president of the Western Maryland Railway Company, has been appointed to the policy committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, William A. McDonnell, chamber president, has announced.

One of the chamber's most important guiding bodies, the policy committee reviews policy proposals and recommends those to be acted upon by the organization membership at the chamber's annual meeting.

Three Homes To Be Removed For Road Job

Three residences, one of them a well-known Allegany County landmark, will be torn down for highway improvements.

The property of the late Mrs. Emma Wolfe on Route 40 just east of Nave's Crossroad, will be leveled.

This includes the large two-story frame house, frame and concrete block garage, frame storage shed and large frame barn.

The buildings must be removed down to the ground line within 60 days of the notice to proceed.

The State Roads Commission will open bids on this project on Tuesday, July 29, at noon in its Baltimore office.

The Wolfe Farm, a show place for many years, was purchased at public auction here early this spring by the SRC, utilizing a local real estate agency as a "straw man."

On the same day the SRC will open bids on the purchase of the James W. Barnes property located on Route 40 at the eastern limits of Flintstone.

This consists of a one-story frame dwelling and frame garages with all fixtures and apprutances.

The structures are in the way of the project to relocate Route 40 in the Flintstone area and connect the Martin's Mountain and Polish Mountain highway jobs.

The Barnes property must be removed from the site within 30 days of notice to proceed.

Also on the same day the SRC will open bids on the purchase of the improvements located on the former Raymond L. Shaffer property on Route 36 near the Cash Valley Road at Corriganville.

This consists of a two-story frame building, with a garage on the first floor and five rooms and bath with fixtures on the second floor. There is also a hot air furnace and a water heater and a small frame garage.

Other bidding details may be obtained from the State Roads office on Braddock Road.

Action Expected Today On Creek Sewage Survey

One item of business expected to develop at today's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners is the comprehensive engineering study of the Georges Creek section for a sanitary sewage facility.

The State Health Department several weeks ago ordered the county to have this survey prepared not later than next December.

The funds for such a survey can be obtained from the federal government and paid out of any future bond issue for such a sewage project.

Whitman, Requardt and Associates, a Baltimore firm of engineers, has written the county board that it is interested in undertaking such a survey for the county.

Members of the county board say they understand the engineering profession does not bid on such projects but makes proposals for such jobs.

The Baltimore firm in its letter stated that in 1944 it prepared a sewerage report for the town of Frostburg and in 1950 made a reconnaissance survey of the Georges Creek Valley.

The company said it is well equipped for such a survey as the one ordered by the state agency.

It has done work for the City of Cumberland, LaVale Sanitary Commission and many other Maryland counties and groups.

Proposals were made some time ago by several firms and individual engineers on the survey but no action was taken at that time.

City Stops Action On Canal Street

The Mayor and Council yesterday held up any further action on the closing of Canal Street until it receives a report from commissioners appointed to assess what damages may have been incurred by the action.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said no official report of the commissioners had been received since they recessed their hearing in order to get additional data.

Matthew M. Mullaney, attorney for Joseph H. Reinhart, Baltimore Street businessman, asked that the entire subject be reviewed by council as a result of the recessed meeting of the commissioners.

The previous council had voted to close Canal Street in connection with the Western Maryland Railway plans to open a 100-car parking facility on South Mechanic Street. The lot would be leased for commercial use.

Homemakers Plan Picnic

ROWLESBURG — The Rowlesburg Homemakers Club met a recent evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Bolyard. Mrs. D. A. McVicker led the worship service and group singing of "Abide with Me."

The lesson, "Let's Promote Good Mental Health," was presented by Mrs. Victor Hackett and Mrs. Howard Bolyard. The latter presented a display of enamel ware. Reporting on home projects were Mrs. Howard T. Grove, Mrs. J. W. Ashenfelter, Mrs. Callie Heath, Mrs. John Ashenfelter, Mrs. Howard Bolyard and Mrs. C. M. Wheeler.

Mrs. John Ashenfelter, president, presided at the business session and announced there will be a County Council meeting at Kingwood August 13. The next club meeting will feature a family picnic in City Park August 20 at 6 p. m. (DST).

Hostesses included Mrs. D. A. McVicker, Mrs. Bolyard, Mrs. Mary Shields and Mrs. John Shahan. Refreshments were served.

Keyser Rotarians Hear Review On Grapho-Analysis

KEYSER — Members of the Keyser Rotary Club received a lesson in grapho-analysis at their recent luncheon-meeting. Richard L. Alstadt, Cumberland, told how to analyze mental attitudes and principal characteristics by handwriting.

Alstadt, who is associated with the Business Machine and Equipment Corporation, had the Rotarians write a simple sentence with several "t's". Concentrating on the letter "t", he then described the way mental attitudes and characteristics could be determined from the way the letter was formed.

Alstadt said grapho-analysis is now a true science and is used in detecting forgery and determining the authenticity of documents.

Improvements To Garrett Co. Schools Noted

Hawkins Reports Steady Progress

OAKLAND—Four major Garrett County school improvements have either been completed since the end of June or will be completed by the time schools open in September.

One of the major improvements are the offices of the Garrett County Board of Education. Renovation of the annex building for use of the board and staff was completed last month and the offices of the school board were moved from the Court House to the annex building at that time.

Three other major improvements now underway are the construction of a new band room and connecting corridor at Southern High, a new two-room school at Swan Meadow High, and the complete renovation and modernization of the present Grantsville School.

Progress on the modern band room facility and connecting corridor at Southern has been delayed due to difficulty in securing matching brick. However, brick is now on hand and, weather permitting, rapid progress is expected. Swan Meadow School is well along the way and is expected to be ready for occupancy when school opens. Grantsville School, the last of the three-year program of school remodeling and renovation for the county, is also to be completed and ready for occupancy when school opens in September. Major repairs and alterations are being made to the entire school plant. When completed it will be one of Garrett County's finest elementary school facilities, according to Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent of schools.

Visitation days will be planned prior to the opening of school in order that interested parents and citizens might see these new improvements.

School board plans for other improvements in the immediate future call for a library for Kitzmiller School and a general education room for Center Street School. The board hopes to complete both of these projects by the time schools open in September, 1959, Hawkins said.

Cooties Reorganize At Keyser VFW

KEYSER — Ed Kelly Pup Tent 8 of Keyser, Military Order of the Cootie, originally organized in 1946, was reorganized at a meeting of the organization's District 4, held here over the weekend at the home of Nancy Hanks Post 3518, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Officers elected for the local unit were James G. Mahood, commander; Claude R. Boyce, senior vice commander; Harry Whetsell, junior vice commander; Leo C. Shuck, quartermaster; Ralph F. Boyce, chaplain; Carl Munson, judge advocate, and William Tanner, Estes J. Sharpes and I. N. Godfrey, trustees.

Appointive officers will be selected in the near future, the new commander said.

The Cootie organization is an honorary unit of the VFW, the charitable activities of which include work at veterans hospitals and support of blood banks.

Jennings Randolph Gets Endorsement

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (UPI)— The candidacy of Jennings Randolph, Elkins Democrat seeking the short-term U. S. Senate nomination in the Aug. 5 primary, was endorsed by the Upshur County Democratic Executive Committee over the weekend.

At the same time it was revealed the state's oldest newspaper — the Spirit of Jefferson - Advocate at Charles Town — also supported Randolph's selection.

Frostburg Personals

Larry Frankenberry, Mt. Savage, John S. Carr, Midland; Mrs. Edward Bevan, Frostburg, and Mrs. Alana Loar, Midland were admitted to Miners Hospital as medical patients.

Wayne Winner, RD 2, Russell Atkinson, RD 2, and Linda Brooks, Frostburg were admitted as surgical patients.

Girl Scout Day Camp Is Opened At Frostburg

Units From Barton Are Participating

FROSTBURG—The fourth annual Day Camp of Frostburg Girl Scouts opened yesterday at 9 a.m. to continue through Friday at 3 p.m. Scouts and their leaders from Barton are attending camp for the first time.

Mrs. David Powers, 606 Washington Street, Cumberland, is the camp director. She has taken the camp director's course at Rockwood, and was the co-ordinator of seven day camps of the Southern Appalachian Girl Scout Council, Bluefield, W. Va.

Serving on the planning committee for the camp are Mrs. Gordon Taylor, chairman, Mrs. Fred Morton, Mrs. Alvin Kreiling and Mrs. Clyde Settle.

Campers are divided into units according to age, and each unit has a leader. The leaders are Mrs. Alfred Drew, Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, Mrs. Walter Kerr, Mrs. David Clark Jr., Mrs. Mervin Clark, Mrs. William Clark, Mrs. Earl Richardson, Mrs. Fred Morton and Mrs. Guerney Beeman.

Miss Drucilla Shriner is in charge of music and Mrs. William Wood, Miss Diana Meehan and Miss Mary Bolt are swimming instructors. Mrs. William McCullough, registered nurse, has charge of first aid. Mrs. Clyde Settle is chairman of the food purchasing committee with Mrs. Howard Strickler, Mrs. Leonard Lohr and Mrs. Paul Chaney assisting. Fifteen Senior Girl Scouts are working as program aides.

Friday, each girl is asked to bring her lunch to camp. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, cookouts will be held in each unit. Milk will be provided each day.

Thursday, camp will begin at 2:30 p. m. and a campfire will be held for Scouts and their parents.

In the event of rain, arrangements have been made to use the National Guard armory adjacent to the Frostburg swimming pool recreation area.

Country Club Plans Hoedown

FROSTBURG—A Western hoedown will be held at the Maplehurst Country Club Saturday, July 26, at 9:30 p. m.

Howard Plummer is chairman of the entertainment committee. He will be assisted by Mrs. Ben Hughes Jr., Mrs. Nicholas Harris, Mrs. Jonathan Jenkins, Mrs. Ruth Rephann and Mrs. William Woods.

The "Sonateers" will provide music for round dancing. This group originated in the Hyndman and Bedford areas and has been playing at Minke's for the past eight years.

Refreshments will be served and decorations at the club will create a western atmosphere with plans for a wagon wheel bar.

Patrons are asked to wear dungarees, sports shirts and old shoes. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Ruth Woods at 64 Broadway or by calling 124.

Keyser Moose Will Initiate

KEYSER—Plans are now underway for an initiation of new members of Keyser Moose Lodge 662 with the local degree team doing the ritualistic work. The date of the initiation has been set for Tuesday, July 29.

The drive for re-enrollment of dropped members is still being held under the dispensation allotted the local lodge by the supreme lodge. Under this dispensation, former members can be reinstated.

Members of the degree team are Dr. Bruce Snider, captain; John Staggers, William Miller, William Alt, Clyde Gardner, Edward Miller and John Deegan.

Glenn Beall Jr., member of the executive committee of County United Fund, presents an allocation of $1600 to Mrs. Harriet Horner, president of the Frostburg Chapter of Friends Aware of Handicapped Children. Most of the children included in Friends Aware are mentally retarded or physically handicapped to the extent that they require constant care.

Vandegrift Co. Gets Contract At D&E College

Will Construct Library Building

ELKINS — Work on the new library building at Davis and Elkins College will start immediately, according to Dr. David K. Allen, college president.

The John I. Vandegrift Company of Cumberland, submitted the low bid of $246,987 and was awarded the contract last week, Dr. Allen said.

The new library will be erected on the site of the old Student Union buildings which are now being razed. A completion deadline of June 1, 1959, is provided in the contract.

The building will be completely fireproof, a spokesman for the college said. Plans have been approved by the state fire marshal.

The Vandegrift Company is now engaged in construction of the new Residence Hall for Women on the college campus. This structure, which will cost approximately $325,000, is expected to be ready for occupancy for the fall semester at the college.

The library will be the third major building project to be undertaken at the college in recent years. The first, the James E. Allen Residence Hall for Men, was occupied in the fall of 1946. It also was built by the Vandegrift Company.

The library will be the second of three buildings on the Davis and Elkins campus to be built with money raised by the West Virginia Synods of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. and U. S. A.

The third building, which will be contracted some time later, will be a chapel-auditorium.

College authorities said that the Vandegrift Company, being already on the ground, will be able to begin work immediately on the new building.

Contract Let On Lab School At Frostburg

George Company Gets College Job

FROSTBURG — Work will be started this week on a new laboratory school at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The State Department of Public Improvements has just awarded the contract for the one-story structure to the George Construction Company of Cumberland.

The brick building will be located on part of the college campus facing the Midlothian Road.

It will have six class rooms, a dual purpose room to be used for a cafeteria and auditorium, a kitchen, and a kindergarten room. A sheltered play area is provided on the side.

The low bidder, George Construction, will do the work for $582,964, and there are 500 working days alloted for it. The school will be ready for the fall term of the 1959-60 year.

The building currently being used for the laboratory school will be converted into classroom space for the college, according to R. Bowen Hardesty, president.

The State Department of Public Improvements had hoped to construct the dining hall building on the campus, but the bids were too high for the amount of money available.

All bids were rejected and the department has already asked for appropriation this year of sufficient money to undertake the project.

The Board of Public Works has been asked by the Department of Public Improvements to approve a total budget of $1,450,000 for capital improvements at Frostburg.

This includes the dining hall, a new residence hall for men and one for women and site improvements.

Memorial Windows Dedicated

WESTERNPORT — Dedication services for 21 new memorial windows in First Baptist Church were held in the sanctuary of the church Sunday afternoon, followed by the dedication of the Pastorium Estate.

Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor, and master of ceremonies, was assisted by six area Baptist ministers.

The sermon for the window dedication was delivered by Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor of First Church, Cumberland.

The scripture lesson was read by Rev. William C. Rogers, moderator of the Western Baptist Association and pastor of the Mountain Lake Church. Greetings were extended by Rev. Mr. Orndorff.

The dedication of the memorial windows was led by the pastor with response by the congregation.

The program included selections by the organist, Mrs. Grace Eleaine Koch; singing of "Praise Ye the Father" by the choir, directed by Mrs. Orndorff, and congregational singing.

The dedication of the pastorium estate opened with the reading of the scripture lesson by Rev. Wesley H. Harris, pastor of Welch Memorial Church, Frostburg. The choir sang "God Bless This House," with Mrs. Joseph Rinard Jr., soloist.

The dedication part was led by Rev. Mr. Orndorff, with response by congregation. The dedication prayer was given by Rev. C. P. Anderson, pastor of Deep Creek Church, Oakland. Benediction was by Rev. John A. Sanders, associate pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont.

Refreshments were served following the services.

Former Area Teacher Lauded For Thesis

PIEDMONT — Miss Ida Ruth Price, of Piedmont, a former home economics instructor at Keyser High School, has been complimented by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare Office of Education, Washington.

She has been requested to allow her thesis, "Survey and Supervision," to be used as part of a summation of work to improve home economics programs. The department is preparing the compilation of materials to help homemaking teachers improve their work. Miss Price's thesis will be part of this compilation.

Miss Price completed work for her masters degree in home economics at West Virginia University last August. A graduate of Howard High School here, she attended West Virginia State College, Charleston, and holds a BS degree from West Virginia University.

She attended the national home economics conference in Philadelphia last month and plans to go to Morgantown later this month to observe work at a home economics workshop at the university.

Last fall, Miss Price accepted a position at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., in Davis Senior High School with an enrollment of 1,800 students.

Firemen, Band Sponsor Annual Crab Feast

Frostburg Event Scheduled Aug. 24

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Fire Department and the Arion Band are jointly sponsoring their 9th annual crab feast next month. The affair will be held August 24 at the old Junior Order Park, starting at 1 p. m. and ending at 5 p. m. Crabs will be served either at the park fo. those who care to spend their time there or at the fire hall for those who prefer eating at home. Joseph Durst Jr. and Leslie Bevan, members of the fire company will serve as co-chairmen.

Committees both from the fire department and the band will be announced.

According to the chairmen, this annual affair is the only fund raising campaign for these two community organizations. Funds derived from the affair are used to purchase uniforms for both groups, and for the band to repair instruments, buy music and furnish transportation to the many affairs in which they participate.

Locally these two groups participate in practically every community project. The firemen serve not only for fire fighting but sponsor an annual Halloween parade for the children, aid in locating lost persons and many other services. The band participates annually in openings of the playgrounds, play in parades and hold free concerts during the summer months.

Swim Classes Start At Keyser

KEYSER—The beginners swimming classes registration has fallen far short of the goal that was hoped to be attained, according to Coach John R. Shelton. At the present time only a small group has enrolled in the junior and adult classes. Classes begin at 10:30 a.m.

Adult classes start at 7:30 p.m. and continue until 9:30 p.m. during the weekdays. Other arrangements may be worked out if desired.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP—Miss Sue Dye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Cass Dye, 121 North Allegany Street, has been awarded a senatorial scholarship to Hood College, Frederick, according to State Sen. Charles M. See. Miss Dye was graduated this year from Allegany High School where she was active in the National Honor Society, ADK, Tri-Hi-Y, Alcohi Mirror, Allegewi, Latin Club, Spanish Club and was on the sportsmanship commission.

Council To Give Some Relief On Open Ditch

An open ditch problem on Wempe Drive came before the Mayor and Council yesterday and city officials indicated it would be discussed and some relief would be forthcoming after its budget deliberations.

Eugene Martin, spokesman for the area, appeared before council to present his case and recalled that he had asked for relief there for several months when the previous council was in office.

Martin and others from Wempe Dirve have deplored the health hazard created by the ditch into which some sanitary sewage has reportedly flowed, plus an infestation of rats and other conditions which constitute a health hazard as well as a threat to safety of residents.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said council "should sit down with these people and discuss this before budget time since it involves a health problem." He said representatives of the Health Department should be at the meeting.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, finance commissioner, said the city has discussed the problem and in fact, had been apprised of some details by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum yesterday prior to the regular session. She said she believed it would be best to consider the ditch problem at budget time, see how much of it could be undertaken, and then meet with residents who have filed the protest to explain city plans.

She said the question involves money and the city can not know what will be available until budget requests are in. And in answer to Long's statement that a health problem is involved and some relief must be given, Mrs. Roeder said the only temporary solution until something more permanent can be worked out, is to spray the area involved.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light commented that he saw no reason for a meeting on the problem at this time. He said council has to decide what it can do when the budget is set — whether it can do all the project, one-fourth of it or a section at a time. Then, he said, would be the time for a meeting.

Long replied, however, that he believed council should meet with the residents in regards to the problem.

An estimate prepared by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum during the previous administration, said the project would cost $90,000. Martin contended that he would like to see other estimates made on the cost as had been suggested by Long at one time.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden stated if the project would cost $90,000, it seemed to him to be a capital expenditure and should not come out of any budget. Rather, he said, it should be handled by a bond issue. This phase, he emphasized, was a technical matter and should be studied.

City Approves SS Contract

A contract under which members of the Cumberland Fire Department will come under Social Security coverage, was approved by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The plan of agreement is between the city and Employes' Retirement System of the State of Maryland and is effective as of July 1.

Firemen voted to join the coverage in a referendum June 20. The contract will be signed by Mayor J. Edwin Keech and forwarded to the state.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson estimated cost to the city will be between $4,000 and $5,000 which must be included in the new budget.

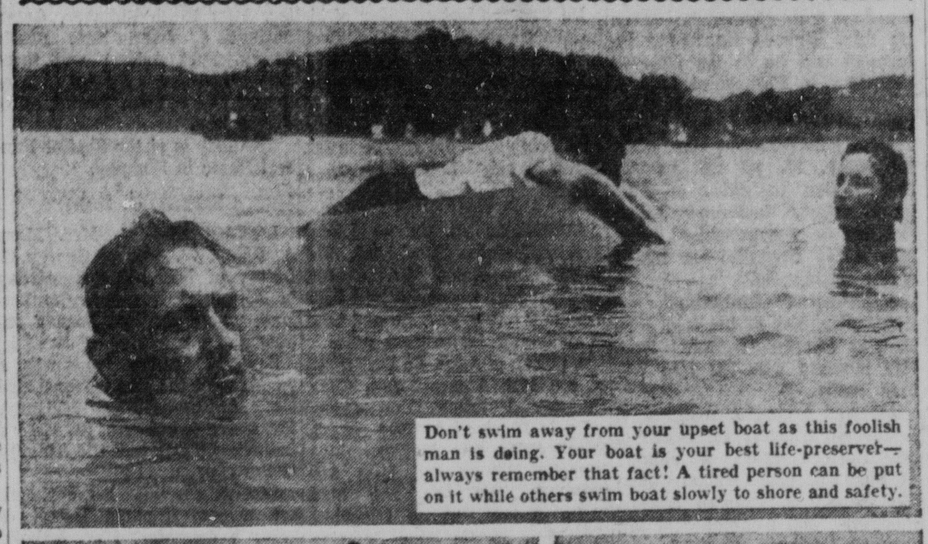
Be SAFE This Summer—ASWIM and AFLOAT



Don't swim away from your upset boat as this foolish man is doing. Your boat is your best life-preserver—always remember that fact! A tired person can be put on it while others swim boat slowly to shore and safety.

Roll capsized boat right side up to handle more easily for self-rescue. Wooden boat or metal one with good buoyancy tanks will stay afloat even when filled with water. Get aboard carefully and hand-paddle to shore.

Re-enter boat over stern or make a foot-loop with rope at the bow to help you get aboard. Don't try to climb over the side if you fall overboard.

Pine Avenue Begins Contest

Pine Avenue Playground is conducting registration for the intra-city playground picnic which will be held Friday at Constitution Park.

A contest for the selection of representatives in three age groups which will represent Pine Avenue in a city-wide rock and roll contest on July 30 will be staged today at 8 p. m. Winners in teen-age, pre-teen and tiny tot categories will be selected for the city finals.

Handicraft instruction will be held today and Wednesday afternoons at Pine Avenue, while a costume show Wednesday at 7 p. m. will be followed by a movie.

Winners in a recent hat show were Kay Yates, prettiest; Marcellus Wells, largest; Cynthia Frazier, smallest; Bonnie Peck, most unusual, and Debbie Beckward, largest collection.

City Hires Draftsman

The City Engineering Department said yesterday it would need the help of a temporary draftsman in order to complete certain plans necessary for consideration before budget time.

The Mayor and Countil voted to approve the recommendation of City Engineer C. R. Nuzum that William R. Hudson, 232 Gleason Street, be appointed to the temporary post from July 21 to September 11 at a salary of $300 a month.

Nuzum said Hudson has served in similar temporary capacities for the city during the summers of 1955 and 1956 and is a senior engineering student.

He said the department is faced with several jobs which must be completed before budget time including design and estimate of a sewer to the new National Guard Armory in Ridgedale Addition; and studies and estimates to cover portions of the Cumberland Thruway to be let to construction between now and the end of the fiscal year in 1959.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said he thought the appointment a "good move" and added Nuzum needs help. He said he spoke from the Street Department standpoint.

Council also approved the seasonal appointment of David La-Fon as tennis instructor at $3 a session.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden resigned as a member of the Municipal Airport Commission on which he has served for a number of years. The resignation was accepted with regret. The attorney represents the board in all legal matters.

This adds another appointment to the list to be made by council. Pending are one to the Civil Service Commission and another to the Board of Health. Council is reported considering both of these and action is expected soon. The Civil Service post is the only paid job — $25 a month — and it is understood several applications for appointment have been made.

W.Va. Gets $3,296,329 For New Hospitals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government has allocated $3,296,329 to West Virginia for 1958-59 hospital construction under the Hill-Burton Act, it was disclosed Monday.

U. S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb said that under a Senate-approved appropriation bill, West Virginia would have received $3,788,521. But a House bill would have allocated $2,788,521 to the Mountain State.

A Senate-House conference committee included the final compromise figure in a $186,200,000 allocation for hospital construction throughout the country, Revercomb said.

The Big Difference in Gasolines

CROWN GOLD is the highest octane motor fuel you can buy. Yet, it's priced lower than other super-premium gasolines! Here's the reason behind this greater value: Other companies divert or siphon off substantial quantities of high-energy components into their aviation fuels . . . and for other uses. But CROWN "custom-tailors" its gasoline exclusively for automotive needs . . . and retains all high-energy components for its automotive fuels.
At CROWN's Houston refinery, all the highest energy ingredients are retained for CROWN GOLD gasoline. That's why it's today's top-octane fuel . . . a better-balanced automotive fuel that gives your car greater power and performance and delivers maximum miles per gallon.
Try the two-tank test . . . and prove the BIG DIFFERENCE!

On The Right Side, But Lacking Policy

The House of Commons, with its infinite capacity for debate, manages now and then to get closer to the heart of an American problem than we do ourselves. It seems to have done just this last week during the immensely important debate over Britain's support of our rather sudden leap into the Middle Eastern crisis.

Two especially relevant points emerge from the texts of the speeches, at hand from British Information Services. These points are among those made by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and by Aneurin Bevan, one of the most vocal spokesmen of the Opposition.

Said Mr. Lloyd: "I believe a country has the right to ask for help against aggression whether direct or indirect. I believe, too, that another government has the right to respond to such requests, and that such response is in accordance with the established rules of international law. Unless countries are prepared to respond to such appeals for help, I think we shall see one country after another go down to this form of aggression . . . ."

The legal and moral rectitude of America's course has not been so clearly put forth by any of our own statesmen, nor has the central issue been so clearly expounded as by Mr. Bevan: "We must have . . . not only governments that are in friendly relationship with us but people who are prepared to be friends with us also. That means that we must work out policies to which the Middle Eastern people can subscribe."

This, really, is the heart of the problem. We need, not a policy for the Middle East, but a policy to which the Middle East can subscribe. On what ground such a policy may be discovered is highly debatable, but certainly we must find it.

Picking Up Some Sound Effects

Rep. Bennett Wanted To Show Part Of Adams Case To White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman John Bennett of Michigan was talking to Congressman Oren Harris of Arkansas, chairman of the committee which has been probing Bernard Goldfine and Sherman Adams. Bennett wanted to postpone an investigation of the Raylaine Worsted Co. for which Adams helped get a refund of $41,000. Bennett, a Republican, argued that the file should be shown to the White House first.

"The only trouble," he added, "is that if we wait Drew Pearson will get hold of it and publish it first."

"I've got news for you," replied Harris. Reaching into his pocket he handed Bennett a copy of a letter dated July 9 from this writer to Harris outlining the facts in the Raylaine Worsted case.

The second paragraph of that letter read:

"There exists in the Pentagon a letter written by Chairman Austin of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, complaining of the unethical practices of Sherman Adams in bringing pressure to refund money to a contractor.

"The Army," my letter continued, "is very disturbed about these memos and fearful that either the press or your committee may uncover them."

The final paragraph of the letter read: "Naturally, I would like to publish this story, but I recognize publication by me might lead to the disposition of the Army's files in a manner unfavorable to your committee."

Congressman Harris promptly subpoenaed the Army's files and found the memo written in longhand by Roswell Austin, then Chairman of the Armed Services Contract Board, in which he criticized Sherman Adams and Congressmen of "unethical" pressure in the Raylaine Worsted case. The record is damaging.

Congressional Bull Fight

Congressman Eddie Hebert of New Orleans was talking to his colleague from across the Mississippi River, Congressman John Bell Williams of Mississippi, about the Raylaine Worsted case. Hebert, who is Chairman of the Armed Services subcommittee, has now been given this phase of the Sherman Adams investigation.

"All you fellows do is get Goldfine steamed up like a bull," Hebert chided Williams, a member of the Harris committee. "You're like banderilleros and picadors. You just prick the witness. Now you watch Hebert the toreador enter the ring."

The Congressman from Louisiana, onetime news editor of the New Orleans States, has uncovered more inefficiency in the armed forces than anyone since the days of Sen. Harry Truman and his Truman committee.

Hebert is calling witnesses in executive session to sift out the testimony, then will hold public sessions.

Old School Chum

The Raylaine Worsted case boils down to the fact that the Eisenhower administration handed $41,284 to the company after the Democrats for 12 years had refused to do so. The award was made after Sherman Adams entered the White House and after he received a "Dear Sherm" letter from Allen Grow, bookkeeper for the company and Adams' old school chum.

The Raylaine Company had failed to live up to an Army contract in 1941 just before Pearl Harbor, and was assessed $41,000 for the failure. When the case went up to the Comptroller General in 1942, he ruled that the company was at fault. The case was then appealed to the U.S. Court of Claims, in 1947, which again ruled against the company.

An appeal also went to the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, which also held against Raylaine in 1953.

Finally, however, Sherman Adams got into the picture and an amazing thing happened. Despite previous rulings by the Comptroller General, the Court of Claims, and the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, the Comptroller General in March 1957 reversed himself and held that the company should be reimbursed to the tune of $41,000.

The Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals had no choice but to accept this ruling — though it did not concur. It was at this point that Chairman Austin wrote a longhand memo for the files naming Sherman Adams in connection with "unethical" conduct.

Washington Pipeline

Congressional leaders will keep Congress in session all summer long if the crisis in the Near East continues. They will operate three days a week, giving Congressmen who will be up for re-election a chance to go home part of the week. . . . Ike's aides are seriously concerned over the strain of the Near East crisis on his health. He has been fretful and worried. . . . Recalling the Eisenhower pledge, "I will go to Korea," during the 1952 election campaign, Democratic National Committee strategists will urge Adlai Stevenson to make the statement, "I will go to the Near East.". . . . Director Allen Dulles of Central Intelligence is definitely in for a Senate Foreign Relations investigation for failing to learn of the revolt in Iraq until 2 a. m. of the day it happened.

We Shall Be Poorer Without Old Hero Chennault

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

In these times when greater and greater dangers are monthly born of feebleness and folly, it is very good to think about the old hero, even on his deathbed. The Congress has just thought about him, graciously but belatedly promoting him to the rank of lieutenant general in the U.S. Air Force.

But even the Congress cannot really have known much about the old hero. Almost no one knows, for instance, that he was one of the originators of the modern theory of airborne operations. The U.S. Army laughed at his theory, for cavalry was still more popular than airplanes in the mid-1920s. The Red Army offered him a rich contract to test his theory in the Soviet Union; but he refused it and that episode receded.

Almost no one knows, either, that he was almost certainly the leading American air ace of the Second World War—and this is hardly surprising, because the old hero rolled up his score of forty-odd Japanese airplanes shot down before we ever got into the war. That happened after they threw him out of the Air Force in the mid-1930s, merely because he was much, much too tactlessly right about the need for a balanced air force and a lot of other things. All the same, the Army doctors who certified that he was no longer fit for active service had quite good arguments on their side.

In fact the old hero was already deaf as a post and over forty years old, when he turned up at Nanking just before the big Japanese attack on China. Possibly the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek did not know enough about modern medicine. At any rate, they found him fit enough to improvise the brilliant air defense of Nanking which utterly destroyed the first squadrons the Japanese sent in. And when the Chinese had no more planes of their own left, Madame Chiang, whom he loved, let the old hero go after the Japs himself, in his specially adapted Curtiss Hawk, on a straight piecework basis.

That nest egg he made by shooting down Japanese bombers at $1,000 per bomber was the "foreign money" the Army general staff used to drop unpleasant hints about, when the old hero came to Washington to organize the American Volunteer Group—the "Flying Tigers" they called the group later, but I never liked the silly name. Out of little more than string and chewing gum, the old hero had devised the Chinese air warning net, that sustained China's resistance through the worst years. Out of little more than string and chewing gum and some fine American pilots, he also devised the A. V. G.

One can see him now, sweating it out in the awful heat on that awful air field in Toungoo, Burma, in the pre-Pearl Harbor summer. Franklin Roosevelt had boldly given him 100 P-40s that even the beleaguered British did not want, and he had ground crews of 100 U. S. pilots of every imaginable sort. (Seven were actually Navy flying boat pilots, who first tried to land their P-40s about fifteen feet above steaming runway, with unfortunate consequences.) But he did not have any staff worth mentioning, or any spare parts at all, or even, for a while, any ammunition for his P-40's machine guns.

Nobody but Diana Cooper and old Air Marshal Brooke-Topham, whom they later unjustly blamed for Singapore, really thought for a moment that the old hero could succeed in Burma. But there at Toungoo, he invented the radically new P-40 tactics that successfully defeated the Japanese Zeros. (They later decorated someone else for the invention.) Within a fortnight after he took the A. V. G. into China, no more Japanese bombs dropped. It was as simple as that, though he and the A. V. G. faced miracle odds of about five to one.

Again, one can see him now, as he was in those tangled, ugly war years at Kunming. By then you would have called him an old man — the skin of the deep lined face was like the surface of long-aged oak — but the tremendous, telling jut of the jaw was still there all the same. He needed what that jutting jaw implied for his bitter wartime battles with the air staff, and that brave old fool, Gen. Joe Stillwell, and with a lot of other people.

The battles saved his Fourteenth Air Force, which in turn saved China from coming to pieces altogether in mid-war, under the impact of the last Japanese offensive. (Very few people know it, but Stillwell' curious military plans never provided Chiang Kai-shek's wornout infantry with a single machine gun bullet to use against the Japanese on any Chinese battlefield.) All the same, the old hero lost his last battle, to save Free China from the Communists.

Maybe he would have convinced more people easily, maybe he would have to fight fewer battles, if he had fewer faults and weaknesses. He was almost wholly self-educated for one thing; and when he did his own logistical calculation on the back of a dirty envelope, the results did not impress conventional-minded officers with staff training. For another, he had the touchy vanity that self-educated men with very great capacities always develop, if they are patronized and slighted as the old hero had been in his years in the peacetime U.S. Army.

There were some other warts to provide contrast in the portrait; but I have called him the old hero because he always remained a hero to me, although I studied the warts at closest range. His name is Claire Lee Chennault. We shall be poorer without him.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Security Council

The world could go down to its final end while the Security Council of the United Nations debates on the virtues of this or that paragraph of the United Nations Charter. It must be pleasant to belong to such a delightful debating society, in which men are most courteous when they spit into each other's eyes.

So Comrade Sobolev rises to make a prolonged speech which is translated into English and French. The afternoon has passed. American troops have landed in Turkey; British troops have landed in Jordan; Ben-Gurion has had the Russian Ambassador in. But the United Nations translator drones his weary way. The English translator of Sobolev's speech must have gone to an elocution school. He is very good at nuances, at little sarcasms. He might be an actor. He is better than Sobolev who as an orator is very bad, indeed—nothing like Vyshinsky who when he cursed the United States really put his heart in it.

Ah! Dag Hammarskjold, the Secretary General of the United Nations, gets into the act. What he says is neither here nor there, because Soviet Russia sent her top air force general to plan a campaign with Nasser's top air force general. Hammarskjold talks for the record. Someday a researcher will note that he had asserted the superiority of the United Nations over the United States. It may be so, but we are now moving troops and fleets and the fate of nations hangs in the balance.

So Sweden goes into a dither. Sweden can be occupied by Soviet Russia and the Swedes would prefer that nothing be done to irritate the Russians who would need only an hour or two to move into Sweden from Finland. I once spent some time up around Haparanda and Tornio where Sweden and Finland are joined together. It is bleak country, up in the Arctic. It would not take the Russians many hours to move troops by land as well as by airplanes into Sweden.

So the Swede in the United Nations tried hard to postpone discussion, postpone meetings, postpone life and reality. And the same is true of the Japanese who wanted American troops removed from Japan and now the Japanese have to defend themselves from Soviet Russia and Red China and the subversive elements in Japan. It is a tough spot for Japan. What they really need is the protection of the American occupation. For Japan, the greatest tragedy was the failure of the United States to defeat Red China in Korea. That tragedy was, of course, due to the Pentagon's antagonism toward General Douglas MacArthur and the mistaken policies of President Truman who did not understand that in the so-called United Nations police action we were fighting not North Korea but Red China.

And now Japan must face reality, too. For if World War III should break out over Lebanon and Iraq and the other tricks of Nasser, Japan will be occupied as Sweden will be occupied. That is one of the cruel facts about wars: they do not remain within fixed margins. They spread. World War I started over the Balkans and spread to every ocean; World War II started over Poland which was soon forgotten as more significant targets were hit.

We are now in the foothills of World War III. The start is over Lebanon but only occurred when a Nasser-organized revolution hit Iraq. Also Turkey, Jordan and Israel are involved and Sweden and Japan are literally scared.

And so the debate drones on and on at the United Nations Security Council.

Will the agenda be adopted? And after that, will a resolution be adopted? And will the resolution be vetoed by either the United States or Soviet Russia? What difference does it now really make? Hour after hour, I listen on the radio as millions of others do. Occasionally there is an amusing interlude as when an N.B.C. commentator spoke about the CIA being headed by one Allen Dulles. Now, what does the word, one, mean at such a moment? Allen Dulles cannot be talked down or humiliated by a baritone; he heads our intelligence services and is trying to handle an extremely difficult task with an agency that cannot mature quickly. If the CIA is in fine working condition in a generation, it will be a success. It takes a long time to make a good spy.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Is Albany the stopping or stepping-stone to Washington? You can check the lads who made it on the thumbs of your winter mittens.

Young Rockefeller is aimed that way on the wings of gubernatorial ambition. He will make a pretty good guber.

An equally young Roosevelt had a run for the roses and thorned out. The best time to have a distinguished father is while he's still alive.

Let's do an Al Smith and gander the record. Al himself discovered the "welcome" on doormats spoke another language on different steps.

The faraway cousins Teddy and Franklin gapped the bridge from Albany to Washington. And so did Grover Cleveland.

That's three out of a possible thirty-five head swivelers in the seats of the mighty. Stan the Man could top that average batting with a banana stalk.

Martin Van Buren was a native empirist and so was Millard Fillmore. If they were governors they were never investigated.

If that's a stepping stone the next hop is a jump.

Angina Pectoris And Coronary Thrombosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis are the chief diseases of the coronary arteries. The first occurs when the arteries are narrowed. The heart muscle obtains enough blood when the body is resting and the mind is tranquil, but chest pain develops with exertion and excitement. Relief follows a moment or two of rest or the use of nitroglycerin.

Conorary thrombosis represents obstruction along the coronary tree. Closure of a main branch is more serious than plugging of a small branch When the flow of blood is blocked, the victim is seized with a constricting pain beneath the breastbone that radiates into the neck and down one or both arms. Beads of perspiration appear on the forehead and the skin becomes ashen. The individual is terrified—the discomfort is unlike anything he ever experienced before. Oxygen and drugs, such as morphine, are needed.

The coronary arteries resemble the water pipes in the home. A small section of the pipe, for example, may corrode and block one sink or the entire plumbing system, depending upon the location of the obstruction. This is comparable to coronary thrombosis.

On the other hand, the pipes may give faithful service for years and become troublesome only after the accumulation of rust slows down the flow of water to a trickle. This is disheartening, especially when a quick wash is wanted. This is comparable to angina pectoris.

We can get new pipes for our bathroom, but at present not for our chest. It is conceivable, however, that this will be possible in the future. Our vascular surgeons are using vessel grafts to replace or bypass the obstructed segments in the abdomen and legs. To apply this procedure to the heart, all we need is a good test to demonstrate where the vessel is plugged.

The alternative is to encourage new blood vessels to grow into the heart muscle and there are drugs and surgical procedures that help. They are recommended for persons with severe coronary disease. The basic treatment goes back to the original cause — arteriosclerosis — which will be discussed tomorrow.

HERNIA AND ANESTHETIC

D. F. writes: Can a hernia in the groin be repaired without taking a general anesthetic?

REPLY

Yes. Some surgeons use a local anesthetic, whereas others prefer a spinal. In this type of surgery, muscles should be relaxed and the surgeon selects the type of anesthetic he considers most suitable.

NOSE AND THROAT

B. J. writes' What is nasopharyngitis?

REPLY

Inflammation of the nose and pharynx. The common cold is example.

LIVER INFECTION

P. W. writes: Can a person have hepatitis more than once?

REPLY

One attack of viral hepatitis usually confers lasting immunity. This is not necessarily true of other types of liver infection.

TOMORROW: Primary factors in arteriosclerosis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Joey Adams has gotten a lot of mileage out of the story of the wealthy man who arose at a charity dinner and announced in stentorian tones, "My name is Sam Smith and I'm the president of Dresses for Debutantes, Inc. One price, one quality for all: $22 a dozen, 2% off for cash. My address is 622 Main St., three floors AND the penthouse. I'd like to donate to this worthy cause the sum of ten dollars—anonymously."

Wife came home with a newfangled dress that made her look little more than skin-and-bones. "Ho ho," chuckled her husband, "The Complete Angular."

Yon Yonson's wife sent some bottles to the druggist in Minneapolis with this note attached:

"Special note to druggist. Be sure and write it plain on the bottles, vich is for de horse and vich is for Yon. I don't vant nothing to happen to our horse before spring plowing."

Whither The Market?

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK.—With the stock market making new highs for the year in the face of the recession in business and the Middle East crisis, the big quuestion mark is where the stock market is heading.

Is this a new bull market? Or is the recovery of more than 60 per cent of the losses in last year's decline just a rally in a bear market?

Some of the answers are given in a poll by this department of the Wall Street experts, the men who make it their business to follow the stock market and economic trends.

There is no unanimity in their views, but most of them see for the long range more and more inflation. Even those who lean to the cautious side believe in the months ahead there will be selective buying opportunities.

Here are the views:

FRANCIS I. duPONT & CO.—Events of the past few days may well change the course of many things including trends in business and the stock market in the final half of 1958. However, the new development—of trouble in the Middle East and our involvement therein—is still in too early a stage to forecast the repercussions from a business or a stock market standpoint.

For example, there could be a further acceleration of government spending to increase buying of military goods and a speed-up of the missile and other programs.

If this occurs, a dual effect may be the result. First, there would be a further stimulation to business and second, additional deficit spending would further the inflation spiral which has depreciated the dollar's purchasing power to its lowest level, despite the now almost year-old recession.

From the more immediate viewpoint, common stocks have rebounded sharply from their lows of last Fall, the industrial index being 15 per cent above that bottom and only 9 per cent beneath the high of a year ago. This was despite the decline in earnings, reduction in dividends and a business recession longer and deeper than anticipated.

From a price standpoint, alone, this places shares of American industry in somewhat of a vulnerable position.

It would appear that there is a discounting in the stock market of a good economic rebound and no material international involvement with all its ominous implications. There does not appear to be much allowance for disappointments in business or in world affairs, even if only temporary.

Accordingly, even though the long-term potentialities for stocks remain favorable, predicted on the worth of shares relative to inflationary trends and to ultimate earnings and dividend prospects resulting from our ever expanding nation, a continued intermediate term conservative investment policy should be followed.

Investment portfolios should include, in addition to undervalued stocks, some reserves of cash and cash equivalent securities to take advantage of future buying opportunities.

JAMES F. HUGHES, Auchincloss, Parker Redpath — Technical and historical probabilities indicate that the industrial share price average is an intermediate selling range. Abnormal duration of recovery from the 1957 low point has contributed to a complacent optimism based on the assumption that the bear market is over and a new bull market has started.

This optimism could be doublecrossed. There may be some justification for regarding the current advance as a continuation of the great new era bull market, exploiting such neglected groups as chain stores, foods, drugs and tobaccos. However, when these have received the full treatment accorded the growth stocks from 1954 to the summer of 1957, there won't be much left with which to whip up enthusiasm.

Nearly everybody concedes the market is all mixed-up. An intermediate correction from around here could add to the general mix-up.

MARTIN GILBERT, Van Alstyne, Noel & Co.—Prior to the new Mid-East turbulence, there was no indication whatever that the market's upward pace in effect since last October was slowing down. In other words, prices had shown steady forward progression in the face of adverse business news as well as uncertainties in the foreign political situation.

This strong action bodes well for the future course of stock prices and subject to interruptions, we would expect the various stock indexes to move even higher over the remaining six months of 1958. Certainly if the list was able to advance in the face of unfavorable economic factors, there is little likelihood of a mysterious setback under conditions which suggest that business troubles are about over and improvement in sight.

We would point to the dynamic action of the stock market of the past week, whereby new 1958 highs were recorded. To our mind, this presages additional investment and speculative pressure which should beat down overhead resistance and enable the list to drive up further into a two year overhead supply area.

We would repeat that the market is never a one way street, but subject to minor interrupting phases, we would look for the Dow Jones Industrial Average to approach its all-time high before the current year ends.

JOSEPH DOCTER, Laidlow & Co. — Higher prices for stocks should materialize as business improves for balance of 1958. Purchaser of stocks must be selective and avoid decadent industries.

I suggest companies with large research departments that also have big natural resources. Electronics, oils, chemicals, coal, airplane equipment — companies that will get large orders from railroads, iron and steel . . . Seasoned Canadian mining and some Canadian industrial companies.

Frostburg Little Leaguers Eliminate Oakland, 8-1

Diehl Hurls One-Hitter And Fans 14

Tommy Wilson Tops Attack; Frostburg At Hancock Today

Frostburg's All-Stars got off to a flying start in the district Little League baseball elimination tourney by defeating Oakland, Garrett county's representative, yesterday at Oakland by the score of 8-1.

Billy Diehl, pitching ace of the Frostburg Orioles, pitched a one-hitter and struck out 14 batsmen for the Mountain City nine which advanced to the second round of the tourney to play Hancock today at 6 p. m. in Hancock.

If Frostburg wins today's contest it will play host at a third round contest set for Thursday.

Dennis Shaffer's single in the fifth inning was the only hit credited to Oakland in yesterday's contest.

The Frostburg team, managed by Bill Groves and William Biggs, collected six hits, three of which were credited to Tom Wilson, who garnered two doubles and a single. Wayne Miller had two hits for the winners. Larry Orr went the distance for Oakland.

In other tourney games staged yesterday, Williamsport defeated Halfway by the score of 6-0 on a no-hitter by Don Hott, who struck out 14 batsmen, Potomac eliminated Martinsburg, 13-9, and West End defeated Federal, 4-3, in a contest between Hagerstown nines.

Score of the game at Oakland:

The Kiwanis Club defeated the Bedford Road Optimists, 13-3, and the Lions Club blanked the Jaycees, 2-0, in Hot Stove Baseball League games yesterday and continued to run one-two in the circuit's pennant race.

Kiwanis leads the league with a 9-3 record and the Lions trail by a half game at 9-4.

A seven-run explosion in the third inning enabled the Kiwanians to post their third straight triumph. Bedford Road was blanked until the final frame when Phil Ketterman walloped a three-run homer.

Johnny Price got credit for his 5th straight win of the season, leaving the game in the 4th in favor of Jimmy Powelson, who finished on the mound. Price also headed his team's 17-hit attack with two doubles and two singles, "Butch" Bosley clouted a homer and two singles, Charley Boone a homer and single, Powelson three hits and Leroy Hanekamp two. Seeders collected two of the losers' six safeties.

Ronnie Evans hooked up with Phil Barbe in a neat slab duel last night as the Lions emerged triumphant over the Jaycees. The Lions won the game in the first inning when Jimmy Sisk walked, Mike Miller doubled and both runners scored on an error by the Jaycees' centerfielder. Miller had two hits and Stratton rapped a two-bagger for the Lions. The Jaycees' lone hit was a single by "Butch" Cross in the second inning.

Evans fanned 14 and issued two passes. Barbe struck out ten and gave up two bases on balls.

The Elks moved into the .500 class with a 6-6 record by beating the Rotary Club, 6-3.

Glen Shipway posted his fifth win against one loss for the Elks. He yielded only four hits and struck out seven and paced his team at the plate with a double and two singles. A five-run rally in the 2nd inning won the game for Elks. Ray Redinger and Gary Zembower drove in two runs each with a single and triple, respectively.

John Combs of the Elks and Joe Ranker of Rotary collected two hits each. One of Ranker's blows was a homer. Wellington Donahue, Rotary hurler, struck out 13. Scores:

Ellerslie	2	14	.125

Frostburg clobbered Ellerslie, 27-9, Cresaptown trimmed Mt. Savage, 12-4, and LaVale rang up its fifth straight win at the expense of Lonaconing, 8-7, in Bi-State Pony Baseball League games staged yesterday.

The league leaders massaged the offerings of five Ellerslie hurlers for 19 hits and scored 15 runs in the fourth inning in routing the cellar dwellers.

Allan Eisel and Dave Kerch both had four hits in six official trips. Kerch hit for the cycle with a homer, triple, double and single and Eisel's collection of blows included a homer and triple. John and Twain Lowery had three hits each for Ellerslie, including a homer apiece. Twain's four-master came with the bases loaded.

Cresaptown remained a game off the pace by beating Mt. Savage on a one-hitter by Billy Lovett who whiffed 11 and chalked up his 9th win of the campaign against one loss. Flanagan, Hinds, Lovett and Cecil shared eight of the winners' 12 hits and McKenzie blasted a homer. Mt. Savage scored its four runs in the fifth when Tommy Deffenbaugh cleaned the bases with a triple and scored later on an infield out.

LaVale posted its eighth win in nine starts by edging Lonaconing.

The victors racked up 12 hits with Bill Kelly, Evan Smith and Jimmy Willetts collecting three blows each. Mickey Scaletta socked a two-run homer and single and Arnold Zaks and Ted Femi also obtained two hits each.

LaVale pulled the game out of the fire with a three-run rally in the 7th. Evan Smith's double sent over the first run and Bill Kelly doubled over the tying and winning markers. R. Wilson had two hits and scored four runs for 'Coney. Scores:

LaVale, Ft. Hill Riflemen Win

Rangers, Hercules Drop League Tests

WESTERN MD. RIFLE LEAGUE

	W	L
LaVale	7	3
Rangers	6	4
Scouts	6	4
Hercules	1	9

LaVale and Fort Hill's Scouts notched victories in the first contest of a three match novelty series fired by the Western Maryland League on Sunday evening at the Morningside Drive rifle range.

Use of the 100 yard international target at 50 yards distance put all team competitors in the "possible" count and the competition hinged on the tally of x's. Possible with 40x's by Bill Smith and Jack Fulk gave LaVale the slight margin needed to repulse the Rangers, 1600-157x to 1600-155x. Pacing LaVale gunners again moved into first place in the standings. Frank Simpson headed the losers with 40x's.

Leo Leasure and Norm White collected 40x's in the lopsided win over Hercules, 1600-158x to 800-78x. Joe Eirich scored 40x's for Hercules.

Next week's novelty match will feature use of the 50 yard target at 100 yards distance.

West Virginia State Names Burris Coach

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The appointment of Chester A. Burris as acting head football coach at West Virginia State College at nearby Institute was approved Monday by the State Board of Education.

At the same time, the board also approved the appointment of former head coach Mark Cardwell as acting head basketball coach at the college.

It also retained Dr. Charles C. Hawkins as athletic director.

West Virginia High Schools Classified For Grid, Cage Tests

The Board of Appeals of the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission has set up a permanent classification of schools for both football and basketball seasons, effective this fall.

The classifications will be known as AAA, AA and A instead of AA, A and B as in the past.

Tentative plans for starting the 1959 state basketball tournament with a morning session have been reviewed by the board.

The two-day tournament to determine three champions opens March 20 in Huntington's Memorial Fieldhouse next year.

Four teams from each of three classifications will earn the right to participate in the championship round of play. The tentative schedule calls for five tournament sessions. Semi-final games in each division will be played on Friday, March 20 and the trio of championship games the next day — two in the afternoon and one at night.

Here's the way the schools in nearby West Virginia will be classified for football and basketball:

CLASS AAA:

Section 3 — Martinsburg, Fairmont East, Fairmont West and Morgantown. Section 4—Elkins, Buckhannon, Clay, Richwood and Summersville. Section 2—Grafton, Parkersburg, Clarksburg Victory and Clarksburg W.I.

CLASS AA:

Section 5 — Parsons, University of Morgantown, Kingwood and Philippi. Section 7—Petersburg, Romney, Charles Town, Keyser.

CLASS A:

Section 9—Valley, Bruceton, Terra Alta, Aurora. Section 10—Tunnelton, Newburg, Fellowsville and Rowlesburg. Section 11—Thomas, Kasson, Bayard, Belington and Harman. Section 12—Mill Creek, Pickens, Coalton, Green Bank and Beverly. Section 13—Elk Garden, Piedmont, Fort Ashby and Ridgeley. Section 14—Franklin, Wardensville, Circleville, Mathias and Moorefield. Section 15—Capon Bridge, West Virginia Deaf, Paw Paw and Berkeley Springs. Section 16—Page Jackson, Harpers Ferry, Shepherdstown, Musselman and Ramer.

Junior Brelsford hurled the Old Exports into first place in the City Softball League yesterday when he tossed a six-hitter and whiffed nine to defeat the Knights of Columbus at Post Field by the score of 7-3.

The winners racked up 10 hits, including a double and single by Bill Eckard and two one-base raps by Bill Burke. Fred Meeks' running catch of Harold Hudson's drive to left field was the fielding highlight.

Donnie Madden collected two of the Caseys' six hits and Donnie Farrell smashed a homer in the second inning. Harold Hudson excelled in left field with two nice running catches.

The Old Exports sewed it up in the first inning by grouping three walks with three hits for four runs.

Singles by Moreland, Gene Basilio and Yenkelevitz following Bobby Goss' walk in the fifth inning produced three runs and gave the Hermans a 3-2 decision over the Sports Shoppe at Naval Reserve Fjeld.

Sports Shoppe outhit the Hermans, 8 to 4. Teter collected a pair of two-baggers and Method and Meade had two singles each for the losers. Hayden Phillips notched his sixth win of the season and fanned six. Scores:

Cards Top Braves In 14th On Homer By Curt Flood, 5-4

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Curt Flood slammed his sixth homer of the season in the 14th inning Monday night, giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Flood's blast over the left field fence was the second homer of the game against Lew Burdette, who pitched the entire game for Milwaukee.

Wally Moon sent the game into extra innings with his bases-empty homer in the ninth inning, his second of the season.

Burdette, who allowed ten hits, suffered his eighth loss of the season against nine victories.

Detroit To Open Series With "Cousins" Tonight

Yankees Will Face Foytack, Lary And Bunning In Order

By TOM DYGARD

DETROIT (AP)—By all appearances things ought to be looking up for the Detroit Tigers.

Jim Bunning, their ace pitcher of a year ago who stumbled through the first two months of this season, hit the peak of recovery with a no-hitter against the Boston Red Sox Sunday.

On top of that, the Tigers' cousins, the New York Yankees, are coming to town. The Tigers, with a 9-6 edge over the mighty Yankees this season, are the only team that might boast the Yankees are cousins.

But things are not necessarily looking up for the Tigers.

In the first place, Bunning's no-hitter represented only one victory in a doubleheader. The Tigers dropped the second game 5-2. At the same time the league-leading Yankees were thumping Kansas City twice.

The business of the Tigers holding a whammy on the Yankees may go up like a wisp of smoke in a windstorm. A sweep of the three-game series starting here Tuesday night with the Tigers would do the trick for the Yankees. That would put them even at 9-9 for the season.

The last series—played at New York last week—indicates Casey Stengel may have solved the puzzle of the Tigers' mastery over the Yanks. The Tigers won the first game of a lopsided score, then lost two close ones.

Tiger Manager Bill Norman, who swept a four-game series in his first meeting with the Yankees after taking the helm in June, will pitch Paul Foytack, Frank Lary and Bunning in that order.

Billy Flamio Whips Lynch

Cops Rough-House Affair At St. Nick

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billy Flamio, stubby New York welterweight, tore into Eddie Lynch Monday night and beat him at close quarters for a unanimous decision in such a rough-house fight that the referee was pummelled for more than half a minute in the seventh round.

Their televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena was the roughest staged in New York in years.

Lynch, of New York, weighing 149 pounds to Flamio's 147½, was warned repeatedly for holding and Flamio was likewise warned for butting and kneeing. Lynch was penalized the sixth round for a foul and Flamio the eighth for kneeing.

In the hectic seventh session, when referee Teddy Martin tried to separate them, they fought back for more than 30 seconds with the referee in between them, taking a pummeling. The crowd of 1,254, almost split in their violent partisanship, raised such an uproar that it seemed a riot might ensue.

Fortunately, the referee was strong enough to separate them finally just before the bell rang ending the round.

Barney Oldfield was the first auto racer to drive a mile a minute, in 1910.

Redlegs Defeat Chicago, 9-4

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Thurman's three - run homer helped power Cincinnati's Redlegs to a 9-4 victory over Chicago's Cubs Monday night. Harvey Haddix had to squelch a Cub ninth inning rally before nailing down the victory that jumped Cincinnati from the cellar to fifth place in the tight National League scramble.

In that ninth inning uprising, Cub catcher Cal Neeman led off with a homer over the left field wall and after Bobby Adams grounded out, Tony Taylor doubled.

But Taylor was cut down at the plate trying to score on a single and Haddix got Lee Walls to fly out.

It was the sixth victory in 11 decisions for Haddix who fanned four Cubs and walked two.

Toronto Is Fined $100 For Announcer's Remarks About Ump

MONTREAL (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs have been fined $100 for remarks by their public-address announcer in the first game of a doubleheader with Montreal July 18, International League President Frank Shaughnessy announced Monday.

He said the public-address man told the crowd Lou Kahn, Toronto coach, had been ejected from the game by Umpire Frank Guzzeta for protesting Guzzeta's decision in calling fair a home-run hit by Solly Drake, Montreal outfielder, "when everyone in the park knew it was foul except Guzzeta."

Forty Niners Top Gurley's, Reach Finals

Lefty Mills Tosses 1-Hitter, Wins 5-3

Lefty John Mills pitched the Forty Niners into the finals of the three-team playoff for the first half championship of the City High School Baseball League yesterday when he tossed a one-hitter and whiffed ten to beat Woody Gurley's tossers at Stitcher Field by the score of 5-3.

For the second time this season Wayne Shook broke up a no-hitter for Mills when he garnered Gurley's lone safety. In an earlier game which the Forty Niners won by the score of 9-1 Shook obtained Gurley's only hit off Mills.

Yesterday's win advanced the team managed by Harry Mills and Bob Arthur to the playoff finals with the V.F.W. Friday at 6 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

The Forty Niners nicked Charley Rice for nine hits, six of which were shared by Dick Peck, Jim O'Neal and Jim Hammond. Jim Twigg and Bon Hershberger, Forty Niners' outfielders, turned in several nice catches. Score:

GURLEY'S	200 010 0—3	1	1

Anne Quast Wins Medal In Western

CHICAGO (AP) — One-putting seven greens, Anne Quast of Everett, Wash., Monday shot a one-under-par 72 for a competitive course record and medalist honors of the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament.

The 20-year-old history major at Stanford got off to what she hoped will be a carbon copy performance of her 1956 feat of taking the qualifying medal in this same meet and going on to win the title.

Her steady 36-36 over the par 36-37—73 Oak Park Country Club layout also brought the slim, brown-haired beauty the Marion Miley Trophy, presented in memory of the former Women's Western Golf Assn., amateur champion of Lexington, Ky., who was killed a dozen years ago by a burglar.

Her closest pursuers were four 79 shooters; Sandy Spuzich, Indianapolis, Indiana University physical education senior; Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., Indianapolis, 1957 state champion; Clifford Ann Creed, Opelousas, La., Tam O'Shanter's All American and "World" women's amateur champion in 1956, and Betty Kerby, Akron, Ohio, a former school teacher.

LeBaron Signs 6th Redskin Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eddie LeBaron, "Mickey Rooney with muscles," signed Monday for his sixth season with the Washington Redskins.

As usual, the club declined to reveal money terms but LeBaron, who stands 5-7 and weighs only 165 pounds, is believed to be making $14,000 a season.

LeBaron will get stiff competition for the No. 1 quarterback post from Ralph Guglielmi, former Notre Dame star who is rejoining the Redskins after two years in the Air Force.

Saves Ten Games

Roy Face, the "Boss of the Buc Bullpen," is on the way to his greatest season — being credited with ten saves in his first 30 appearances this year. Two years ago, when Face enjoyed his best season — leading the National League with 68 appearances — Roy was credited with only nine saves, and last year, he saved only eight games.

Wertz To Return

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians announced Monday night that first baseman Vic Wertz will be returned to the active list Tuesday.

Wertz, who suffered a polio attack in 1955 and recovered to record two of his best seasons, has been on the disabled list since he suffered a broken ankle during spring training.

Tribe officials said Wertz, a left-handed batter, will be used mainly as a pinch-hitter.

Senators And Cards Win Three Straight In Dapper Dan Loop

The Senators reeled off their third straight win by whipping the Braves yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 5-4 and tied the Braves for the runner-up spot in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League. Each team has won six and lost five games.

Carl Hubble smashed a three-run homer in the first inning and added a single later in the game. John Roy banged a triple and single and Jimmy Cornelius excelled at short for the victors. Madden pounded a triple and Shroyer a double for two of the Braves' four hits yielded by Roy, who fanned five.

In the Dan Division the Cardinals also won their third in a row by trouncing the Pirates at Penn Avenue Field, 12 to 4.

The win gave the Cards a 5-6 record for the season.

Billy Ronsley, who came on to relieve Gary Morgan in the second frame, notched his third straight pitching triumph to make his record 4-2. He fanned seven. Lewis, losing twirler, struck out eleven, after replacing "Babe" Adams in the second stanza.

Gary Morgan collected four hits, Wally Harper blasted a pair of triples, Don Rice homered and Donnie Maiers garnered two singles for the Cardinals. Lonnie Lewis hit a round-tripper and single and "Ace" Jewell had a pair of base knocks for the Pirates. Scores:

Westernport tied Barton for first place in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday when Dave Marple pitched a one-hitter and struck out 11 in turning back Zihlman in an 8-0 shutout triumph at Westernport.

The victory gave Westernport a 14-3 record and extended their winning streak to eleven games.

In posting his second straight victory, Marple increased his strikeout total to 26 in two contests. Robeson's single in the second inning was Zihlman's only hit.

Westernport collected nine hits off Bridges and Robeson. Junie Perry and Joe Niland smacked

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Spade 5.

The ability to capitalize to the full extent on the slightest error of the opposition is one of the distinguishing marks of the truly fine player. The defenders were quick to pounce on South today the minute he made one false move.

Against the one no trump contract, West opened the 5 of spades and the 10 forced the king. Declarer could run seven tricks at once but since this was played in a tournament he tried for overtricks by leading a heart first. West ducked and declarer misguessed by playing the 10. East won with the queen and returned the jack of spades.

This trick declarer should unquestionably have taken, but he made the error of playing low. While this was going on, West did a little calculating of his own.

Since declarer had not gone for dummy's longest suit, but started working on dummy's only possible entry it was reasonable to assume that the clubs were solid. This marks declarer with the ace, king of spades, ace, king of clubs and apparently the jack of hearts.

He cannot therefore have even the ace in diamonds for that would give him 19 points, too much for a bid of one no trump.

It was vital to get East to shift to a diamond. How could this be done? The only way was to give East the impression that the opening lead had been made from a three card suit and that it would be futile to continue it. West therefore dropped the nine of spades under the jack to suggest that the queen would fall next time.

East took note of his partner's play, and feeling that a spade continuation would be fruitless, shifted to a low diamond. The defense quickly mopped up five tricks in this suit, which together with one spade and two clubs resulted in a 200 point set and a top score for East-West.

City Approves Bond

The $20,000 bond of Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder as city treasurer was approved yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

The world's first rodeo was held in Pecos, Tex., back in 1883.

Police Granted Leave

Two members of the Police Department have been granted leave to attend the summer field training program of the National Guard at Indiantown Gap, Pa., August 16-30, in action by the Mayor and Council. They are M/Sgt. Roy C. Hawse and Sgt. Thomas E. Andrews.

DangerSpots On The Farm

Here are the 21 dangerous practices we saw in the pictures appearing on Page 5. Did you find them all?

PHOTOGRAPH A: (1) A barnyard with any kind of livestock is no place for children to play. (2) Many children, just like this one, are drowned each year in water tanks, farm ponds and streams. (3) Farmer is leading the bull without a staff, using only a rope snapped into the nose ring. (4) With his back to the animal, farmer would have little warning should the bull suddenly become mad. (5) Ax with cracked handle is unsafe for use anywhere. Here it leans dangerously against the water tank. (6) Manure forks with tines up and lying on the ground threaten injury to both people and animals.

PHOTOGRAPH B: (1) Unsupervised swimming in deep and treacherous gravel pits or quarries is very dangerous. (2) No light or reflector on bicycle. (3) Careless handling of firearm by boy on abandoned pier. (4) With two boys and one bicycle, it is fair to assume that the bicycle, built for one, carried both boys to the swimming hole.

PHOTOGRAPH C: (1) Every Monday and sometimes in between, someone comes in close contact with electricity by screwing out the bulb and connecting the washing machine to the drop cord in the basement of this house. (2) Sooner or later, using a stand like this, instead of a stepladder, is certain to bring a fall. (3) Light wires are wrapped around nails and water pipe overhead. (4) Glass jars, overshoes, and other items on the cellar steps are sure to cause a tumble for someone. (5) There are better places for the little girl to play with her toys than on the cellar steps. (6) Handrails on steps will keep you from taking a bad fall someday.

PHOTOGRAPH D: (1) Farmer is refueling tractor with engine running. Fuel spilled on a hot manifold could cause a fire. (2) Smoking while refueling your tractor is a sure invitation to a disastrous explosion and fire. (3) Uncovered power take-off can catch sleeve or pants leg. (4) Children and pets should not play near machinery, especially mowers in the hayfield. (5) Driver's loose sleeve could catch in tractor engine or power take-off. Remember your farm equipment dealer has the new "Tips for Safe Tractor Operation" booklet. Ask him today for your free copy.

eration's Foundation for the Advancement of Music.

The National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich. will entertain Federation visitors August 1, 3. Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, director of the National Music Camp, will offer a wide range of programs illustrative of the musical resources of the camp. These will include orchestral, chamber music and band concerts, a piano ensemble program, an organ recital and two operetta performances. The Michigan Federation, of which Mrs. Gilbert Burrell of Lansing is President, will give a Federation luncheon, followed by a musical program, and a Junior Lodge, given to the camp by the Michigan Federation, will be dedicated.

Soloists during the Peninsular festival will include Ilona Kombrink, soprano, of Toronto; Aurelio Estanislao, baritone, from the Philippines; and Grant Johannesen, pianist, who will be heard with the 42-piece Chamber Orchestra, Dr. Thor Johnson conducting. Aside from the numerous concerts, events especially planned for the Federation visitors include a cruise on Green Bay and a dinner and luncheon, at one of which Dr. Johnson, as guest speaker, will report on his recent work in Formosa and the Orient.

The final summer event of 1958 for the Federation will be a Mid-Week at Oglebay Park, W. Va., August 27 and 28. Boris Goldovsky and Leonard Treash, directors of the Oglebay Park Opera Workshop, will give addresses. A production of Verdi's "Falstaff" in English under the direction of Mr. Goldovsky and Mr. Treash is on the entertainment schedule The Thursday Music Club of Wheeling will furnish the musical program at the Federation Luncheon on Aug. 28.

Sale To Help Boys Teams

Cumberland decided to form a corporation and found a new agency. This they did, and thus the Family Service Agency, Inc. was established.

Agency Chartered

The charter of this agency empowers this group to furnish any and all assistance on a free and voluntary basis, needed to help any indigent family or individual, where such needed services are not already provided for by some existing agency. In short, Family Service is designed to fill the gap and to take up where others leave off.

Since the basic problem of this family was adequate housing, the Family Service group decided to tackle this problem first. A survey was made to find a house large enough to house a family of 18. Such a house was located in South Cumberland and was rented on a temporary, month to month basis at low rent. A campaign was waged and enough beds, chairs and other furnishings were donated to set up comfortable and adequate housekeeping. Local truckers volunteered the use of men and equipment to move the donated items and the family for the first time, was properly, if temporarily housed.

Mr. Hansford was of the opinion that he owned the tract of land on which his little tarpaper shack was located. Investigation, through the efforts of a Cumberland attorney who donated his services, disclosed that the property actually belonged to Hansford's father and that a brother had an interest. It took some time to arrange for a clear title to the tract, so that this family would have a deed for it, if a house could be built. The father and brother transferred their interest with the understanding that a house would be erected for the family. The Family Service Agency inserted a provision that the property cannot be sold, transferred or rented until the youngest child is 21.

An architest volunteered to design a barracks-type house with two dormitories on the second floor. One of these will house the girls, and the other will house the boys. The first floor is complete with kitchen, dining room, living room and a bedroom for the two parents. There are also the necessary sanitary facilities and adequate bathrooms.

Thus far, the emergency help, the incorporation, the cost of rent and other things which have been purchased, have been paid for by volunteer gifts from a few people. But now the task of actually constructing the house was to begin.

Volunteer Labor

Volunteer labor has been obtained to do the major part of this work at little or no cost. Some building materials have been donated, some firms have offered material at cost, and much more is needed.

The Family Service Agency will accept gifts of building material or cash, in order to complete this project and give a local family proper, safe and sanitary housing for the first time in their lives.

The agency is aware that this is the first of several such projects which are needed here. Already, at least three other have been recommended, but this one is the beginning, the pilot case, and from it perhaps a new way of helping less fortunate neighbors can be evolved.

Any persons who wish to assist may contact Rev. Russell Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, or may mail contributions to the Family Service Agency, Inc., 203 Grand Avenue, Cumberland, Md.

"Most of this group can be considered in desperate need of getting into an institution where they can be given care, but we have no place for them."

She noted that chronic diseases were just that — "those lasting a long time" She said the turnover in the Denmar patient list was slow because of that factor.

"I believe the people should know we have a fine facility at Denmar and that because the Legislature did not appropriate the money, it can not be fully used," she said. "If they know this, then they might want to do something about it."

That something, she believes, would be the contacting of legislative representatives and convince them the entire hospital should be opened for use.

Denmar faced another problem recently which so far has not been solved. Dr. H. T. Elliott, the institution's superintendent for a number of years, died unexpectedly two months ago. He has not been replaced.

"Where you have money enough to operate only on a limited basis it is hard to find qualified personnel to become head of an institution," Miss Hallanan said.

Strong Advance Carries Market To New '58 Peak

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Monday advanced strongly to another 1958 peak. Volume of 3,440,000 shares was the second biggest this year.

Key stocks rose from fractions to 3 points or more.

An estimated $2,440,000,000 was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

Steels, oils, chemicals and rubbers were outstanding in the rise. Three of the five most active stocks were steels.

The market was slightly higher at the start. The ticker tape was a minute behind transactions for a period of three minutes at the opening. Prices improved gradually or held until the final hour when a buying wave pushed stocks to their highs of the session.

Both the international news and the over-all business news are good, brokers said. A suspenseful weekend had passed without dire consequences in the Middle East. The abundance of encouraging economic reports of last week were digested. Added to this were a brighter demand picture expected for the steel industry this summer and another pickup in the steel industry operations.

Market leadership again passed to quality stocks. Strong investment buying was reported. The biggest short interest ever recorded was underneath the market as a future buying cushion, representing brrowed stock sold in the hope of repurchasing profitably in the future.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.90 to its new 1958 high of $180., putting the average at its highest since last Aug. 9. The rise equaled that of April 30 and was bettered this year only by the $2.40 advance of last Jan. 30.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Grain futures prices closed generally easy to heavy on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

At Chicago, wheat finished off 3 to 3⅜ cents; corn (old) off ½ to 1¼ cents; (new) off ⅜ to 1⅜ cents; oats off ½ to 1⅛ cents; rye off 2 to 2⅝ cents; soybeans off 3⅜ to 4⅜ cents.

Apprehension concerning further developments in the mideast crisis slowed trading throughout most of the day and resulted in a heaviness felt particularly in wheat. Few rallies came during the trading. Commission house activity seemed negligible to observers with local representatives dominating most of the business. The July option closes tomorrow.

The September contract showed the concentration of most activity in corn but activity in general was slow.

Oats and soybeans mirrored the slow trading of the leaders.

Grains at outside markets also were rather mixed with prices mostly heavy. The range:

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Model Life

Her face needn't be a model's fortune. But how far could a model go without poised and graceful carriage?

A girl has so much at stake in her posture. Correct, beautiful and poised stance brings greater admiration to a Powers Girl, for instance, than her one-in-a-thousand face.

There's more to looking like a mermaid in this summer's latest bathing suit than just having the necessary vital statistics. It's fine to have a good figure, but, during this season especially, the secret of true allure is good posture.

Practice posture in front of a mirror and you'll soon see that a sprawl looks even gawkier when you wear a swim suit than it does when you have on a formal gown. Since more of you shows out on a beach, posture becomes doubly important.

Here's another pose precaution: Don't arrange your legs in "tailor" or "jackknife" fashion until you know you're slim as a reed; otherwise, you're bound to look bulky.

To become a beauty-on-the-beach this summer, follow these tips on good posture.

When you seat yourself on the sand, hold your back and head erect. Otherwise, your supine curves and shoulders droop and make such a shambles of your figure that even the current cover-up chemises can't correct the situation.

When sitting, always watch the pose of legs. Don't ever spread them. Place legs straight out in front of you, then close them together with the ankles crossed for the most attractive line. Or draw legs to the side, keeping knees together, ankles arched and toes pointed.

Kids Found Rolling $800 Airplane Tire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Officer Paul Wade was surprised Monday when he saw several children rolling the equivalent of $800 down an alley.

The kids said they found it on a street. The officer took it in tow and police are looking for the owner of an almost new, 100-pound, 30-inch high airplane tire.

Police hope it dropped off a passing truck. They had no reports of a tire falling from an airplane.

Area Soldier Electrocuted In Germany

Private Butts Dies Erecting Antenna

A 19-year-old soldier from McCoole was electrocuted Sunday in Germany, when he came in contact with a high voltage wire while erecting a radio antenna.

The victim, Pvt. James Thomas Butts, was a son of Mrs. Genevieve (Wilderman) Butts, McCoole, and the late Alva O. Butts.

A sister of Pvt. Butts, Mrs. Violet Dove, McCoole, was notified yesterday of her brother's death. His mother had been visiting another son in Baltimore, and was finally reached yesterday afternoon.

JAMES THOMAS BUTTS

The U. S. Army has not released the full particulars of the mishap, but the telegram sent by the Red Cross to the family said the youth was killed when he came in contact with a high voltage wire while working to erect an antenna for a radio.

He served six months in the National Guard at Keyser, before enlisting in the Army at Cumberland, on May 21, 1957.

Prior to being transferred to Germany several months ago, Pvt. Butts was stationed with the Military Detachment at Miami Beach, Fla.

Pvt. Butts was born April 13, 1939, in Allegany County and attended Bruce High School in Westernport, before entering the service.

Also surviving besides his mother and sister, are three other sisters, Eileen, Janet and Bonnie Butts, all at home, four brothers, Alva Lee, Baltimore, and Curtis, Calvin and David Butts, all at home, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Flora M. Butts, McCoole.

The body will be returned to the Rogers Funeral Home in Keyser.

Sorority Thinks Of Others In Its Annual Activities

A group of persons interested in the health and welfare of others can accomplish remarkable results in the course of a year.

In Cumberland this is especially true of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority which has four chapters—Lambda, the first founded in the city; Omicron, Alpha Alpha, and Exemplar.

A coordinating body of the sorority here is the City Council composed of the president and two representatives of each chapter.

Locally, Beta Sigma Phi has been supporting the Girl Scout Camp Fund, Friends Aware of Handicapped Children, Allegany-Garrett County Chapter of the Heart Association and Cumberland's "First Lady," as well as extending a generous hand to the sick and providing for a deserving family.

Cultural and social programs as well as financial and gift projects round out the activities of the sorority which is the largest Greek letter organization in the world.

Lambda Chapter during the past year gave an ostocope to Miners Hospital in Frostburg, plastic arm boards to the Sacred Heart Hospital Association and bedsides for beds of the Heart Association.

It also contributed to the Heart Fund and the International Endowment Fund which has spent many thousands of dollars on cancer research and other humanitarian projects.

Omicron, which also gave to the endowment fund, aided an "adopted" family of seven. On alternate months, the chapter gave the mother, father and five children a supply of food while every other month the members gave household items including furniture, bed linens and dishes as well as wearing apparel.

The chapter also provided the family with a Thanksgiving basket and a Christmas basket complete with a large turkey and other foodstuff and $100 for the mother to buy Christmas gifts. The family was also remembered at Easter time when the women gave them a basket of foodstuff and money to purchase new shoes for the children.

Alpha Alpha presented a portable television set, Thanksgiving gifts and a Christmas basket to the children in the pediatrics ward at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Exemplar members had no projects to raise working capital but the women donated much of the items needed to complete projects including the family remembered at Christmas.

The chapter also donated a book to the Cumberland Free Public Library. Nearly $1,000 was presented to the Girl Scouts Camp Fund by the Council which raised some $950 when they sponsored a dance, card party and Christmas booth.

Chapter presidents this past year were: Lambda, Mrs. Betty Greene; Omicron, Miss Dolores Chase; Alpha Alpha, Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, and Exemplar, Mrs. Charlotte Judy. Mrs. Martha Van Horn was president of the City Council this past year.

The organization with a motto of "Life, Learning and Friendship," was founded in 1931 by Walter W. Ross, at Abilene, Kansas. Today there are 5,500 chapters throughout the world with a membership of 130,000.

Large Crowd Takes Part In Cub Day

More than 350 persons visited Camp Potomac on Saturday during the annual Cub Scout outing, according to Ross O. Decker, Potomac Council camping and activities chairman.

The event is held each year to allow the young scouts to visit the camp near Oldtown, since they are not afforded the opportunity to go camping.

Various activities were set up for the Cubs under the direction of John Kington, neighborhood chairman of Cumberland. He was assisted by Wilbert R. Sifton, council field executive and members of the camp staff.

Mr. Decker said the event has been held the past five years and Saturday's crowd was the largest ever to visit the camp on Cub Day.

Golden Gifts Section Will Meet Tonight

Keyser Unit Drive Opens Thursday

The Golden Gifts Section of the County United Fund will hold its second meeting today at 7 p. m. in the Cumberland Country Club.

George B. Newman and William C. Walsh, Golden Gifts co-chairmen, are urging all captains and co-captains to attend the meeting.

Officials are anticipating that the Golden Gifts campaign will be virtually wrapped up tonight after reports come in and are shooting at July 30 as the closing date of the first phase of the 1958 CUF fund campaign.

The committee held its kickoff meeting on July 1, when pledges totaling $17,855 were received.

No goal has been announced for the Golden Gifts Section but last year the larger contributors raised $159,133.45, nearly half of the $334,000 given in a single-drive effort for 29 health, welfare, youth and community agencies of this area.

The Keyser Golden Gifts Section will hold its kickoff meeting Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club.

David G. Nuzum, chairman of the Keyser Area Golden Gifts Section, said all captains and co-captains will attend.

T. Warner Lowry, general chairman of the Keyser Area CUF fund campaign, will be present.

Plans call for closing the Keyser Golden Gifts drive by August 15.

The CUF Allocations committee met last night in Keyser with officials of three Keyser Area CUF agencies to review requests of the units for 1959 operating funds.

Conferences were held with the Mineral County Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Keyser-Mineral County Public Library and the United Charities of Keyser.

It was the first of four meetings being scheduled to learn the needs of the agencies for the coming year.

Moorefield Man Is Named Vice-Pres. W.Va. School Board

James E. Ansel, an attorney of Moorefield, W. Va., has been elected vice president of the West Virginia State Board of Education, it was reported by UPI in Charleston last night.

The board opened a two-day meeting in Charleston yesterday and elected Raymond Brewster, Huntington newspaper editor, as its new president.

Mr. Brewster moved up from the vice presidency of the nine-member board, replacing C. Lee Spillers, Wheeling attorney. H. K. Baer of Charleston, was retained as secretary and director of teacher education.

The new president has been a member of the State Board of Education since May 20, 1941, and was president in 1954-55. He is editor of the Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

Other members attending the two-day session are Mr. Spillers, Arthur H. Spangler, Bluefield; Joseph C. Jefferds Jr., Charleston; Mr. Ansel; Dr. Samuel J. Bakersville, Charleston; Lawrence R. Lynch, Clarksburg, and Lacy I. Rice, Martinsburg. Dr. John H. Murray, Jenkinjones, McDowell County, was absent.

Club To Meet

Cumberland Kiwanis Club will meet Thursday noon at Sunshine Camp. Luncheon will be served.

Need Cited For W.Va. Chronic Disease Hospitals

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The "tremendous need" for chronic disease hospital facilities in West Virginia will not be met during the current fiscal year.

Deputy Public Institutions Commissioner Elizabeth V. Hallanan said Monday that because of "inadequate" budget appropriations for Denmar Hospital, near Marlinton, Pocahontas County, demands for such a service exceed the facilities.

"We have only enough money in our budget to sustain an operation of slightly more than 100 beds," Miss Hallanan said. "The hospital has a capacity of 235 beds, but we just don't have the money to put them to use."

Denmar, formerly a Negro tuberculosis institution, was converted to a chronic disease hospital by the 1957 Legislature.

Didn't Listen

"They did it on a temporary basis to see what the needs were," the deputy commission said. "But the Legislature didn't listen last year when told there was a need and money should be appropriated for it."

Former Institutions Commissioner Theodore T. Dorman and Miss Hallanan proposed a budget of nearly $600,000 for the operation of the institution at full capacity.

"We got $4,000 less in our appropriation for the present year than we had last year," she complained.

The institutions office submitted a budget request of $585,797 so all 235 beds at the institution could be put into service. The Board of Public Works pared this to $341,990 and then the Legislature knifed another $7,000, leaving an appropriation of $334,215 for the 1958-59 fiscal. Last year the budget was $338,040, or some $3,825 higher.

"Physically Denmar is our most outstanding institution," Miss Hallanan said. "It is nestled away amid the West Virginia hills in a beautiful region of Pocahontas county and has nothing but the finest of equipment."

Has Waiting List

"There is a waiting list of some 25 persons right now," ehs said.

Work Starts On Family Service Project

Work has been started on the construction of a new home for a family of 18, in the Carpenters Addition of Ridgeley. Shown in the photo is George Drew of Frostburg, heavy equipment operator for Orrie Sensabaugh, excavating for the basement, footers and foundation. Mr. Drew donated his time and Mr. Sensabaugh donated his equipment. The Family Service Agency, Inc., an independent charitable organization has undertaken the project.

Bernard Roeder Is Promoted To Rear Admiral

Bernad F. Roeder, 47, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Roeder, 815 Elmwood Lane, now in the office of naval operations, Pentagon Building, Washington, has been promoted from the rank of Navy Captain to that of temporary Rear Admiral.

President Eisenhower yesterday approved a selection board's recommendation for the promotion of 30 Navy line captains. Capt. Roeder was one of these approved.

A graduate of Allegany High School, Roeder entered the US Naval Academy at Annapolis and was graduated there with honors. He has served in the Navy since then and has seen duty in many countries, numerous ports and on a wide variety of assignments.

When World War II started he was in the Philippines, was ordered to Australia and later back to the states. Just recently he was on a mission to Europe, and prior to being assigned to Washington this last time, he was on duty on the Pacific Coast.

Admiral Roeder is the father of a son and three daughters. His son, Bernard Jr., is presently a student at the Naval Academy.

Fog, Rain Hit Area

Fog and rain generally dampened the spirits of residents of the tri-state area yesterday as July experienced its 13th day of wet weather.

A heavy fog which rolled in over the western part of the state slowed traffic somewhat on U. S. Route 40 west of Frostburg and caused the postponement of a baseball game in Finzel.

Temperatures yesterday varied only five degrees with the high of 65 compared to the low of 60. At 6 p. m. the theremeter registered 64.

Rainfall in Allegany County yesterday amounted to .09 inches bringing the total for the month of July to 1.22 inches despite the fact that July has recorded 13 wet days of 21.

Highways were reported damp in spots both east and west of Cumberland by State Police.

In the Oakland area the rainfall was somewhat heavier, with .71 inches recorded. Skies were cloudy and the temperature was 61 degrees in the afternoon.

Forecast for today is cloudy and a little warmer with a chance for more showers.

Firemen Plan Annual Bazaar

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will hold its annual outdoor bazaar on the lot adjoining the fire house from July 28 to August 2.

Rides, games, refreshments and a parade will feature the week's entertainment. The parade is scheduled for Friday, August 1.

George Mahaney is general chairman of the bazaar and will be assisted by George Lovenstein, Calvin Ayers, William Yeager and David E. Kirk.

The ladies auxiliary will be in charge of refreshments for the occasion. Mrs. John Costa, president of the auxiliary, will be chairman of the refreshment stands, which will feature homemade candies, pies, cakes and doughnuts.

Sunday School Plans Picnic Tomorrow

The Sunday School of Trinity Lutheran Church will hold its annual picnic tomorrow at Minke's on Christie Road.

All members of the Sunday School, Bible School and kindergarten are invited to attend the event. Each member is to bring his or her own lunch and money for swimming.

A bus will leave the church at 1:30 p. m. for those needing transportation.

Family Service Agency Promotes New Dwelling For Parents, 16 Children

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

Shortly before last Christmas, a local businessman discovered the family of Mr. and Mrs. George Hansford in Carpenters Addition, living in extreme poverty.

He was appalled, he said, when he visited a little three-room shack and found it was the home of a husband, wife and 16 children, ranging in ages from about one year to 17. All of them were at home, except the oldest son who had joined the US Marine Corps.

Questioning the family, neighbors and others, he learned that Mr. Hansford was employed in Cumberland as a handyman and painter and earned about $35 a week. This was the sole income of the family.

Walked 10 Miles

Mr. Hansford walked to and from his work, a total distance of about 10 miles a day, because he had no transportation, and it was the only job he could get. Handicapped because of bad eyesight and poor hearing, the job opportunities open to him were limited.

The children, 11 girls and five boys, were attired in clothing given to them by neighbors or area agencies and church groups. However, four of the children had no shoes and were unable to go out in winter weather because they were barefooted.

There was no food in the house except some very thin soup and some dried bread. The remarkable thing, the businessman said, is that all the youngsters seemed to be in fairly good health except for colds.

Heat in the house was from a single old-fashioned and worn out coal stove, the pipe of which went straight through the roof. There was no flu or chimney and this, he claimed represented a distinct fire hazard. The family heated by getting coal from along the tracks of the nearby Western Maryland Railway.

Investigation disclosed that this family was known to existing charitable agencies and had been given emergency help from time to time by Sunday School classes, the American Legion, Salvation Army and Associated Charities.

When it became evident that despite all the excellent work done by the various agencies in the area they could not cope with this whole problem, an effort was made to interest health agencies.

Representatives of the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, including their visiting nurse went to the home, saw the children and talked with the parents. There was no evidence of any rheumatic fever or heart conditions which come within the scope of that health agency.

Nurse Takes Action

However, the visiting nurse made several recommendations which were followed, by the interested volunteers. Emergency food rations were provided and some necessary clothing was obtained. There was a general physical clean up of property and personnel. Arrangements were made to get proper glasses and a hearing aid for the father.

Town officials of Ridgeley were contacted and they became interested, although the family resided beyond the city limits.

An effort was made to obtain public assistance of one form or another, but since the father was employed and employable, this was to no avail.

In the meantime Christmas was just around the corner. The volunteers, who had grown to about 20 interested men and women by that time, saw to it that Santa Claus visited the little home with a gay Christmas tree, toys, goodies and warm clothes.

The youngsters said it was their best Christmas.

But housing remained a major problem.

As it became more and more evident that no existing agency had a program to do a complete job of rehabilitation, the interested citizenry from Ridgeley and

Foundation To Present New Awards

Area teachers, students, schools and other organizations will once again be eligible to win awards offered in the annual $100,000 National and School Awards Program sponsored by Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

The Founadtion president, Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, said the program will include three new categories this year. The first is the Valley Forge Teacher's Medal, designed to honor at least one teacher in each county or city in the United States whose personal record has contributed to the development of sound, capable and courageous citizens. Nominations will be accepted from school administrators, teachers, students and the general public.

Three special school leadership awards for the school systems with the most effectively planned and executed citizenship programs accenting individual responsibility and building a better understanding of the American way of life will be presented in another category.

The third new classification is the Alexander Hamilton awards, designed to honor individuals, organizations, groups and companies for the most outstanding contributions toward bringing about a better understanding of the American competitive free enterprise system.

There have been several Allegany County winners of the Freedoms Foundation awards in past years.

Deadline for the majority of the nominations this year is November 1. Awards will be announced on George Washington's birthday, February 22.

BRT Convention Slated In Baltimore

The Maryland, District of Columbia and Delaware Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and its Ladies Auxiliary will meet September 5 and 6 in the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore.

First day activities include a tour of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Museum and a moonlight cruise on the SS Bay Belle.

Business sessions of both organizations and a joint dinner and dance are scheduled September 6.

Hospital Can't Expand Until Nurses Are Found

An acute shortage of registered nurses at Montebello State Chronic Disease Hospital is responsible for the hospital's inability to admit many patients, Dr. James A. McCallum, superintendent of Chronic Disease Hospitals, said yesterday.

"If we can rapidly recruit 12-15 registered or charge nurses we will be able to make 50 more beds immediately available and within two months another 89 beds could be occupied," he said.

Of the 98 people currently on the waiting list, 30 are eligible for immediate admission and 68 more are medically acceptable but have not received final clearance by the Welfare Department.

Emergency cases are sent to the new Western Maryland Hospital in Hagerstown or to Deer's Head Hospital in Salisbury, Dr. McCallum said. In both these hospitals there are adequate staffs and it is possible to admit urgent patients immediately.

Patients, other than emergency cases, may also be admitted to these hospitals, but most patients prefer Montebello and refuse immediate admission to either of the other two hospitals, since their families and friends are in Baltimore City or nearby areas, he explained.

Montebello is a new and modern hospital soon to have a capacity of 482 beds located on 30 acres near Lake Montebello. It serves as the "hub" of the State's chronic disease hospital facilities.

W.Va. Reduces Mine Fatalities By 50 Per Cent

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Efficient operation of the State Mines Department was cited Monday by Republican State Chairman Daniel Louchery as the reason for a 50 per cent reduction in state mine fatalities during the first six months of this year.

Louchery, praising the work of Mines Director Crawford Wilson, said it was "no accident that this record has been achieved."

He said it was obtained because Wilson worked for and obtained new appropriations for the purchase of equipment to replace that which was 25 years old when he took office a year ago.

"Even a casual study of the progress being made in our Department of Mines under the present director shows that the momentum of increased activity has benefited all our people in the mining industry as well as assuring the taxpayer that he is getting the best possible return on his tax dollar in terms of safety and competent operation," Louchery said.

The chairman said in the six-month period Jan. 1-June 30 only 57 fatalities were recorded compared to 101 during the corresponding period of 1957.

He said this was obtained through new practices put into effect by Wilson, including establishment of laboratories for testing gas and dust at Welch, Fairmont and Oak Hill. Prior to setting up this trio of stations, all testing was done in the mine department's headquarters here.

He said another of Wilson's accomplishments was the reconditioning of the mine rescue trucks used in disaster work and teaching of first aid.

Three Building Permits Issued

Three building permits for construction totaling $12,700 were issued to Allegany County residents yesterday at the Court House. The buildings included a machine shop, apartment and shop, and a dwelling.

Joseph Pollock, RFD 4, Cumberland, obtained a permit to construct a building 18 feet by 36 feet, of concrete block with an aluminum roof to be used as a machine shop. Estimated cost is approximately $1,200.

Dorothy Martin, Grahamtown, Frostburg, received a permit for a 24 feet by 56 feet concrete block and frame building. It will have a composition shingle roof and is to be used as a combination shop and apartment. Estimated cost will be $4,000.

Harry T. Bechner, RFD 3, Keyser, got a permit to build a dwelling, 24 feet by 42 feet, of brick veneer and composition shingle roofing. Its cost will be approximately $7,500.

Binoculars Are Gone

Joseph Mattingly, 14 Fourth Street, told police yesterday that his room was entered over the weekend and a pair of binoculars, valued at $75, taken from a dresser. Police are investigating.

Thruway Job Will Begin Here Soon

Local Firm Gets Go Ahead Notice

Ground will be broken for the Cumberland Thruway within the next 10 days.

The State Roads Commission yesterday gave the Cumberland Contracting Company a notice to proceed with construction of the Industrial Highway, the southerly extension of the big Thruway project.

Earl C. Robertson, secretary-treasurer of the company, reported yesterday that work will begin within 10 days.

Work will begin, he said, in the vicinity of Laing and Virginia avenues in South Cumberland.

Early this year, the local firm submitted the low bid of $779,305.56 for the construction of the first 1.83 mile segment of the Thruway.

The contract begins at the new Evitts Creek Bridge on Route 51 and extends to Crawford Street in Cumberland.

From the Evitts Creek Bridge, the Industrial Highway will proceed by a new route to Vancouver Street in South Cumberland. It splits at that point and proceeds by way of Montreal Avenue-Fifth Street and by Laing Avenue.

Governor McKeldin hailed the approaching start of the Thruway last November when he opened the Martin Mountain project on Route 40.

"I think it is generally admitted that today Cumberland is one of the most difficult and exasperating small cities in the United States to traverse by motor car. Our engineers predict that in a few years it will be one of the easiest."

Flood Tract Report Asked

The Mayor and Council yesterday asked the City Solicitor and City Engineer to investigate and report on a tract of flood control land in Ridgeley sought by private interests and the Town of Ridgeley.

The request for the report came after the reading of an opinion from the Corps of Engineers which said granting of an easement for a filling station and used car lot would not be in conformity with the flood control agreement.

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum said Mayor Charles Fryer has asked that the lot be turned over to the Town of Ridgeley, which would like to beautify it and use it as a little park area. He said Mayor Fryer reported the town was willing to take over maintenance and that the only signs which would be erected would be one with the name of the town and its population.

The spot in question lies along Potomac Street, just south of the big curve. The lot fronts about 195 feet on the street and varies in depth from 30 to 90 feet.

A check of the deed indicates the city has no control over a narrow strip fronting on Potomac Street, but does have an easement on the rest of the lot extending back to the flood levee, and reserved an easement allowing it to repair a 42-inch sewer beneath the tract.

Convention Call Issued

The Maryland Carpenters Council is urging all state locals to send full delegations to the union's international convention which opens November 10 in St. Louis.

Full attendance at the convention was stressed at a meeting Saturday in Salisbury attended by delegates from five Maryland locals.

F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Cumberland Local 1024 and president of the council, pointed out this will be the first convention to have executive and judicial powers.

The extra powers were granted to the convention last year by referendum vote. Prior to the referendum, major decisions had to be submitted to the members in referendums conducted by all locals.

The annual dinner which followed the business session was attended by some 110 members and their wives.

Guests included O. William Blaier, second general vice president; William Johnson, Construction division; James Bailey, Civil Service division, and Theodore O'Keefe, Philadelphia, representing the Pennsylvania council.

Mr. and Mrs. Allender and Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Mullenax attended from the Cumberland local.

House Passes Small Business Tax Relief Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House shouted its approval of a 260 million dollar tax relief bill for small business Monday despite scattered charges that it was inadequate and a "mirage."

The Senate also was expected to approve the legislation. President Eisenhower favors the legislation although he has slammed the door on general tax relief this year.

The small business measure was strongly supported by lawmakers from both parties. It was passed under a procedure barring amendments and requiring a two-thirds majority for passage. Only a few no's were heard.

The only opposition came from lawmakers who protested the bill failed to provide enough relief. But chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) of the House Ways & Means Committee told the House "we can't afford more".

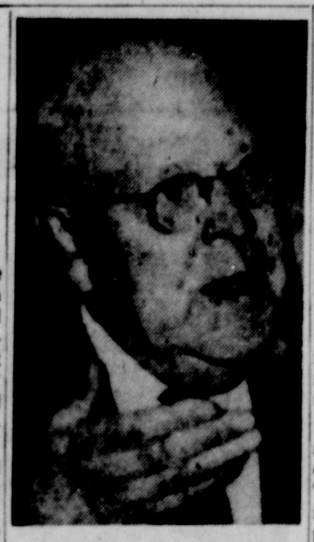
The bill would not provide for any reduction in tax rates. Its chief provision would permit small business firms to reduce their taxable income by deducting an increased percentage of machinery and equipment costs for depreciation in the first year after purchase.

This would free funds for reinvestment or other purposes at an earlier date than is now possible.

The liberalized depreciation allowance would be available to any taxpayer investing in income-producing equipment or machinery. This could include manufacturers, merchants and farmers.

However, it would apply only to the first $10,000 of investment outlays each year or $20,000 in the case of joint tax returns. This is aimed at making the bill of greater value to small business than large corporations.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) objected that the measure was not a small business bill because its benefits would go largely to manufacturers. He said 80 per cent of the nation's small businessmen would get little benefit because they are engaged in trades and services involving little investment in depreciable assets.



CRITICIZES ADAMS — Rosswell M. Austin, retired member of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, gestures as he talks with newsmen outside the hearing room after waiting yesterday to testify before a House Armed Services Subcommittee. The subcommittee is holding a closed-door inquiry into the case. (AP Photofax)

Leathernecks Join Lebanon Army Patrols

BEIRUT (AP) — U.S. Marines joined Lebanese army patrols Monday with the aim of stopping attacks on American planes flying noncombat missions over Lebanon.

Other top developments:

1. The United States was making a strong diplomatic effort to stop the Lebanese civil war through compromise measures.

2. A U.S. Navy spokesman here said American forces in the Mideast have "atomic capability." The Defense Department in Washington later sought to ease the impact of this statement, saying it "can not foresee any circumstances requring the use of atomic weapons" in the current Lebanese situation.

The Leathernecks strove, with patrols of the Lebanese army, to reduce rebel sniper fire on Marine guards at strategic points as well as on planes.

They also took over guard duty at the British Embassy, relieving a Lebanese detail. The patrol action seemed likely to increase the Marines' contact with rebel-held areas.

The Marines sometimes had returned sniper fire in the last few days, but otherwise left counteraction to the Lebanese government's armed forces.

Rifle and machine-gun bullets have nicked 16 American planes since the landings last week. No casualties have resulted. A rebel area is in the path of planes using Beirut's International Airport.

Speaking of the equipment of the American forces, the Navy spokesman reported "all combat units, including ground, air and sea have atomic capability."

The 6,300 Marines brought with them howitzers capable of throwing atomic shells about 11 miles. The Navy spokesman did not specifically say they had atomic warheads, but the implication seemed clear. The 3,100 paratroopers from West Germany also have landed heavy artillery.

In Paris, Soviet sources said there was a possibility Moscow would send troops to adjoining Syria if an emergency summit conference failed to bring a Mideast settlement. These informants said Moscow believes the United States is building up a strong base in Lebanon for an attack on Syria or the Nasser-allied regime in Iraq.

"If the situation is not regulated, there is every possibility the United Arab Republic (headed by Nasser) will ask us to station troops in Syria, and we will," the Soviet sources said.

The news in Washington, London and Paris, however, was that the Western powers were refusing to be rushed into the summit talks proposed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. They believed the problem should be fully dealt with in the United Nations first.

To counter Soviet charges of American aggressive aims here, U. S. planes began a leaflet-dropping campaign. A million leaflets in Arabic were dropped from one end of Lebanon to the other Monday telling the people American forces would leave as soon as the United Nations has taken measures assuring the independence of Lebanon. The leaflets carried pictures of President Eisenhower.

Allies Shun Kremlin Boss' Summit Bid

Note Will Suggest Charges Be Aired Before U.N. Council

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western allies drafted a note to Soviet Premier Khrushchev Monday challenging him to complain to the United Nations Security Council if he believes Anglo-American military action endangers international peace.

This was understood to be their joint answer to Khrushchev's dramatic bid for an immediate Big Five summit conference to consider the Middle East crisis.

The main line of the American-British - French answer became known after President Eisenhower had met for 55 minutes with Secretary of State Dulles. This was toward the end of a day of intense allied diplomatic activity.

The American - British - French answer to Khrushchev was reported designed to avoid any specific proposal for a summit-level meeting even within the United Nations.

It ruled out any thought of an immediate heads - of - government parley in Geneva Tuesday as Khrushchev had proposed.

Two Main Points

Instead, the Western allies were reported hammering hard at these two main points:

1. The United Nations Security Council already is considering the problem of American troops in Lebanon. Any country on this 11-nation group has the right to ask the Council to enlarge its work to consider other matters if it believes a grave danger to world peace exists.

This could be viewed as a challenge for Khrushchev to present such accusations personally since governments can be represented at the U.N. by leaders of even the highest rank.

2. The three Western governments are ready and willing to resume confidential talks with Moscow to prepare for an over-all summit conference on the great world issues.

Such a broad summit parley could include Middle East problems if East - West diplomats agreed to this as part of their preparatory spadework.

The State Department agreed with the British and French Foreign Offices on the main outline of the parallel, but not identical, answers to be sent to Moscow, perhaps Tuesday.

Council Duties Noted

The draft of the American answer was understood to note that the Security Council under Article 24 is specifically charged with maintaining international peace and security. Further, the Council also is responsible for determining a threat to world peace.

Just noting these Security Council duties amounts to challenging Khrushchev to back up his charges that British-American forces are guilty of aggression by their troop landings in the Middle East.

Khrushchev gravely called the landings a threat to world peace in explaining why he wants an immediate summit conference.

Diplomatic spadework to prepare for a summit conference collapsed temporarily, at least, in Moscow nearly two months ago with neither side able to agree on a suitable agenda. The United States particularly has insisted that such a meeting be carefully prepared in advance to assure its success.

Sobolev Says Compromise Unacceptable

Special Session Of U.N. Assembly Is Foreshadowed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union assailed as unacceptable Monday night a Middle East compromise aimed both at safeguarding Lebanon's independence and making it possible for U.S. Marines to withdraw.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev strongly indicated in a speech to the Security Council his country would veto the compromise plan advanced by Japan and endorsed by a majority of the Council, including the United States and Britain.

Outside the Council he refused to say flatly whether he would cast the Soviet Union's 85th Council veto. The veto would leave the Council helpless to cope with the explosive Middle East crisis. In that event a special session of the full 81-nation General Assembly was expected.

The Council adjourned at 7:12 p.m. (EDT) until 10:30 a.m. Tuesday without taking a vote. The action was suggested by Lebanon. It wanted additional time to consult with Beirut on the Japanese resolution.

Plan Gives Dag Authority

The Japanese resolution gives Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold full authority to strengthen the present U.N. observer group in Lebanon in whatever way he deems necessary to protect that country's independence.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared the United States believes the resolution "represents the indispensable minimum action which the United Nations should take in Lebanon at this time."

"It could lead to conditions which would make possible the withdrawal of United States forces from Lebanon," he added.

Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain endorsed the resolution as a "praiseworthy attempt" to salvage something out of the situation. He offered also to explore with Hammarskjold steps to create conditions in Jordan that would permit withdrawal of British troops.

Sobolev urged the Council to give prime consideration to the call by Soviet Premier Khrushchev for a summit conference on the Middle East.

"In our opinion it is not too late to put out the fire of war, and this meeting is one of the measures for doing this," he said. "It is urgent to have it."

Sobolev's Argument

He said the summit meeting contemplates a settlement within the framework of the United Nations "because from the very beginning the participation of the secretary general is contemplated."

The United States and Britain take the position that the summit proposal bypasses the U.N., even though Hammarskjold is invited to attend.

Sobolev said a special Assembly session must deal with the situation if the Council cannot take action. Both the United States and the Soviet Union have resolutions before the Council asking for an emergency session but for divergent reasons.

The Soviet Union wants the Assembly to take up "the intervention of the United States and Britain in Lebanon and Jordan." The United States puts emphasis on the protection of Lebanon from indirect aggression by President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Hammarskjold told the Council an expanded observer group would enable the United Nations to carry out its responsibilities in Jordan.

"I hope this will equally be recognized by the parties concerned, thus providing for the early withdrawal of United States forces from Lebanon," he added.

92 Americans Who Fled Iraq Arrive In Rome

ROME (UPI)—The first planeload of Americans evacuated from Iraq arrived here Monday night: 2 men, 36 women, 54 children and 1 dachshund.

The men and women apparently were under orders from the State Department to say nothing about conditions in the Middle East country seized in a rebel coup July 14. But some of them did say Baghdad was serene and quiet.

The passengers looked somewhat tired, but appeared in good spirits. Their plane had stopped briefly at Ankara en route from Baghdad to Rome. About a dozen of the women were pregnant.

Maj. Robert Kilby, the flight project officer, read a formal statement saying that the flight was made "with the help of present authorities in Iraq."

"The move was prompted by unsettled conditions in the area," the statement said.

U. S. authorities in Rome estimated that 1,500 Americans would be evacuated from Iraq.

Kilby refused to say whether the passengers were under orders not to speak about the situation in Iraq.

The U. S. Embassy provided lodgings for the evacuees.

Trujillo Makes Marriage Plans

ENSENADA, Mexico (UPI) — Playboy Gen. Rafael Trujillo Monday made plans to marry actress Lita Milan, as soon as he produces legal proof of divorce from his first wife.

Ensenada Justice of the Peace Miguel Torres said the free-spending general and the Latin-looking actress were in his office Sunday night to ask for information about performing the ceremony.

Torres told the couple this was impossible unless he had proof of divorce. Trujillo was reported to have recently secured a Mexican divorce from his Dominican Republic wife—the mother of his six children.

Canada In Favor Of Summit Talks

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada hopes for a summit meeting on the Mideast as soon as possible, and meantime expects all concerned to maintain the status quo.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker voiced this view in Parliament Monday. He disclosed Canada had urged Britain, the United States and India to make a "positive and immediate response" to Premier Khrushchev's bid for a five-power meeting.

Sen. Proxmire Goes To Bat For Fair Trade Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William H. Proxmire (D-Wis.) urged Congress Monday to head off "jungle warfare" among American retailers by approving "fair trade" legislation permitting manufacturers to set minimum retail prices.

Proxmire appeared before a special Senate commerce subcommittee in behalf of a bill introduced by him and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

The Wisconsin senator said small businessmen are a "prime victim of the recession" and it is "time Congress did something about" fair trade laws.

A sharp dissent was issued by Charles F. Fort, president of Food Town Ethical Pharmacies, Inc., Baton Rouge, La. Fort said his stores would refuse to sell at prices "dictated by price-fixing manufacturers" until "every legal recourse had been exhausted."

He said the bill woud raise prices by 10 to 30 per cent in all "low-price high-volume retail type stores" and would be "harmful" to small business and consumers.

Supporting the bill was Maurice Mermey, director of the Bureau of Education on Fair Trade, New York City. He said the retailer who "demands the right" to set his own prices on brand products is "demanding a life and death warrant" over any merchandise he wants to "exploit."

He said nationally advertised cut-rate prices on name products "assassinates the character" of local retailers and leads to "chaos" in the retail market.

Mermey said 16 state supreme courts have found state fair trade laws constitutional but that 14 others have found it "fashionable to . . . find them unconstitutional." These states, he said, have "left holes in the market" which Congress should plug.

Second Man Seized In Fire-Bombing

BALTIMORE (AP) — A second man wanted in connection with the fire-bombing of a truck last month was arrested by Northeastern District police Monday.

Police Capt. Millard Horton said 30-year-old Alfred S. Lloyd of Baltimore was charged with malicious burning and auto larceny. Lloyd probably will be arraigned Tuesday on the auto charge, he said, then be turned over to Baltimore County authorities.

Charged earlier with malicious burning was Francis W. Jones, 28, also of Baltimore. He is under police guard at South Baltimore General Hospital, recovering from serious burns.

Police said Jones was caught in a flareback last June 25 when gasoline was hurled into the cab of a furniture truck parked in the Rodgers Forge section just north of the Baltimore limits.

Budget Deficit For Fiscal 1958 Nearly 3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary reports Monday showed the national budget was in the red $2,813,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year last June 30.

The deficit was more than five times greater than that predicted by President Eisenhower last January, and was blamed largely on the recession slump in individual and business earnings.

The figure was based on preliminary reports still subject to revision, according to a joint announcement by Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and Budget Director Maurice H. Stans.

Officials are estimating a budget deficit of 10 to 12 billion dollars for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The deficit came after two fiscal years in which government budget books were in the black.

Eisenhower had predicted in January the deficit for the 1958 fiscal year, which ended June 30, would be only 400 million dollars.

Receipts for the fiscal year were $69,083,000,000, almost two billion dollars lower than fiscal 1957. Budget spending during the year was $71,900,000,000, an increase of 2½ billion dollars over fiscal 1957.

Post-Sputnik emphasis on defense, recession programs and later outlays under the farm price support program boosted spending.

The outlook for the new fiscal year is for revenues remaining near the fiscal 1958 levels while spending soars.

The federal budget showed a surplus of $1,600,000,000 in both the 1956 and 1957 fiscal years.

Anderson and Stans made no comment on the budget situation, merely reporting the figures.

Eisenhower's January estimate of receipts predicted revenues, taxes and other income would be $72,400,000,000. The actual total was $3,317,000,000 lower. All broad revenue categories netted less than he estimated.

Algeria Rebels Bomb Theater, Killing Five

ALGIERS (UPI) — French military headquarters disclosed Monday that five persons were killed and 37 others wounded when rebels exploded a hand grenade in a crowded open-air movie theater near Oran.

Officials report that many of the injured were children.

The announcement said the explosion occurred Friday night at Saint Denis du Sig, 30 miles east of Oran. News of the bombing was held up by military authorities until Monday.

On the military front, meanwhile, more French army reinforcements, newly - arrived from Tunisia and Morocco, were moving into combat zones across Algeria to firm up French defenses against Moslem rebel bands.

Adams Is Defended By Commerce Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sherman Adams was criticized Monday for intervening in a government contract dispute last year. He was also defended from another quarter as a man of integrity.

The defense of President Eisenhower's right-hand man came from Secretary of Commerce Weeks. Weeks was the third Cabinet member to speak for Adams since the Goldfine probe hit the front pages.

Adams, Weeks said, has acknowledged an error in judgment in his relations with an old friend, Bernard Goldfine, the Boston textile magnate.

"For that mistake—and where is the man who never makes a mistake?—he has been whip-lashed more brutally than any man in public life in our generation," Weeks said in a statement.

A short time earlier, Roswell M. Austin said he thought Adams acted improperly when he made an inquiry about a case handled by the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals late in 1957.

But Austin, a retired member of the board, added that neither Adams nor an unidentified member of Congress who also interested himself in the case swayed the board in any way.

The White House has said Adams merely relayed inquiries and replies about the case, involving the now defunct Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., of Manchester, N.H.

Weeks said that from years of close association "I know Sherman Adams to be a man of integrity."

"He has been unfairly treated before a congressional committee and cruelly smeared by vindictive hatemongers."

It was understood that Weeks intended to attach the hatemonger label only on unfriendly witnesses who testified against Goldfine and Adams rather than to members of the committee. Adams has acknowledged accepting expensive favors from Goldfine but has denied that Goldfine got special treatment from government agencies in return.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of the Interior Seaton also have defended Adams in the face of demands that he resign.

Late last year the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals cut to $8,500 a $49,784 wartime penalty assessed against Raylaine Worsteds for late delivery of Army uniform serge. A request for a $25,000 refund had been denied earlier.

Austin told reporters Adams and the congressman acted to resurrect the case.

Strike Halts Atom Projects

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Work on two projects at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site was halted Monday, due to a strike by guards.

The projects are construction work on test facilities for an atomic rocket engine, and construction work for a series of nuclear test blasts planned for next winter.

Construction halted when site workers observed picket lines thrown up by the guards at all three test site entrances.

The guards, 105 strong, walked out Sunday, climaxing a wage dispute. Their union is an independent one, but members of craft unions representing 500 test site workers observed the picket line. Officials of the craft union said the workers were acting as individuals.

The Independent Guard Assn. of Nevada is asking a 17.5 cents an hour wage hike plus 2.4 cents in fringe benefits.

Russia Protests Airlift Of Troops Over Austria

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union protested Monday against the airlift of American troops over Austria.

The protest was timed to coincide with the arrival of Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab in Moscow for a week-long visit aimed at getting the Soviets to lighten his country's heavy reparations load.

Austria, neutral by treaty but pro-Western by popular sentiment, said Saturday it obtained U.S. assurance there would be no further unauthorized flights over Austrian territory. The United States said the decision to send troops from Germany to Turkey was made too hastily to win formal clearance for the flights over Austria.

The formal Soviet protest was given to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson at 12:30 p.m. Moscow time and announced over Moscow radio less than four hours later.

About the same time, the Soviets handed Thompson a reply to the U.S. protest against the shooting down of a U.S. Air Force plane in Soviet Armenia. The contents of this note were not immediately known.

The Soviet protest said the U.S. airlift of troops to the Middle East violated Austrian air space and the Austrian peace treaty. The Kremlin asked for an immediate halt to the flights.

Nasser Back In Cairo For Address Today

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—President Nasser returned home Monday after a week which brought his Arab nationalist movement great gains in the turbulent Middle East.

He conferred immediately with aides and made preparations for a speech which will highlight celebration Tuesday of the sixth anniversary of the Egyptian revolution.

The traditional military parades and big civilian festivities have been eliminated from the holiday program due to the Mideast emergency, leaving the stage entirely to Nasser. About a quarter of a million people are expected to hear his speech.

Syrians, Egyptians Caught In Squeeze

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Developments in the past 24 hours here left observers with the impression the Syrians and Egyptians are caught in a difficult squeeze of their own regarding their intentions toward Jordan.

As of this moment, the government seems to have the situation fairly under control. There is no reason to believe subversive forces intend to remain inactive for long.

The squeeze has developed this way:

The Syrians and Egyptians do not want to invite U.S. military intervention here. Already there are 2,000 British parachute troops on hand. Any really violent manifestation here might immediately invite the Americans to come in; King Hussein has stated he expects American help.

The Egyptians and Syrians are in danger of losing the momentum of the movement generated by the revolution in Iraq. They may think it perilous to stand still with regard to this country.

Thinking people appear to realize the world war potentialities in the Mideast situation but the trouble here is that those responsible for violence are not given to thinking.

The calm of Amman is not often broken. When it is, efficient government forces know what to do about it.

The impression persists that the Syrians and Egyptians are marking time, waiting for the Iraqi situation to jell and be digested. This may give this little country sufficient breathing space to prepare for the next attempts on its sovereignty.

It is extremely difficult to discuss the situation from here for the usual reasons attendant upon recurrent crises in Mideast countries. But this much seems certain—this particular crisis is going to be long and deep, for this whole Mideast area.

The announcement of the visit of Sheik Sir Abdullah As Sabbah of Kuwaitt to Damascus to confer with President Nasser has ominous overtones.

It is most likely Sheik Abdullah has been badly shaken by events in the north. Inside his country, which I visited a month ago, Nasser's propaganda has been powerful. The activities of Nasser supporters have been bearing fruit in internal ferment. Kuwaitis are outnumbered in their own country by people in the Mideastern states who imported the ferment and passed it on to Kuwaiti youth.

Abdullah probably is attempting to plumb Nasser's ultimate intentions toward his country with the knowledge the Egyptians still are eager to gain control of the major oil producing areas.

Crisis Caused Operation Alert News Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Middle East crisis resulted in a news blackout on Operation Alert 1958, last week's government wide civil mobilization test.

Officials disclosed Monday the blackout was imposed to avoid possible panic arising from public confusion between the drill and the real crisis in Lebanon, Jordan and Iraq.

Director Leo A. Hoegh of the Office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization ordered the ban on information, an ODCM spokesman said, shortly after President Eisenhower dispatched U.S. Marines to Lebanon last Tuesday.

Eisenhower's action came just as 4,500 key federal workers in about 40 departments and agencies were leaving Washington for secret relocation sites for a three-day test of government operations under simulated wartime conditions.

"We didn't want anyone to get the impression that the government was mobilizing in its relocation sites because of the international situation," said the ODCM spokesman, Harvey Mott.

Hassle Delays Opening Of Va. 'Model' School

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — School bells didn't ring as scheduled Monday for opening classes at a model private school sponsored by an Arlington County segregationist group.

More than 40 students were registered but classes were postponed indefinitely — until a hassle with county authorities is cleared up.

Jack Rathbone, acting secretary of the 10th District Educational Corp., talked with reporters who came to observe opening day.

The corporation's board of directors, he said, didn't want to subject students and teachers to the "harassing confusion" of county inspectors "swarming over the premises."

County officials say the private school must conform to county regulations. William H. Kennedy, zoning administrator, said inspectors will visit the two-story building Tuesday. He said there will be health, fire, electrical, plumbing, building and zoning inspectors as well as a child care official.

Rathbone said a state law exempts private schools from complying with all regulations for public schools. He said he was ready to repel inspectors "if they insist we comply with all county regulations."

Baghdad Hotel Raid Described By Newsman

By STAN CARTER

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Just a month after one of the plushest hotels in the Mideast opened, soldiers took away 11 of its guests. Four were beaten to death by a mob. Three barely escaped with their lives. The fate of the four others—all Jordanians—is still not known.

The dead included three Americans:

Eugene Burns, Sausalito, Calif.
George Colley, San Francisco.
Robert Alcock, Altadena, Calif.

A German, Heinrich Stempel of Grevenbroich, Germany, was the fourth killed.

All the victims but the four unaccounted for apparently were seized on the whim of the soldiers. The soldiers did not physically mistreat them and even made a half-hearted effort to save them from the mob.

The army officers who staged last Monday's revolution issued orders to protect foreigners. In mob demonstrations that followed the army's takeover, the British Embassy and the British Information Service and consulate were sacked.

Retired British Col. P. L. Graham, comptroller of the household of the embassy, was shot dead on the embassy steps. There were no demonstrations against other embassies.

The 90 guests of the Baghdad Hotel when the soldiers arrived at 9:15 a.m. on Monday were all foreigners. The hotel with its 200 rooms and 200 baths is said to be the most luxurious—and most expensive—in this part of the world.

The soldiers, accompanied by two men dressed in open white shirts and slacks, rolled up in a sand-colored desert patrol car and a black limousine. Their aim apparently was to get four Jordan ministers of the Arab Federation of Iraq and Jordan; these were the four hotel guests whose fate is unknown.

The soldiers and plainclothesmen deployed around the entrance to the hotel and the hotel garage and forced taxi drivers, bellhops and doormen to raise their hands and stand against a wall. All were searched.

The officer in command entered the lobby with two enlisted men and directed the staff and several of the guests there to put up their hands and join the group outside.

The soldiers ripped out telephones and ransacked the desk in the office of the Swiss hotel manager. The manager was forced at gunpoint to take the officer and two men to the rooms occupied by the Jordanian ministers. The first, second and third rooms were empty but they found the ministers in the fourth room.

The Jordanians were marched through the lobby and into the limousine.

Room numbers of foreigners were demanded and the soldiers began rounding them up.

One hotel guest who had been watching the events from his screened balcony over the entrance heard soldiers in the corridor outside. He locked the door, turned out the lights and did not answer when the soldiers pounded on the door. They went away.

Downstairs two Britons were loaded into a hotel station wagon taken over by the soldiers. They asked and got permission to go back into the hotel for a drink of water. Inside, they mingled with the hotel staff and escaped.

Mrs. L. J. Killian, formerly of San Francisco, was shoved toward the cars. She told a young Iraqi officer she had a baby upstairs who needed her and was permitted to go back to the lobby. There was no baby.

Mrs. Killian's husband, who has been stationed in Saudi Arabia 10 years, is a vice president of the Bechtel Co. of San Francisco. He was one of the many guests missed in the search of rooms.

SAFELY HOME — Two Catholic priests, Father Cyril Wagner (left) and Rev. Joseph P. McCormack, returned to the U. S. yesterday after long years of imprisonment by the Communists in Red China. They arrived in San Francisco by plane from Hawaii and Father Wagner left immediately for Pittsburgh, Pa. Both showed effects of their long confinement in Chinese prisons. (AP Photofax)

Priests Freed By Chinese Return To U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Father Joseph P. McCormack arrived here Monday after five years' imprisonment by the Red Chinese.

McCormack, 65, of New York City and Ireland, was accompanied by Father Cyril Wagner, 51, of Pittsburgh, who was a fellow prisoner. Wagner was suffering from asthma and fatigue and said nothing to the press.

McCormack said much of his imprisonment was in a cell six feet by four and one-half which he shared with four other prisoners.

Guards kept lights shining on the prisoners, he said. Because they were not allowed to move their lips, they communicated by writing symbols on the cell's dirt floor, McCormack said.

It was the first time since he was released at Hong Kong that McCormack told of his treatment.

"There is a skull in China of a Chinese Catholic priest with a bullet hole in it as proof of what they do," he said. "I know also that they beat five Chinese Catholics to death."

He said he was not accused of being a spy but of being "a tool of what they called imperialists."

McCormack told reporters, "We are so glad to be back we can hardly talk."

Wagner was met by several friends and his brother, Father Anthony Wagner of Teutopolis, Ill.

Smart Thieves Trick Firemen Out Of $2,400

NEW YORK (AP)—A pair of smart thieves tricked a fire department rescue squad out of $2,400.

While the squad was accompanying an engine company to a fire, someone broke into a locker at the fire station and stole the squad's Christmas and welfare fund.

The blaze was minor—some wooden crates in a market stall at the remotest part of the firemen's territory.

Police theorized that one man set the fire and another stole the money after the firemen had responded to the alarm.

Naval Academy Head Slated For Promotion

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Capt. Frederick L. Ashworth, the new commandant of midshipmen at the U. S. Naval Academy, has been selected for promotion to rear admiral.

He assumed his new duties here last Thursday, and his selection for promotion was announced by the Secretary of the Navy on Friday.

Two Killed, Nine Hurt In Four-Car Smashup

WOODBRIDGE, Va. (AP)—Two persons were killed and nine more injured early Monday in a four-car collision on Route 1 south of the Shirley Highway intersection in Fairfax County.

Dead on arrival at Alexandria Hospital were Danny Williams, 25, a Washington, D. C., tailor's assistant, and Marine Cpl. Kenneth A. Smith, a 20-year-old clerk typist from Derby, N. Y., stationed at Quantico.

Five other Quantico Marines were admitted to the Ft. Belvoir Army Hospital. Also injured were George Jordan, 40, of Washington, and his two sons, James R., 19, and Robert, 17.

Also admitted to Alexandria Hospital was George Sellmon, 23, of Washington, suffering from face injuries.

State Trooper J. L. Powell said the Marines were southbound on Route 1 when their auto collided with a north-bound one driven by James Jordan.

A third car, driven by Ashby Mills Jr. of Arlington, stopped to give first aid to victims of the accident, Powell said, and was in turn struck by a sports car driven by Ella Poindexter of Woodbridge. No passengers in the Mills or Poindexter cars were injured, Powell said.

May Go To Mideast

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — The 1st Marine Division Monday was being held ready for a possible move to the Middle East, officers said.

All but emergency leaves have been canceled for the division's 17,000 men. Men now on 30-day leaves will not be called back, however, unless orders to move are received.

Joke That Backfired Blamed For Drowning Of Man, Wife

By The Associated Press

A joke which backfired and touched off panic was blamed Monday for the apparent drowning of a Baltimore couple—object of an extensive Coast Guard search on the Chesapeake Bay.

Four other persons were drowned, two killed on the highways and one died of injuries suffered earlier for a total of nine accidental deaths in Maryland over the weekend.

The Coast Guard was dragging the bay near the mouth of the Magothy River for the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hammonds of Baltimore.

Kermit Fortney of Baltimore reported the couple may have drowned near the Baltimore Lighthouse Sunday night. He told this story:

Fortney and his wife went out in an 18-foot motorboat with the Hammonds. About 9:30 Sunday night, the motor ran out of gasoline.

The two men, according to Fortney, decided to have a little "fun" with their wives and told the women there was no more gas, that they were stranded. Actually, Fortney said, he had two gallons of gas in an emergency can.

When the women were told they were stranded, Mrs. Hammonds became excited and jumped overboard. Fortney said Hammond jumped into the choppy water to rescue his wife.

In the time it took Fortney to pour the extra gasoline into the outboard motor and get it started, the Hammonds had disappeared from sight, he said.

Fortney added that he used up the emergency supply of gas crusing around the spot, looking for the Hammonds. Then he and his wife—really out of gas this time—drifted with the wind and waves overnight until they were spotted off the Magothy River Monday morning and were taken in tow. Fortney immediately notified police and the search for the Hammonds began.

Week end traffic victims were:

William F. Matthews, 25, Negro, Washington, killed Sunday night when he lost control of his car while trying to pass another vehicle on Maryland 258 at McKenzie, Anne Arundel County.

Mrs. Nora Wachter, 79, RFD 1, Monrovia, fatally injured Sunday in a two-car collision which injured three other persons on U.S. 40 near Mount Airy.

Three men drowned in Chesapeake Bay Saturday when their 15-foot outboard motorboat capsized. They were Daniel H. Norris, 56, and Robert R. Torney, 79, Negroes, of Baltimore, and Samuel Shoulders, 56, Negro, also of Baltimore, whose body was not recovered.

Also drowned was John Hammonds, 44, Negro, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who toppled into the Wicomico River at Salisbury while fishing Sunday.

Clarence W. Foutz, 14, died in Mercy Hospital in Baltimore Sunday of injuries suffered May 30 when he fell from a bridge onto high tension wires of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

NOMINATED—Miss Bertha Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, poses after President Eisenhower yesterday nominated her to be undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Miss Adkins is a native of Salisbury, Md. (AP Photofax)

Noted Dentist's Rites Thursday

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be here Thursday for Dr. Earl Wildes Swinehart, 82-year-old former president of the American College of Dentists. He died Sunday on a vacation trip in Ohio.

Dr. Swinehart practiced dentistry in Baltimore more than 40 years. He was inventor of orthodontic instruments used the world over and author of numerous scientific papers.

About 20 years ago, he gained national prominence when he published his findings of a five-year study on the effect of thumb sucking on infants.

A former president of the Maryland State Dental Assn. and the Washington-Baltimore Society of Orthodontists, Dr. Swinehart at one time taught at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, now the University of Maryland Dental School.

A native of Adelphi, Ohio, he moved to Baltimore in 1914 to begin practice.

His wife, the former Grace Ruth Riegel, died in 1945. Survivors include a son, Dr. D. Robert Swinehart, and three sisters, Mrs. Flora R. White and Mrs. H. G. MacFarren, both of Adelphia, and Mrs. Horace N. Curtis of Dayton, Ohio.

Bertha Adkins Named To Health, Education Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Miss Bertha S. Adkins, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, was nominated Monday to be undersecretary of health, education and welfare.

President Eisenhower asked the Senate to confirm her to succeed John A. Perkins, who resigned March 1.

Miss Adkins, 51, has long been active in Republican politics. A resident of Salisbury, Md., she has been GOP national committeewoman from Maryland since 1948. She has been assistant chairman since 1953 as welf as head of the National Committee's Women's Division.

From 1934 to 1942, Miss Adkins was dean of women at Western Maryland College. From 1942 to 1946 she was dean of residents at Bradford (Mass.) Junior College.

Miss Adkins was graduated from Wellesley College in 1928 and received a master's degree from Columbia University in 1943.

The President also nominated for re-appointment Russell E. Atkinson of Pitman, N.J., to be comptroller of customs at Philadelphia.

Ex-Convict, 26, Held In Slaying Of Young Bride

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Clayton Edward Breeding, a 26-year-old ex-convict, was returned here by State Police Monday to face charges of murdering a young Eastern Shore bride three weeks ago.

He was arrested at 1:44 a.m. Monday at Newark, Del., ending a manhunt which began when the body of Mrs. Ruth Ellen Cannon, 19, was found in the woods near her Burrsville, Md. home.

Breeding was taken into custody by two Newark patrolmen when he tried to flee from the Veterans of Foreign Wars club in that town. Police had responded to a burglar alarm which had been set off in the building.

The patrolmen said he tried to flee from the scene, but two warning shots brought him to a halt.

Breeding waived extradition and was brought here on a warrant charging him with the murder of the red-haired, pregnant woman. She had suffered a fractured skull and a bruise over the left eye. The cause of death, however, was given as strangulation.

The medical examiner who performed the autopsy said there was no indication of sexual attack. When found she was wearing shorts and a blouse.

She was last seen June 28 by her husband, John S. Cannon, a maintenance man for a Burrsville food processing company. He told police he went home for lunch that day and when he returned at 5 p.m. she was gone.

Police said Breeding told him he had been hiding in a cornfield on the farm of the University of Delaware near Newark.

Police Chief William Cunningham said "he was very dirty." The prisoner related he had been living on fruit and had been milking cows on the farm to get food.

Maryland and Delaware State Police, the FBI, county officers, volunteers and a Navy helicopter had searched the area near the Maryland - Delaware border for Breeding. A 13-state police alarm also had been out for the man.

Police said Breeding has a police record dating back to 1950, including convictions for grand larceny, robbery and assault.

He was released from the Patuxent, Md. Institution while under observation in 1956 against the recommendation of psychiatrists. They said he was emotionally unstable and would get into trouble at any time.

Cock fighting, introduced from the East, became popular in the late Roman empire and remained so in Europe and England until recent times.

Oyster's Foes Succumbing To Science

BALTIMORE (AP) — Scientists are working on several fronts to lick the enemies of the oyster, a Department of Interior official said Monday.

"It looks like a bright future for the oyster economy because we already have launched the kind of a partnership effort which is necessary," said Ross Leffler, assistant secretary.

He spoke at the opening of a four-day convention here of the Oyster Growers and Dealers Assn. of North America Inc.

One problem Leffler mentioned is the starfish, which grabs the oyster, octopus style, and forces it open for a tasty meal. He said funds asked in Congress would further research with selective chemicals to do away with the starfish.

The menace is particularly bad in beds off New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, Leffler said.

He also mentioned the method found effective in preliminary tests in some Chesapeake Bay Waters, where a copper screen offensive of the oyster drill is used to surround oyster beds. It serves as a poison to the drill.

The oyster industry is also pushing artificial propagation of seed oysters in studies at the Shellfish Laboratory at Milford, Conn.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Steel production this week is slated to rise to 1,540,000 net tons, or 57.1 per cent of capacity, for the third consecutive weekly advance, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported Monday.

Production a week ago amounted to 1,481,000 tons, or 54.9 per cent of the 1958 rated capacity of 140,742,570 tons.

"Diene" Rubber

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. has added a new man-made rubber to its list of synthetic products.

President Raymond C. Firestone said that when used in tests of truck tires, the new "diene" rubber improved the crack - resistance, and held its running temperature at a satisfactory level.

Historical Society Group Plans Auction, Tours

The antique auction, opening of Historical House at regular intervals and the annual exhibition were discussed at the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Allegany County Historical Society, Inc., which was held Thursday evening at the Historical House, 218 Washington Street. Miss Ruth A. Clauson presided.

It was decided, in discussing the antique auction to be held August 16, that in the event of rain the auction would be held inside Historical House, instead o. at the stable, in the rear of the property, as at present scheduled.

A plan was adopted whereby one final effort by mail will be made to collect the dues of members in arrears. Those who do not respond to this final contact will be dropped from the society's rolls.

Other matters under discussion by the trustees included opening of Historical House to the public at regular intervals; beautification of the grounds, heating of the house; sustaining memberships; and plans for the annual Historical Exhibition to be held in October.

Trustees present were Mrs. F. brooke Whiting, Mrs. William L. Wilson, Jr., Mrs. John A. Findlay, Mrs. A. N. Golladay, Mrs. Walter C. Capper and Louis B. Young.

W. Md. OES To Entertain

The Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a dinner for their families and friends at St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage, Thursday evening. It will begin at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Genieve Wyant, president; Herbert Schlotterbeck, vice president; Mrs. Schlotterbeck, secretary; Mrs. Edna Zeigler, treasurer; and Mrs. Marie Hartsock, secretary of the Central Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Hagerstown, will attend.

Following the dinner, cards and games will be played, under the direction of Mrs. Mary C. Davis, chairman; Mrs. Virginia Geary, Mrs. Sara Barringe, Mrs. Dorothy Ringler and Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman.

Victory Santha 30, Nomads of Avrudaka will meet at 8 tonight in Junior Order hall.

NFMC Is Sponsoring Programs

Following the series of summer weekends and midweeks of the National Federation of Music Clubs, which began at Chautauqua, N. Y., and Aspen Institute, Aspen, Colo., similar functions are being held at Inspiration Point Fine Arts Colony, Eureka Springs, Ark., tomorrow through Friday. Transylvania Music Camp, Brevard, N. C., will be July 25-26; the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Michigan, August 1, 2 and 3; the Peninsula Music Festival, Fish Creek, Wisconsin, August 15, 16 and 17; and Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va., August 27 and 28. The national president, Mrs. Ronald A. Dougan of Beloit, Wis., or some other national officer appointed as her representative, will attend all these events.

A Mid-Week at Inspiration Point, July 23, 25, will open the program with coffee at Stone Castle, at 9 a. m., July 23, followed by a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Colony. During their stay the Federation delegates will see at least two opera performances and a rehearsal. One of the operas will be either "Shanewis" or "The Witch of Salem", operas by Charles Wakefield Cadman which are being presented during Inspiration Point's six-week season as a part of a Cadman Festival. The other operatic performance will be of "I Pagliacci". A luncheon, for which the Eureka Springs Music Club will be hostess, and a banquet, also a symphony concert, are on the agenda.

The Transylvania week-end, July 24-26 has a tea, buffet supper and informal reception at Brevard College, a tour of Transylvania Music Camp and a banquet at the camp among the events scheduled. The Federation group will also attend a concert given by the Transylvania Symphony Orchestra at which the soloist will be Martha Deatherage, lyric soprano, a 1957 Federation Young Artist voice winner.

Of special significance will be the dedication of two practice cabins given to the camp by the Maryland and Alabama Federations, and also of the Hinda Honigman Library which was erected by the State Federation of the Southeastern Region in honor of Mrs. Maurice Honigman, former Southeastern Regional Vice President, now Chairman of the Fed-

Miniature Schnauzer Takes Best In Jr. Show

Harvey Ware awarded "Freddie" a miniature schnauzer, owned and handled by Thomas Kenny, best in the show of six groups at the Junior Kennel Club All Breed Sanction Match, Sunday at the North Cumberland Playground. It received three ribbons, best of breed, group ribbon and best of show, besides a silver plated trophy for best of show.

Ribbons and trophies were awarded in the six groups.

Judged by Philip Carolan, a cocker spaniel, "Marmeks Master of Pompey,," known as Amber, owned by Carol K. May and handled by David Winters, was awarded best in the sporting group.

In the hound group, Robert Berniece was the judge. A 13-inch beegle, "Blenda Lou", owned and handled by Betty Jane Wilhelm, was the winner.

The working group was judged by Earl Smith. The winner was a doberman pinscher, "Carolan Sheba" owned and handled by Mildred Derlan.

In the terrier group, judged by Mr. Ware, "Freddie" the miniature schnauzer, owned and handled by Thomas Kenny, won.

Clifton Jeffries judged the toy group. A pomeranian, "White Tippy-Toe" owned by Mrs. Alice Winegold and handled by Sally Myers was the winner.

The non-sporting group was judged by Mrs. Harold Meek. A standard poodle named "Christopher" owned and handled by Louis Hensel, Jr., of Bedford, was the winner.

The best puppy in the match was a Boston terrier, "Evening Star." It is owned and handled by John Marshall.

Most of the dogs shown Sunday will appear again in the fifth annual All-Breed Show of the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club, to be held September 6 at the National Guard Armory in Frostburg.

The Junior Kennel Club is planning to hold another show later in the fall. The regular meeting will be August 2, at the Police Boys Club room.

Former Academy Teacher To Work With Apaches

Mrs. Helen Begley Nixon, a member of the faculty of Allegany County Academy in the mid 1920's, is doing social work among the New Mexican Indians. During the two years Mrs. Nixon was in Cumberland she taught English and Literature at the academy. On her way to New Mexico, she visited Miss Sophie Deneen, Decatur Street, who also was a member of the faculty of the academy, prior to its closing.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Begley of Holyoke, Mass., Mrs. Nixon has been assigned by the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of Interior to the Gallup, N. M., headquarters as a social worker with the Jicarilla Apaches. She began her duties July 1, and will live in Dulce, N. M., a town near the Jicarilla reservation.

Since returning to the United States last year, after a two-year assignment in Vietnam, Mrs. Nixon has been residing in Londmeadow with her sister.

A graduate of Holyoke High School and Smith College, Mrs. Nixon also attended the New York School of Social Work and served as a social work supervisor with the New York City Welfare Department for seven years.

During her stay in Asia, she was refugee resettlement advisor of the International Cooperation Administration Mission to Vietnam. In this capacity, she traveled through the country, acting as liaison between the Mission and the seven voluntary agencies working to aid the thousands of refugees who left communism for freedom in South Vietnam.

With Mrs. G. Frederick Reinhardt, wife of the former Vietnam ambassador, Mrs. Nixon initiated the first International Women's Association in that country. In addition, she worked closely with the Vietnamese Department of Social Action in connection with service as a board member of the Family Welfare School for Young Women.

Mrs. Nixon, who once served as a temporary Red Cross director in Holyoke, spent two years in Berlin, Germany, with the public affairs division of the United States government before going to Vietnam. Her work in Germany included duties as cultural officer for women's affairs, adult education and community organization.

She previously served as chief advisor of the Women's Bureau of Military Government in Korea from 1946-1948 and has worked with the Red Cross in Korea, France, Belgium, Germany and Austria.

When Mrs. Nixon completes her work with the Jicarilla Apaches, she plans to visit with Miss Deneen and renew old acquaintances.

Flintstone Club Plans Lawn Party

Members of the Flintstone Homemakers Club formulated plans for a lawn party and selected a committee for a demonstration at the Cumberland fair. The meeting was held Friday in the basement of the Flintstone Methodist Church, with Mrs. William Mauzy presiding.

The Planning committee for the fair demonstration consists of Mrs. Mauzy, Mrs. Curtis Nash, Mrs. Paul Oster, Mrs. Chester Robinette, Mrs. Howard Robinette, Mrs. Russell Dolly and Mrs. Eugene Kinton. The group will meet at the Robinette home, July 22 to complete plans for the demonstration.

It was decided to have the August meeting in the form of a lawn party. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Curtis Nash, August 8, with Mrs. Franklin Norris cohostess.

The meeting was opened with the group saying the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Paul Oster read the homemakers Creed. The group sang "God of Our Father, Whose Almighty Hand," and "America." Routine reports were given and a card read from Mrs. Guy Thompson, past president, who is vacationing in England. The roll call was answered by telling of vacation plans. The quotation of the month wes read by Mrs. Howard Robinette.

Mrs. Roland Gilson, Food and Nutrition chairman, discussed oven meals. The Food and Nutrition committee, consisting of Mrs. Gilson, Mrs. Harold Chaney and Mrs. Leslie Wigfield, was hostess for the month and served an oven meal. Concluding the meeting games were played.

Mrs. Donald Bates, wife of the new minister at Flintstone Methodist Church, was a guest. Other members present were Mrs. William Heavner, Mrs. Carolye Nixon, Mrs. Leah Twigg, Miss Lena Twigg, Mrs. Oka Twigg and Mrs. Katie Oster.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge 1 will hold a basket picnic at 3 today in Grove 4 of Constitution Park.

Ursuline Academy Class Of 1938 Has Reunion

The Class of 1938 of Ursuline Academy held its 20th anniversary reunion in the form of a dinner. Saturday evening at the Alt Ghan Country Club for members and their husbands.

Mrs. William C. Harrison, city, presided and following the dinner read the class prophecies from the year book. Special recognition was paid and felicitations extended to Mr. and Mrs. James King, of Wheaton, who were observing their 12th wedding anniversary Saturday. It was noted that of the class of 20 members 17 were present and only one, Miss Dorothy Finan, was deceased.

Tentative plans for the 25th reunion were discussed.

Remembrance awards were made to Mrs. John Genthner, Rochester, N. Y., for having the largest family, with five children; and to Mrs. John J. Foley, Quincy, Mass., for coming the greatest distance.

Class officers were Mrs. Robert Kennedy, president; Mrs. John Wolfhope, vice president; Miss Mary Frances Mosser, secretary, and Mrs. Harrison, treasurer.

Mapleside Club Will Hold Tea

Short Course reports and making plans for a tea honoring new members featured the business session of the Mapleside Homemakers Club, held in conjunction with the annual picnic, July 16, at Constitution Park. A covered dish luncheon preceded the meeting.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, with Mrs. Frank White giving the treasurer's report. Mrs. Charles Moore, Sunshine Chairman, reported on cards sent to the shutins. Mrs. Dolan Lewis, Food and nutrition chairman, reported on "Quick oven meals," and distributed recipes.

Delegates and members who attended R. W. S. C. at College Park gave reports. Mrs. Helen Browne reported on food and nutrition which covered the highlights of the Food and Drug Administration, and clothing. Mrs. Forrest Snider reported on public speaking and personality development, and international relations. Mrs. Frank White reported on the home furnishing's class and commented on the Vesper's Service and the Allegany County Chorus program. Mrs. Kuhlman reported on the flower arranging class. Mrs. Reba Buser, guest from East Side Club, spoke briefly on music and demonstrated the song's learned with motion.

Mrs. James R. Smith, announced the club would hold a demonstration this year at the Cumberland Fair, arrangements to be announced later. Due to the fair it was announced the club will have no meeting in August, but will hold its next business meeting September 18, with new members being honored with a tea. Mrs. Kuhlman ap-

Quality Control

Quality control is important in drug manufacturing as well as in any other field. Of course if you make it yourself or have an analytical laboratory at home, then you know what went into the product. Lacking this, the next best way to make sure you get what you are paying for, is to know the people you are buying from. When you buy drug products in an ethical drug store, you can be reasonably certain that the quality is there. The manufacturer and the Pharmacist are staking their reputations that the product is everything they claim for it. But, when you buy your drug products from a door to door peddler or a private brand from a food store shelf, who is standing in back of the claims the salesman makes? Not the salesman, he doesn't know anymore about drugs and their actions than you do. Not the manufacturer—his name isn't even on the label. You don't know who made it or where it came from. To be sure then, buy your drugs in a drug store. And to be doubly sure, make that drug store Walsh and McCagh, where quality and purity are always finest.

Need For South End Traffic Light, More Police Is Cited By Resident

The Mayor and Council yesterday heard an appeal for more policemen and the need for another traffic light in South End.

Guy Clark, 300 South Street, said a traffic light should be placed at the corner of Laing and Virginia avenues to meet a dangerous traffic situation.

Clark also called for more policemen to patrol South End on foot. He cited one period of time when no policemen patroled South End while seven were on duty on Baltimore Street. He said South End needs at least three patrolmen on each shift.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said he understood the next phase of the Industrial Boulevard project would clear up the traffic situation referred to by Clark. And City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said the State Roads Commission had informed him it hoped to start construction on that phase today.

Lee Marple, North Centre Street businessman, inquired about the need for the 4 to 6 p. m. parking ban on Center and Mechanic streets between Market and Baltimore.

Marple informed Council that he had conducted a survey of the two streets during which at least 15 vacant storerooms were observed. This situation could be corrected, he continued, if parking would again be permitted.

The situation is especially distressing, Marple pointed out, since U. S. Route 40 traffic is carried on both streets and travelers receive the impression that business is poor in Cumberland.

The need for the parking ban has been lessened since the new Baltimore Street bridge across Wills Creek has been opened to vehicular traffic, Marple said.

Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming informed Marple that he would appreciate it if Marple and any other interested businessmen would meet with him so that all phases of the situation could be aired.

In comparison to Marple's view on the parking ban, police and motorists have expressed the opinion that the regulation — in effect during the peak flow of traffic—has materially aided the movement of vehicles on downtown streets.

A number of residents also appeared to lodge protests on the condition of alleys in the area where they live.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw, 40 Gleason Street, told council a petition and previous requests concerning the opening of an alley between Utah and Gleason streets have been ignored. She requested that the present administration give consideration to the project.

Nuzum informed council that the alley opening had been dropped because of the estimated cost. He explained that the alley carries a natural drainage that would have to be included in the cost of the requested opening. The overall cost, including pipe, Nuzum estimated at $90,000.

Mrs. William M. Egan, 212 Arch Street, appeared to ask that an alley running parallel to Grand Avenue and Arch streets, between Second and Third, be blacktopped. Street Commissioner John J. Long informed Mrs. Egan the request would be added to the projects under consideration, and in an offhand comment to the other members of the council said "it looks like an additional bond issue is needed to take care of all such needed improvements."

L. V. Lowery, 714 Frederick Street, appeared to present an old complaint concerning the condition of the 700 block and to ask what action would be taken as the result of his claim for damages caused to his property by construction during the Frederick Street improvement project. He said his only interest was in the damage done to his property and not in getting the street paved. Carscaden told Lowery the matter will be studied and when a decision is made, Lowery will be informed by letter.

Commissioner Long told council two complaints made at last week's meeting had been investigated and the complainants contacted. He also said plans for mosquito control are being worked out and that inquiries concerning the program should be made in the Engineering Department.

Three Homes To Be Removed For Road Job

Three residences, one of them a well-known Allegany County landmark, will be torn down for highway improvements.

The property of the late Mrs. Emma Wolfe on Route 40 just east of Nave's Crossroad, will be leveled.

This includes the large two-story frame house, frame and concrete block garage, frame storage shed and large frame barn.

The buildings must be removed down to the ground line within 60 days of the notice to proceed.

The State Roads Commission will open bids on this project on Tuesday, July 29, at noon in its Baltimore office.

The Wolfe Farm, a show place for many years, was purchased at public auction here early this spring by the SRC, utilizing a local real estate agency as a "straw man."

On the same day the SRC will open bids on the purchase of the James W. Barnes property located on Route 40 at the eastern limits of Flintstone.

This consists of a one-story frame dwelling and frame garages with all fixtures and apprutances.

The structures are in the way of the project to relocate Route 40 in the Flintstone area and connect the Martin's Mountain and Polish Mountain highway jobs.

The Barnes property must be removed from the site within 30 days of notice to proceed.

Also on the same day the SRC will open bids on the purchase of the improvements located on the former Raymond L. Shaffer property on Route 36 near the Cash Valley Road at Corriganville.

This consists of a two-story frame building, with a garage on the first floor and five rooms and bath with fixtures on the second floor. There is also a hot air furnace and a water heater and a small frame garage.

Other bidding details may be obtained from the State Roads office on Braddock Road.

In Africa, a Zulu woman may have a divorce summons served on her husband by paying $1.25 to a native commissioner. A week later she may look for a new man.

Action Expected Today On Creek Sewage Survey

One item of business expected to develop at today's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners is the comprehensive engineering study of the Georges Creek section for a sanitary sewage facility.

The State Health Department several weeks ago ordered the county to have this survey prepared not later than next December.

The funds for such a survey can be obtained from the federal government and paid out of any future bond issue for such a sewage project.

Whitman, Requardt and Associates, a Baltimore firm of engineers, has written the county board that it is interested in undertaking such a survey for the county.

Members of the county board say they understand the engineering profession does not bid on such projects but makes proposals for such jobs.

The Baltimore firm in its letter stated that in 1944 it prepared a sewerage report for the town of Frostburg and in 1950 made a reconnaissance survey of the Georges Creek Valley.

The company said it is well equipped for such a survey as the one ordered by the state agency.

It has done work for the City of Cumberland, LaVale Sanitary Commission and many other Maryland counties and groups.

Proposals were made some time ago by several firms and individual engineers on the survey but no action was taken at that time.

City Stops Action On Canal Street

The Mayor and Council yesterday held up any further action on the closing of Canal Street until it receives a report from commissioners appointed to assess what damages may have been incurred by the action.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said no official report of the commissioners had been received since they recessed their hearing in order to get additional data.

Matthew M. Mullaney, attorney for Joseph H. Reinhart, Baltimore Street businessman, asked that the entire subject be reviewed by council as a result of the recessed meeting of the commissioners.

The previous council had voted to close Canal Street in connection with the Western Maryland Railway plans to open a 100-car parking facility on South Mechanic Street. The lot would be leased for commercial use.

Scout Camp Inspection Set

Camp Potomac of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, will be inspected by officials of Region 3, BSA, Thursday, Edmund S. Burke, council president, announced yesterday.

The executive board will hold a "dutch treat" dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. that day at the camp with the inspectors as their guests.

They are J. A. Kirkpatrick, Zelienople, Pa., member of the Region 3 executive committee and president of the Universal Manufacturing Company, and Cyrus Tribur, of the Region 3 office in Philadelphia.

Tribur, Kirkpatrick, the executive board and Willis V. Smith, council executive, will tour the large camping area near Oldtown.

Scouts from the six counties in the council are in the midst of the five-week camping period.

The cotton boll weevil is of Mexican origin.

Resident Suggests City Improve Its Atmosphere

Dr. Rita E. Brinker yesterday suggested that the city undertake a program in the "interest of a quieter and more pleasant atmosphere.

Dr. Brinker wrote the Mayor and Council that such measures should include statutes governing noisy mufflers on cars; noise, particularly at night and in residential and hospital districts.

Dr. Brinker also suggested that perhaps some arrangement can be made with the B&O Railroad concerning noise caused by the shifting of cars on the eastbound hump between midnight and 4 a. m.

It was also proposed that garbage collections be changed from night to day hours in residential areas, and that more trash receptacles be placed on city streets especially in the vicinity of places frequented by children.

The letter brought from Street Commissioner John J. Long the comment that it has "merit" and he said he has already talked with Street Superintendent Andrew Heller concerning an anti-litter campaign on a city-wide basis.

A tentative title for the campaign has been considered, he said. It would be called "The Big Sweep."

Long referred to the new street sweeper which was displayed at City Hall yesterday and the possibility of painting and marking 50 gallon drums to be placed at various points in the city to receive litter.

He said as soon as full details of the program are worked out, council will be informed and approval sought.

Local Man Named To C. Of C. Position

W. Arthur Grotz, president of the Western Maryland Railway Company, has been appointed to the policy committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, William A. McDonnell, chamber president, has announced.

One of the chamber's most important guiding bodies, the policy committee reviews policy proposals and recommends those to be acted upon by the organization membership at the chamber's annual meeting.

Homemakers Plan Picnic

ROWLESBURG — The Rowlesburg Homemakers Club met a recent evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Bolyard. Mrs. D. A. McVicker led the worship service and group singing of "Abide with Me."

The lesson, "Let's Promote Good Mental Health," was presented by Mrs. Victor Hackett and Mrs. Howard Bolyard. The latter presented a display of enamel ware. Reporting on home projects were Mrs. Howard T. Grove, Mrs. J. W. Ashenfelter, Mrs. Callie Heath, Mrs. John Ashenfelter, Mrs. Howard Bolyard and Mrs. C. M. Wheeler.

Mrs. John Ashenfelter, president, presided at the business session and announced there will be a County Council meeting at Kingwood August 13. The next club meeting will feature a family picnic in City Park August 20 at 6 p. m. (DST).

Hostesses included Mrs. D. A. McVicker, Mrs. Bolyard, Mrs. Mary Shields and Mrs. John Shahan. Refreshments were served.

Keyser Rotarians Hear Review On Grapho-Analysis

KEYSER — Members of the Keyser Rotary Club received a lesson in grapho-analysis at their recent luncheon-meeting. Richard L. Alstadt, Cumberland, told how to analyze mental attitudes and principal characteristics by handwriting.

Alstadt, who is associated with the Business Machine and Equipment Corporation, had the Rotarians write a simple sentence with several "t's". Concentrating on the letter "t", he then described the way mental attitudes and characteristics could be determined from the way the letter was formed.

Alstadt said grapho-analysis is now a true science and is used in detecting forgery and determining the authenticity of documents.

Improvements To Garrett Co. Schools Noted

Hawkins Reports Steady Progress

OAKLAND—Four major Garrett County school improvements have either been completed since the end of June or will be completed by the time schools open in September.

One of the major improvements are the offices of the Garrett County Board of Education. Renovation of the annex building for use of the board and staff was completed last month and the offices of the school board were moved from the Court House to the annex building at that time.

Three other major improvements now underway are the construction of a new band room and connecting corridor at Southern High, a new two-room school at Swan Meadow High, and the complete renovation and modernization of the present Grantsville School.

Progress on the modern band room facility and connecting corridor at Southern has been delayed due to difficulty in securing matching brick. However, brick is now on hand and, weather permitting, rapid progress is expected. Swan Meadow School is well along the way and is expected to be ready for occupancy when school opens. Grantsville School, the last of the three-year program of school remodeling and renovation for the county, is also to be completed and ready for occupancy when school opens in September. Major repairs and alterations are being made to the entire school plant. When completed it will be one of Garrett County's finest elementary school facilities, according to Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent of schools.

Visitation days will be planned prior to the opening of school in order that interested parents and citizens might see these new improvements.

School board plans for other improvements in the immediate future call for a library for Kitzmiller School and a general education room for Center Street School. The board hopes to complete both of these projects by the time schools open in September, 1959, Hawkins said.

Cooties Reorganize At Keyser VFW

KEYSER — Ed Kelly Pup Tent 8 of Keyser, Military Order of the Cootie, originally organized in 1946, was reorganized at a meeting of the organization's District 4, held here over the weekend at the home of Nancy Hanks Post 3518, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Officers elected for the local unit were James G. Mahood, commander; Claude R. Boyce, senior vice commander; Harry Whetsell, junior vice commander; Leo C. Shuck, quartermaster; Ralph F. Boyce, chaplain; Carl Munson, judge advocate, and William Tanner, Estes J. Sharpes and I. N. Godfrey, trustees.

Appointive officers will be selected in the near future, the new commander said.

The Cootie organization is an honorary unit of the VFW, the charitable activities of which include work at veterans hospitals and support of blood banks.

Jennings Randolph Gets Endorsement

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (UPI)— The candidacy of Jennings Randolph, Elkins Democrat seeking the short-term U. S. Senate nomination in the Aug. 5 primary, was endorsed by the Upshur County Democratic Executive Committee over the weekend.

At the same time it was revealed the state's oldest newspaper — the Spirit of Jefferson - Advocate at Charles Town — also supported Randolph's selection.

Girl Scout Day Camp Is Opened At Frostburg

Units From Barton Are Participating

FROSTBURG—The fourth annual Day Camp of Frostburg Girl Scouts opened yesterday at 9 a.m. to continue through Friday at 3 p.m. Scouts and their leaders from Barton are attending camp for the first time.

Mrs. David Powers, 606 Washington Street, Cumberland, is the camp director. She has taken the camp director's course at Rockwood, and was the co-ordinator of seven day camps of the Southern Appalachian Girl Scout Council, Bluefield, W. Va.

Serving on the planning committee for the camp are Mrs. Gordon Taylor, chairman, Mrs. Fred Morton, Mrs. Alvin Kreiling and Mrs. Clyde Settle.

Campers are divided into units according to age, and each unit has a leader. The leaders are Mrs. Alfred Drew, Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, Mrs. Walter Kerr, Mrs. David Clark Jr., Mrs. Mervin Clark, Mrs. William Clark, Mrs. Earl Richardson, Mrs. Fred Morton and Mrs. Guerney Beeman.

Miss Drucilla Shriner is in charge of music and Mrs. William Wood, Miss Diana Meehan and Miss Mary Bolt are swimming instructors. Mrs. William McCullough, registered nurse, has charge of first aid. Mrs. Clyde Settle is chairman of the food purchasing committee with Mrs. Howard Strickler, Mrs. Leonard Lohr and Mrs. Paul Chaney assisting. Fifteen Senior Girl Scouts are working as program aides.

Friday, each girl is asked to bring her lunch to camp. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, cookouts will be held in each unit. Milk will be provided each day.

Thursday, camp will begin at 2:30 p. m. and a campfire will be held for Scouts and their parents.

In the event of rain, arrangements have been made to use the National Guard armory adjacent to the Frostburg swimming pool recreation area.

Country Club Plans Hoedown

FROSTBURG—A Western hoedown will be held at the Maplehurst Country Club Saturday, July 26, at 9:30 p. m.

Howard Plummer is chairman of the entertainment committee. He will be assisted by Mrs. Ben Hughes Jr., Mrs. Nicholas Harris, Mrs. Jonathan Jenkins, Mrs. Ruth Rephann and Mrs. William Woods.

The "Sonateers" will provide music for round dancing. This group originated in the Hyndman and Bedford areas and has been playing at Minke's for the past eight years.

Refreshments will be served and decorations at the club will create a western atmosphere with plans for a wagon wheel bar.

Patrons are asked to wear dungarees, sports shirts and old shoes. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Ruth Woods at 64 Broadway or by calling 124.

Keyser Moose Will Initiate

KEYSER—Plans are now underway for an initiation of new members of Keyser Moose Lodge 662 with the local degree team doing the ritualistic work. The date of the initiation has been set for Tuesday, July 29.

The drive for re-enrollment of dropped members is still being held under the dispensation allotted the local lodge by the supreme lodge. Under this dispensation, former members can be reinstated.

Members of the degree team are Dr. Bruce Snider, captain; John Staggers, William Miller, William Alt, Clyde Gardner, Edward Miller and John Deegan.

Vandegrift Co. Gets Contract At D&E College

Will Construct Library Building

ELKINS — Work on the new library building at Davis and Elkins College will start immediately, according to Dr. David K. Allen, college president.

The John I. Vandegrift Company of Cumberland, submitted the low bid of $246,987 and was awarded the contract last week, Dr. Allen said.

The new library will be erected on the site of the old Student Union buildings which are now being razed. A completion deadline of June 1, 1959, is provided in the contract.

The building will be completely fireproof, a spokesman for the college said. Plans have been approved by the state fire marshal.

The Vandegrift Company is now engaged in construction of the new Residence Hall for Women on the college campus. This structure, which will cost approximately $325,000, is expected to be ready for occupancy for the fall semester at the college.

The library will be the third major building project to be undertaken at the college in recent years. The first, the James E. Allen Residence Hall for Men, was occupied in the fall of 1946. It also was built by the Vandegrift Company.

The library will be the second of three buildings on the Davis and Elkins campus to be built with money raised by the West Virginia Synods of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. and U. S. A.

The third building, which will be contracted some time later, will be a chapel-auditorium.

College authorities said that the Vandegrift Company, being already on the ground, will be able to begin work immediately on the new building.

The 1,600 gallon pumper was purchased several weeks at a cost of $20,000.

Contract Let On Lab School At Frostburg

George Company Gets College Job

FROSTBURG — Work will be started this week on a new laboratory school at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The State Department of Public Improvements has just awarded the contract for the one-story structure to the George Construction Company of Cumberland.

The brick building will be located on part of the college campus facing the Midlothian Road.

It will have six class rooms, a dual purpose room to be used for a cafeteria and auditorium, a kitchen, and a kindergarten room. A sheltered play area is provided on the side.

The low bidder, George Construction, will do the work for $582,964, and there are 500 working days alloted for it. The school will be ready for the fall term of the 1959-60 year.

The building currently being used for the laboratory school will be converted into classroom space for the college, according to R. Bowen Hardesty, president.

The State Department of Public Improvements had hoped to construct the dining hall building on the campus, but the bids were too high for the amount of money available.

All bids were rejected and the department has already asked for appropriation this year of sufficient money to undertake the project.

The Board of Public Works has been asked by the Department of Public Improvements to approve a total budget of $1,450,000 for capital improvements at Frostburg.

This includes the dining hall, a new residence hall for men and one for women and site improvements.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Memorial Windows Dedicated

WESTERNPORT — Dedication services for 21 new memorial windows in First Baptist Church were held in the sanctuary of the church Sunday afternoon, followed by the dedication of the Pastorium Estate.

Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor, and master of ceremonies, was assisted by six area Baptist ministers.

The sermon for the window dedication was delivered by Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor of First Church, Cumberland.

The scripture lesson was read by Rev. William C. Rogers, moderator of the Western Baptist Association and pastor of the Mountain Lake Church. Greetings were extended by Rev. Mr. Orndorff.

The dedication of the memorial windows was led by the pastor with response by the congregation.

The program included selections by the organist, Mrs. Grace Eleaine Koch; singing of "Praise Ye the Father" by the choir, directed by Mrs. Orndorff, and congregational singing.

The dedication of the pastorium estate opened with the reading of the scripture lesson by Rev. Wesley H. Harris, pastor of Welch Memorial Church, Frostburg. The choir sang "God Bless This House," with Mrs. Joseph Rinard Jr., soloist.

The dedication part was led by Rev. Mr. Orndorff, with response by congregation. The dedication prayer was given by Rev. C. P. Anderson, pastor of Deep Creek Church, Oakland. Benediction was by Rev. John A. Sanders, associate pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont.

Refreshments were served following the services.

Former Area Teacher Lauded For Thesis

PIEDMONT — Miss Ida Ruth Price, of Piedmont, a former home economics instructor at Keyser High School, has been complimented by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare Office of Education, Washington.

She has been requested to allow her thesis, "Survey and Supervision," to be used as part of a summation of work to improve home economics programs. The department is preparing the compilation of materials to help homemaking teachers improve their work. Miss Price's thesis will be part of this compilation.

Miss Price completed work for her masters degree in home economics at West Virginia University last August. A graduate of Howard High School here, she attended West Virginia State College, Charleston, and holds a BS degree from West Virginia University.

She attended the national home economics conference in Philadelphia last month and plans to go to Morgantown later this month to observe work at a home economics workshop at the university.

Last fall, Miss Price accepted a position at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., in Davis Senior High School with an enrollment of 1,800 students.

Frostburg Event Scheduled Aug. 24

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Fire Department and the Arion Band are jointly sponsoring their 9th annual crab feast next month. The affair will be held August 24 at the old Junior Order Park, starting at 1 p. m. and ending at 5 p. m. Crabs will be served either at the park for those who care to spend their time there or at the fire hall for those who prefer eating at home. Joseph Durst Jr. and Leslie Bevan, members of the fire company will serve as co-chairmen.

Committees both from the fire department and the band will be announced.

According to the chairmen, this annual affair is the only fund raising campaign for these two community organizations. Funds derived from the affair are used to purchase uniforms for both groups, and for the band to repair instruments, buy music and furnish transportation to the many affairs in which they participate.

Locally these two groups participate in practically every community project. The firemen serve not only for fire fighting but sponsor an annual Halloween parade for the children, aid in locating lost persons and many other services. The band participates annually in openings of the playgrounds, play in parades and hold free concerts during the summer months.

Swim Classes Start At Keyser

KEYSER—The beginners swimming classes registration has fallen far short of the goal that was hoped to be attained, according to Coach John R. Shelton. At the present time only a small group has enrolled in the junior and adult classes. Classes begin at 10:30 a.m.

Adult classes start at 7:30 p.m. and continue until 9:30 p.m. during the weekdays. Other arrangements may be worked out if desired.

Miss Dye was graduated this year from Allegany High School where she was active in the National Honor Society, ADK, Tri-Hi-Y, Alcohi Mirror, Allegewi, Latin Club, Spanish Club and was on the sportsmanship commission.

Council To Give Some Relief On Open Ditch

An open ditch problem on Wempe Drive came before the Mayor and Council yesterday and city officials indicated it would be discussed and some relief would be forthcoming after its budget deliberations.

Eugene Martin, spokesman for the area, appeared before council to present his case and recalled that he had asked for relief there for several months when the previous council was in office.

Martin and others from Wempe Dirve have deplored the health hazard created by the ditch into which some sanitary sewage has reportedly flowed, plus an infestation of rats and other conditions which constitute a health hazard as well as a threat to safety of residents.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said council "should sit down with these people and discuss this before budget time since it involves a health problem." He said representatives of the Health Department should be at the meeting.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, finance commissioner, said the city has discussed the problem and in fact, had been apprised of some details by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum yesterday prior to the regular session. She said she believed it would be best to consider the ditch problem at budget time, see how much of it could be undertaken, and then meet with residents who have filed the protest to explain city plans.

She said the question involves money and the city can not know what will be available until budget requests are in. And in answer to Long's statement that a health problem is involved and some relief must be given, Mrs. Roeder said the only temporary solution until something more permanent can be worked out, is to spray the area involved.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light commented that he saw no reason for a meeting on the problem at this time. He said council has to decide what it can do when the budget is set — whether it can do all the project, one-fourth of it or a section at a time. Then, he said, would be the time for a meeting.

Long replied, however, that he believed council should meet with the residents in regards to the problem.

An estimate prepared by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum during the previous administration, said the project would cost $90,000. Martin contended that he would like to see other estimates made on the cost as had been suggested by Long at one time.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden stated if the project would cost $90,000, it seemed to him to be a capital expenditure and should not come out of any budget. Rather, he said, it should be handled by a bond issue. This phase, he emphasized, was a technical matter and should be studied.

City Approves SS Contract

A contract under which members of the Cumberland Fire Department will come under Social Security coverage, was approved by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The plan of agreement is between the city and Employes' Retirement System of the State of Maryland and is effective as of July 1.

Firemen voted to join the coverage in a referendum June 20. The contract will be signed by Mayor J. Edwin Keech and forwarded to the state.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson estimated cost to the city will be between $4,000 and $5,000 which must be included in the new budget.

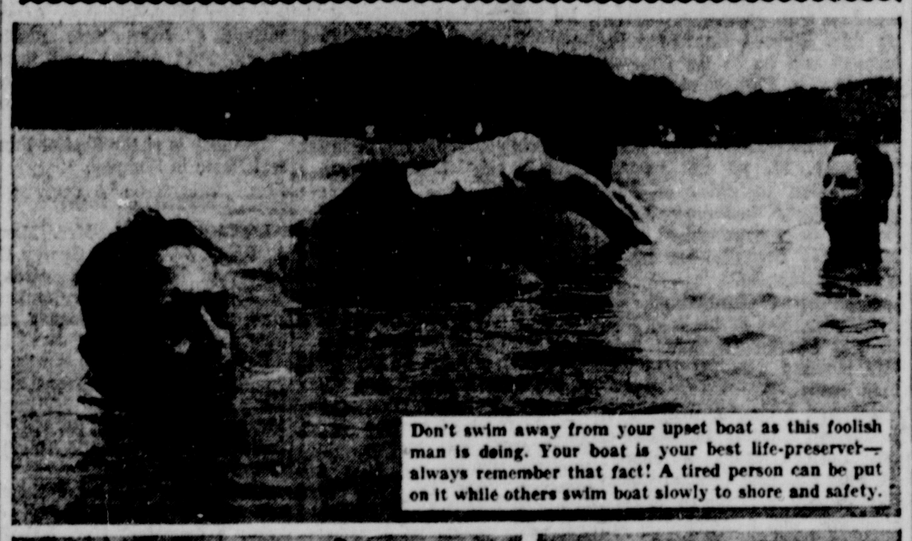
Be SAFE This Summer—ASWIM and AFLOAT



Don't swim away from your upset boat as this foolish man is doing. Your boat is your best life-preserver—always remember that fact! A tired person can be put on it while others swim boat slowly to shore and safety.

Roll capsized boat right side up to handle more easily for self-rescue. Wooden boat or metal one with good buoyancy tanks will stay afloat even when filled with water. Get aboard carefully and hand-paddle to shore.

Re-enter boat over stern or make a foot-loop with rope at the bow to help you get aboard. Don't try to climb over the side if you fall overboard.

Pine Avenue Begins Contest

Pine Avenue Playground is conducting registration for the intra-city playground picnic which will be held Friday at Constitution Park.

A contest for the selection of representatives in three age groups which will represent Pine Avenue in a city-wide rock and roll contest on July 30 will be staged today at 8 p. m. Winners in teen-age, pre-teen and tiny tot categories will be selected for the city finals.

Handicraft instruction will be held today and Wednesday afternoons at Pine Avenue, while a costume show Wednesday at 7 p. m. will be followed by a movie.

Winners in a recent hat show were Kay Yates, prettiest; Marcellus Wells, largest; Cynthia Frazier, smallest; Bonnie Peck, most unusual, and Debbie Beckward, largest collection.

City Hires Draftsman

The City Engineering Department said yesterday it would need the help of a temporary draftsman in order to complete certain plans necessary for consideration before budget time.

The Mayor and Countil voted to approve the recommendation of City Engineer C. R. Nuzum that William R. Hudson, 232 Gleason Street, be appointed to the temporary post from July 21 to September 11 at a salary of $300 a month.

Nuzum said Hudson has served in similar temporary capacities for the city during the summers of 1955 and 1956 and is a senior engineering student.

He said the department is faced with several jobs which must be completed before budget time including design and estimate of a sewer to the new National Guard Armory in Ridgedale Addition; and studies and estimates to cover portions of the Cumberland Thruway to be let to construction between now and the end of the fiscal year in 1959.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said he thought the appointment a "good move" and added Nuzum needs help. He said he spoke from the Street Department standpoint.

Council also approved the seasonal appointment of David La-Fon as tennis instructor at $3 a session.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden resigned as a member of the Municipal Airport Commission on which he has served for a number of years. The resignation was accepted with regret. The attorney represents the board in all legal matters.

This adds another appointment to the list to be made by council. Pending are one to the Civil Service Commission and another to the Board of Health. Council is reported considering both of these and action is expected soon. The Civil Service post is the only paid job — $25 a month — and it is understood several applications for appointment have been made.

W.Va. Gets $3,296,329 For New Hospitals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government has allocated $3,296,329 to West Virginia for 1958-59 hospital construction under the Hill-Burton Act, it was disclosed Monday.

U. S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb said that under a Senate-approved appropriation bill, West Virginia would have received $3,788,521. But a House bill would have allocated $2,788,521 to the Mountain State.

A Senate-House conference committee included the final compromise figure in a $186,200,000 allocation for hospital construction throughout the country, Revercomb said.

The Big Difference in Gasolines

CROWN GOLD is the highest octane motor fuel you can buy. Yet, it's priced lower than other super-premium gasolines! Here's the reason behind this greater value: Other companies divert or siphon off substantial quantities of high-energy components into their aviation fuels . . . and for other uses. But CROWN "custom-tailors" its gasoline exclusively for automotive needs . . . and retains all high-energy components for its automotive fuels.

At CROWN's Houston refinery, all the highest energy ingredients are retained for CROWN GOLD gasoline. That's why it's today's top-octane fuel . . . a better-balanced automotive fuel that gives your car greater power and performance and delivers maximum miles per gallon.

Try the two-tank test . . . and prove the BIG DIFFERENCE!

On The Right Side, But Lacking Policy

The House of Commons, with its infinite capacity for debate, manages now and then to get closer to the heart of an American problem than we do ourselves. It seems to have done just this last week during the immensely important debate over Britain's support of our rather sudden leap into the Middle Eastern crisis.

Two especially relevant points emerge from the texts of the speeches, at hand from British Information Services. These points are among those made by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and by Aneurin Bevan, one of the most vocal spokesmen of the Opposition.

Said Mr. Lloyd: "I believe a country has the right to ask for help against aggression whether direct or indirect. I believe, too, that another government has the right to respond to such requests, and that such response is in accordance with the established rules of international law. Unless countries are prepared to respond to such appeals for help, I think we shall see one country after another go down to this form of aggression . . . ."

The legal and moral rectitude of America's course has not been so clearly put forth by any of our own statesmen, nor has the central issue been so clearly expounded as by Mr. Bevan: "We must have . . . not only governments that are in friendly relationship with us but people who are prepared to be friends with us also. That means that we must work out policies to which the Middle Eastern people can subscribe."

This, really, is the heart of the problem. We need, not a policy for the Middle East, but a policy to which the Middle East can subscribe. On what ground such a policy may be discovered is highly debatable, but certainly we must find it.

Picking Up Some Sound Effects

Rep. Bennett Wanted To Show Part Of Adams Case To White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman John Bennett of Michigan was talking to Congressman Oren Harris of Arkansas, chairman of the committee which has been probing Bernard Goldfine and Sherman Adams. Bennett wanted to postpone an investigation of the Raylaine Worsted Co. for which Adams helped get a refund of $41,000. Bennett, a Republican, argued that the file should be shown to the White House first.

"The only trouble," he added, "is that if we wait Drew Pearson will get hold of it and publish it first."

"I've got news for you," replied Harris. Reaching into his pocket he handed Bennett a copy of a letter dated July 9 from this writer to Harris outlining the facts in the Raylaine Worsted case.

The second paragraph of that letter read:

"There exists in the Pentagon a letter written by Chairman Austin of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, complaining of the unethical practices of Sherman Adams in bringing pressure to refund money to a contractor.

"The Army," my letter continued, "is very disturbed about these memos and fearful that either the press or your committee may uncover them."

The final paragraph of the letter read: "Naturally, I would like to publish this story, but I recognize publication by me might lead to the disposition of the Army's files in a manner unfavorable to your committee."

Congressman Harris promptly subpoenaed the Army's files and found the memo written in longhand by Roswell Austin, then Chairman of the Armed Services Contract Board, in which he criticized Sherman Adams and Congressmen of "unethical" pressure in the Raylaine Worsted case. The record is damaging.

Congressional Bull Fight

Congressman Eddie Hebert of New Orleans was talking to his colleague from across the Mississippi River, Congressman John Bell Williams of Mississippi, about the Raylaine Worsted case. Hebert, who is Chairman of the Armed Services subcommittee, has now been given this phase of the Sherman Adams investigation.

"All you fellows do is get Goldfine steamed up like a bull," Hebert chided Williams, a member of the Harris committee. "You're like banderilleros and picadors. You just prick the witness. Now you watch Hebert the toreador enter the ring."

The Congressman from Louisiana, onetime news editor of the New Orleans States, has uncovered more inefficiency in the armed forces than anyone since the days of Sen. Harry Truman and his Truman committee.

Hebert is calling witnesses in executive session to sift out the testimony, then will hold public sessions.

Old School Chum

The Raylaine Worsted case boils down to the fact that the Eisenhower administration handed $41,284 to the company after the Democrats for 12 years had refused to do so. The award was made after Sherman Adams entered the White House and after he received a "Dear Sherm" letter from Allen Grow, bookkeeper for the company and Adams' old school chum.

The Raylaine Company had failed to live up to an Army contract in 1941 just before Pearl Harbor, and was assessed $41,000 for the failure. When the case went up to the Comptroller General in 1942, he ruled that the company was at fault. The case was then appealed to the U.S. Court of Claims, in 1947, which again ruled against the company.

An appeal also went to the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, which also held against Raylaine in 1953.

Finally, however, Sherman Adams got into the picture and an amazing thing happened. Despite previous rulings by the Comptroller General, the Court of Claims, and the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, the Comptroller General in March 1957 reversed himself and held that the company should be reimbursed to the tune of $41,000.

The Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals had no choice but to accept this ruling — though it did not concur. It was at this point that Chairman Austin wrote a longhand memo for the files naming Sherman Adams in connection with "unethical" conduct.

Washington Pipeline

Congressional leaders will keep Congress in session all summer long if the crisis in the Near East continues. They will operate three days a week, giving Congressmen who will be up for re-election a chance to go home part of the week. . . . Ike's aides are seriously concerned over the strain of the Near East crisis on his health. He has been fretful and worried. . . . Recalling the Eisenhower pledge, "I will go to Korea," during the 1952 election campaign, Democratic National Committee strategists will urge Adlai Stevenson to make the statement, "I will go to the Near East.". . . . Director Allen Dulles of Central Intelligence is definitely in for a Senate Foreign Relations investigation for failing to learn of the revolt in Iraq until 2 a. m. of the day it happened.

We Shall Be Poorer Without Old Hero Chennault

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

In these times when greater and greater dangers are monthly born of feebleness and folly, it is very good to think about the old hero, even on his deathbed. The Congress has just thought about him, graciously but belatedly promoting him to the rank of lieutenant general in the U.S. Air Force.

But even the Congress cannot really have known much about the old hero. Almost no one knows, for instance, that he was one of the originators of the modern theory of airborne operations. The U.S. Army laughed at his theory, for cavalry was still more popular than airplanes in the mid-1920s. The Red Army offered him a rich contract to test his theory in the Soviet Union; but he refused it and that episode receded.

Almost no one knows, either, that he was almost certainly the leading American air ace of the Second World War—and this is hardly surprising, because the old hero rolled up his score of forty-odd Japanese airplanes shot down before we ever got into the war. That happened after they threw him out of the Air Force in the mid-1930s, merely because he was much, much too tactlessly right about the need for a balanced air force and a lot of other things. All the same, the Army doctors who certified that he was no longer fit for active service had quite good arguments on their side.

In fact the old hero was already deaf as a post and over forty years old, when he turned up at Nanking just before the big Japanese attack on China. Possibly the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek did not know enough about modern medicine. At any rate, they found him fit enough to improvise the brilliant air defense of Nanking which utterly destroyed the first squadrons the Japanese sent in. And when the Chinese had no more planes of their own left, Madame Chiang, whom he loved, let the old hero go after the Japs himself, in his specially adapted Curtiss Hawk, on a straight piecework basis.

That nest egg he made by shooting down Japanese bombers at $1,000 per bomber was the "foreign money" the Army general staff used to drop unpleasant hints about, when the old hero came to Washington to organize the American Volunteer Group—the "Flying Tigers" they called the group later, but I never liked the silly name. Out of little more than string and chewing gum, the old hero had devised the Chinese air warning net, that sustained China's resistance through the worst years. Out of little more than string and chewing gum and some fine American pilots, he also devised the A. V. G.

One can see him now, sweating it out in the awful heat on that awful air field in Toungoo, Burma, in the pre-Pearl Harbor summer. Franklin Roosevelt had boldly given him 100 P-40s that even the beleaguered British did not want, and he had ground crews of 100 U. S. pilots of every imaginable sort. (Seven were actually Navy flying boat pilots, who first tried to land their P-40s about fifteen feet above steaming runway, with unfortunate consequences.) But he did not have any staff worth mentioning, or any spare parts at all, or even, for a while, any ammunition for his P-40's machine guns.

Nobody but Diana Cooper and old Air Marshal Brooke-Topham, whom they later unjustly blamed for Singapore, really thought for a moment that the old hero could succeed in Burma. But there at Toungoo, he invented the radically new P-40 tactics that successfully defeated the Japanese Zeros. (They later decorated someone else for the invention.) Within a fortnight after he took the A. V. G. into China, no more Japanese bombs dropped. It was as simple as that, though he and the A. V. G. faced miracle odds of about five to one.

Again, one can see him now, as he was in those tangled, ugly war years at Kunming. By then you would have called him an old man — the skin of the deep lined face was like the surface of long-aged oak — but the tremendous, telling jut of the jaw was still there all the same. He needed what that jutting jaw implied for his bitter wartime battles with the air staff, and that brave old fool, Gen. Joe Stillwell, and with a lot of other people.

The battles saved his Fourteenth Air Force, which in turn saved China from coming to pieces altogether in mid-war, under the impact of the last Japanese offensive. (Very few people know it, but Stillwell' curious military plans never provided Chiang Kai-shek's wornout infantry with a single machine gun bullet to use against the Japanese on any Chinese battlefield.) All the same, the old hero lost his last battle, to save Free China from the Communists.

Maybe he would have convinced more people easily, maybe he would have to fight fewer battles, if he had fewer faults and weaknesses. He was almost wholly self-educated for one thing; and when he did his own logistical calculation on the back of a dirty envelope, the results did not impress conventional-minded officers with staff training. For another, he had the touchy vanity that self-educated men with very great capacities always develop, if they are patronized and slighted as the old hero had been in his years in the peacetime U.S. Army.

There were some other warts to provide contrast in the portrait; but I have called him the old hero because he always remained a hero to me, although I studied the warts at closest range. His name is Claire Lee Chennault. We shall be poorer without him.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Security Council

The world could go down to its final end while the Security Council of the United Nations debates on the virtues of this or that paragraph of the United Nations Charter. It must be pleasant to belong to such a delightful debating society, in which men are most courteous when they spit into each other's eyes.

So Comrade Sobolev rises to make a prolonged speech which is translated into English and French. The afternoon has passed. American troops have landed in Turkey; British troops have landed in Jordan; Ben-Gurion has had the Russian Ambassador in. But the United Nations translator drones his weary way. The English translator of Sobolev's speech must have gone to an elocution school. He is very good at nuances, at little sarcasms. He might be an actor. He is better than Sobolev who as an orator is very bad, indeed—nothing like Vyshinsky who when he cursed the United States really put his heart in it.

Ah! Dag Hammarskjold, the Secretary General of the United Nations, gets into the act. What he says is neither here nor there, because Soviet Russia sent her top air force general to plan a campaign with Nasser's top air force general. Hammarskjold talks for the record. Someday a researcher will note that he had asserted the superiority of the United Nations over the United States. It may be so, but we are now moving troops and fleets and the fate of nations hangs in the balance.

So Sweden goes into a dither. Sweden can be occupied by Soviet Russia and the Swedes would prefer that nothing be done to irritate the Russians who would need only an hour or two to move into Sweden from Finland. I once spent some time up around Haparanda and Tornio where Sweden and Finland are joined together. It is bleak country, up in the Arctic. It would not take the Russians many hours to move troops by land as well as by airplanes into Sweden.

So the Swede in the United Nations tried hard to postpone discussion, postpone meetings, postpone life and reality. And the same is true of the Japanese who wanted American troops removed from Japan and now the Japanese have to defend themselves from Soviet Russia and Red China and the subversive elements in Japan. It is a tough spot for Japan. What they really need is the protection of the American occupation. For Japan, the greatest tragedy was the failure of the United States to defeat Red China in Korea. That tragedy was, of course, due to the Pentagon's antagonism toward General Douglas MacArthur and the mistaken policies of President Truman who did not understand that in the so-called United Nations police action we were fighting not North Korea but Red China.

And now Japan must face reality, too. For if World War III should break out over Lebanon and Iraq and the other tricks of Nasser, Japan will be occupied as Sweden will be occupied. That is one of the cruel facts about wars: they do not remain within fixed margins. They spread. World War I started over the Balkans and spread to every ocean; World War II started over Poland which was soon forgotten as more significant targets were hit.

We are now in the foothills of World War III. The start is over Lebanon but only occurred when a Nasser-organized revolution hit Iraq. Also Turkey, Jordan and Israel are involved and Sweden and Japan are literally scared.

And so the debate drones on and on at the United Nations Security Council.

Will the agenda be adopted? And after that, will a resolution be adopted? And will the resolution be vetoed by either the United States or Soviet Russia? What difference does it now really make? Hour after hour, I listen on the radio as millions of others do. Occasionally there is an amusing interlude as when an N.B.C. commentator spoke about the CIA being headed by one Allen Dulles. Now, what does the word, one, mean at such a moment? Allen Dulles cannot be talked down or humiliated by a baritone; he heads our intelligence services and is trying to handle an extremely difficult task with an agency that cannot mature quickly. If the CIA is in fine working condition in a generation, it will be a success. It takes a long time to make a good spy.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Is Albany the stopping or stepping-stone to Washington? You can check the lads who made it on the thumbs of your winter mittens.

Young Rockefeller is aimed that way on the wings of gubernatorial ambition. He will make a pretty good guber.

An equally young Roosevelt had a run for the roses and thorned out. The best time to have a distinguished father is while he's still alive.

Let's do an Al Smith and gander the record. Al himself discovered the "welcome" on doormats spoke another language on different steps.

The faraway cousins Teddy and Franklin gapped the bridge from Albany to Washington. And so did Grover Cleveland.

That's three out of a possible thirty-five head swivelers in the seats of the mighty. Stan the Man could top that average batting with a banana stalk.

Martin Van Buren was a native empirist and so was Millard Fillmore. If they were governors they were never investigated.

If that's a stepping stone the next hop is a jump.

Angina Pectoris And Coronary Thrombosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis are the chief diseases of the coronary arteries. The first occurs when the arteries are narrowed. The heart muscle obtains enough blood when the body is resting and the mind is tranquil, but chest pain develops with exertion and excitement. Relief follows a moment or two of rest or the use of nitroglycerin.

Conorary thrombosis represents obstruction along the coronary tree. Closure of a main branch is more serious than plugging of a small branch When the flow of blood is blocked, the victim is seized with a constricting pain beneath the breastbone that radiates into the neck and down one or both arms. Beads of perspiration appear on the forehead and the skin becomes ashen. The individual is terrified—the discomfort is unlike anything he ever experienced before. Oxygen and drugs, such as morphine, are needed.

The coronary arteries resemble the water pipes in the home. A small section of the pipe, for example, may corrode and block one sink or the entire plumbing system, depending upon the location of the obstruction. This is comparable to coronary thrombosis.

On the other hand, the pipes may give faithful service for years and become troublesome only after the accumulation of rust slows down the flow of water to a trickle. This is disheartening, especially when a quick wash is wanted. This is comparable to angina pectoris.

We can get new pipes for our bathroom, but at present not for our chest. It is conceivable, however, that this will be possible in the future. Our vascular surgeons are using vessel grafts to replace or bypass the obstructed segments in the abdomen and legs. To apply this procedure to the heart, all we need is a good test to demonstrate where the vessel is plugged.

The alternative is to encourage new blood vessels to grow into the heart muscle and there are drugs and surgical procedures that help. They are recommended for persons with severe coronary disease. The basic treatment goes back to the original cause — arteriosclerosis — which will be discussed tomorrow.

HERNIA AND ANESTHETIC

D. F. writes: Can a hernia in the groin be repaired without taking a general anesthetic?

REPLY

Yes. Some surgeons use a local anesthetic, whereas others prefer a spinal. In this type of surgery, muscles should be relaxed and the surgeon selects the type of anesthetic he considers most suitable.

NOSE AND THROAT

B. J. writes' What is nasopharyngitis?

REPLY

Inflammation of the nose and pharynx. The common cold is example.

LIVER INFECTION

P. W. writes: Can a person have hepatitis more than once?

REPLY

One attack of viral hepatitis usually confers lasting immunity. This is not necessarily true of other types of liver infection.

TOMORROW: Primary factors in arteriosclerosis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Joey Adams has gotten a lot of mileage out of the story of the wealthy man who arose at a charity dinner and announced in stentorian tones, "My name is Sam Smith and I'm the president of Dresses for Debutantes, Inc. One price, one quality for all: $22 a dozen, 2% off for cash. My address is 622 Main St., three floors AND the penthouse. I'd like to donate to this worthy cause the sum of ten dollars—anonymously."

Wife came home with a newfangled dress that made her look little more than skin-and-bones. "Ho ho," chuckled her husband, "The Complete Angular."

Yon Yonson's wife sent some bottles to the druggist in Minneapolis with this note attached: "Special note to druggist. Be sure and write it plain on the bottles, vich is for de horse and vich is for Yon. I don't vant nothing to happen to our horse before spring plowing."

Whither The Market?

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK.—With the stock market making new highs for the year in the face of the recession in business and the Middle East crisis, the big quuestion mark is where the stock market is heading.

Is this a new bull market? Or is the recovery of more than 60 per cent of the losses in last year's decline just a rally in a bear market?

Some of the answers are given in a poll by this department of the Wall Street experts, the men who make it their business to follow the stock market and economic trends.

There is no unanimity in their views, but most of them see for the long range more and more inflation. Even those who lean to the cautious side believe in the months ahead there will be selective buying opportunities.

Here are the views:

FRANCIS I. duPONT & CO.—Events of the past few days may well change the course of many things including trends in business and the stock market in the final half of 1958. However, the new development—of trouble in the Middle East and our involvement therein—is still in too early a stage to forecast the repercussions from a business or a stock market standpoint.

For example, there could be a further acceleration of government spending to increase buying of military goods and a speed-up of the missile and other programs.

If this occurs, a dual effect may be the result. First, there would be a further stimulation to business and second, additional deficit spending would further the inflation spiral which has depreciated the dollar's purchasing power to its lowest level, despite the now almost year-old recession.

From the more immediate viewpoint, common stocks have rebounded sharply from their lows of last Fall, the industrial index being 15 per cent above that bottom and only 9 per cent beneath the high of a year ago. This was despite the decline in earnings, reduction in dividends and a business recession longer and deeper than anticipated.

From a price standpoint, alone, this places shares of American industry in somewhat of a vulnerable position.

It would appear that there is a discounting in the stock market of a good economic rebound and no material international involvement with all its ominous implications. There does not appear to be much allowance for disappointments in business or in world affairs, even if only temporary.

Accordingly, even though the long-term potentialities for stocks remain favorable, predicted on the worth of shares relative to inflationary trends and to ultimate earnings and dividend prospects resulting from our ever expanding nation, a continued intermediate term conservative investment policy should be followed.

Investment portfolios should include, in addition to undervalued stocks, some reserves of cash and cash equivalent securities to take advantage of future buying opportunities.

JAMES F. HUGHES, Auchincloss, Parker Redpath — Technical and historical probabilities indicate that the industrial share price average is an intermediate selling range. Abnormal duration of recovery from the 1957 low point has contributed to a complacent optimism based on the assumption that the bear market is over and a new bull market has started.

This optimism could be double-crossed. There may be some justification for regarding the current advance as a continuation of the great new era bull market, exploiting such neglected groups as chain stores, foods, drugs and tobaccos. However, when these have received the full treatment accorded the growth stocks from 1954 to the summer of 1957, there won't be much left with which to whip up enthusiasm.

Nearly everybody concedes the market is all mixed-up. An intermediate correction from around here could add to the general mix-up.

MARTIN GILBERT, Van Alstyne, Noel & Co.—Prior to the new Mid-East turbulence, there was no indication whatever that the market's upward pace in effect since last October was slowing down. In other words, prices had shown steady forward progression in the face of adverse business news as well as uncertainties in the foreign political situation.

This strong action bodes well for the future course of stock prices and subject to interruptions, we would expect the various stock indexes to move even higher over the remaining six months of 1958. Certainly if the list was able to advance in the face of unfavorable economic factors, there is little likelihood of a mysterious setback under conditions which suggest that business troubles are about over and improvement in sight.

We would point to the dynamic action of the stock market of the past week, whereby new 1958 highs were recorded. To our mind, this presages additional investment and speculative pressure which should beat down overhead resistance and enable the list to drive up further into a two year overhead supply area.

We would repeat that the market is never a one way street, but subject to minor interrupting phases, we would look for the Dow Jones Industrial Average to approach its all-time high before the current year ends.

JOSEPH DOCTER, Laidlow & Co. — Higher prices for stocks should materialize as business improves for balance of 1958. Purchaser of stocks must be selective and avoid decadent industries.

I suggest companies with large research departments that also have big natural resources. Electronics, oils, chemicals, coal, airplane equipment — companies that will get large orders from railroads, iron and steel . . . Seasoned Canadian mining and some Canadian industrial companies.

Frostburg Little Leaguers Eliminate Oakland, 8-1

Diehl Hurls One-Hitter And Fans 14

Tommy Wilson Tops Attack; Frostburg At Hancock Today

Frostburg's All-Stars got off to a flying start in the district Little League baseball elimination tourney by defeating Oakland, Garrett county's representative, yesterday at Oakland by the score of 8-1.

Billy Diehl, pitching ace of the Frostburg Orioles, pitched a one-hitter and struck out 14 batsmen for the Mountain City nine which advanced to the second round of the tourney to play Hancock today at 6 p. m. in Hancock.

If Frostburg wins today's contest it will play host at a third round contest set for Thursday.

Dennis Shaffer's single in the fifth inning was the only hit credited to Oakland in yesterday's contest.

The Frostburg team, managed by Bill Groves and William Biggs, collected six hits, three of which were credited to Tom Wilson, who garnered two doubles and a single. Wayne Miller had two hits for the winners. Larry Orr went the distance for Oakland.

In other tourney games staged yesterday, Williamsport defeated Halfway by the score of 6-0 on a no-hitter by Don Hott, who struck out 14 batsmen, Potomac eliminated Martinsburg, 13-9, and West End defeated Federal, 4-3, in a contest between Hagerstown nines.

The Kiwanis Club defeated the Bedford Road Optimists, 13-3, and the Lions Club blanked the Jaycees, 2-0, in Hot Stove Baseball League games yesterday and continued to run one-two in the circuit's pennant race.

Kiwanis leads the league with a 9-3 record and the Lions trail by a half game at 9-4.

A seven-run explosion in the third inning enabled the Kiwanians to post their third straight triumph. Bedford Road was blanked until the final frame when Phil Ketterman walloped a three-run homer.

Johnny Price got credit for his 5th straight win of the season, leaving the game in the 4th in favor of Jimmy Powelson, who finished on the mound. Price also headed his team's 17-hit attack with two doubles and two singles. "Butch" Bosley clouted a homer and two singles. Charley Boone a homer and single. Powelson three hits and Leroy Hanekamp two. Seeders collected two of the losers' six safeties.

Ronnie Evans hooked up with Phil Barbe in a neat slab duel last night as the Lions emerged triumphant over the Jaycees. The Lions won the game in the first inning when Jimmy Sisk walked, Mike Miller doubled and both runners scored on an error by the Jaycees' centerfielder. Miller had two hits and Stratton rapped a two-bagger for the Lions. The Jaycees' lone hit was a single by "Butch" Cross in the second inning.

Evans fanned 14 and issued two passes. Barbe struck out ten and gave up two bases on balls.

The Elks moved into the .500 class with a 6-6 record by beating the Rotary Club, 6-3.

Glen Shipway posted his fifth win against one loss for the Elks. He yielded only four hits and struck out seven and paced his team at the plate with a double and two singles. A five-run rally in the 2nd inning won the game for Elks. Ray Redinger and Gary Zembower drove in two runs each with a single and triple, respectively.

John Combs of the Elks and Joe Ranker of Rotary collected two hits each. One of Ranker's blows was a homer. Wellington Donahue, Rotary hurler, struck out 13. Scores:

Frostburg clobbered Ellerslie, 27-9, Cresaptown trimmed Mt. Savage, 12-4, and LaVale rang up its fifth straight win at the expense of Lonaconing, 8-7, in Bi-State Pony Baseball League games staged yesterday.

The league leaders massaged the offerings of five Ellerslie hurlers for 19 hits and scored 15 runs in the fourth inning in routing the cellar dwellers.

Allan Eisel and Dave Kerch both had four hits in six official trips. Kerch hit for the cycle with a homer, triple, double and single and Eisel's collection of blows included a homer and triple. John and Twain Lowery had three hits each for Ellerslie, including a homer apiece. Twain's four-master came with the bases loaded.

Cresaptown remained a game off the pace by beating Mt. Savage on a one-hitter by Billy Lovett who whiffed 11 and chalked up his 9th win of the campaign against one loss. Flanagan, Hinds, Lovett and Cecil shared eight of the winners' 12 hits and McKenzie blasted a homer. Mt. Savage scored its four runs in the fifth when Tommy Deffenbaugh cleaned the bases with a triple and scored later on an infield out.

LaVale posted its eighth win in nine starts by edging Lonaconing.

The victors racked up 12 hits with Bill Kelly, Evan Smith and Jimmy Willetts collecting three blows each. Mickey Scaletta socked a two-run homer and single and Arnold Zaks and Ted Femi also obtained two hits each.

LaVale pulled the game out of the fire with a three-run rally in the 7th. Evan Smith's double sent over the first run and Bill Kelly doubled over the tying and winning markers. R. Wilson had two hits and scored four runs for 'Coney. Scores:

LaVale, Ft. Hill Riflemen Win

Rangers, Hercules Drop League Tests

WESTERN MD. RIFLE LEAGUE

Team Standings

Hercules	1	9

LaVale and Fort Hill's Scouts notched victories in the first contest of a three match novelty series fired by the Western Maryland League on Sunday evening at the Morningside Drive rifle range.

Use of the 100 yard international target at 50 yards distance put all team competitors in the "possible" count and the competition hinged on the tally of x's. Possible with 40x's by Bill Smith and Jack Fulk gave LaVale the slight margin needed to repulse the Rangers, 1600-157x to 1600-155x. Pacing LaVale gunners again moved into first place in the standings. Frank Simpson headed the losers with 40x's.

Leo Leasure and Norm White collected 40x's in the lopsided win over Hercules, 1600-158x to 800-78x. Joe Eirich scored 40x's for Hercules.

Next week's novelty match will feature use of the 50 yard target at 100 yards distance.

West Virginia High Schools Classified For Grid, Cage Tests

The Board of Appeals of the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission has set up a permanent classification of schools for both football and basketball seasons, effective this fall.

The classifications will be known as AAA, AA and A instead of AA, A and B as in the past.

Tentative plans for starting the 1959 state basketball tournament with a morning session have been reviewed by the board.

The two-day tournament to determine three champions opens March 20 in Huntington's Memorial Fieldhouse next year.

Four teams from each of three classifications will earn the right to participate in the championship round of play. The tentative schedule calls for five tournament sessions. Semi-final games in each division will be played on Friday, March 20 and the trio of championship games the next day — two in the afternoon and one at night.

Here's the way the schools in nearby West Virginia will be classified for football and basketball:

CLASS AAA:

Section 3 — Martinsburg, Fairmont East, Fairmont West and Morgantown. Section 4—Elkins, Buckhannon, Clay, Richwood and Summersville. Section 2—Grafton, Parkersburg, Clarksburg Victory and Clarksburg W-I.

CLASS AA:

Section 5 — Parsons, University of Morgantown, Kingwood and Philippi. Section 7—Petersburg, Romney, Charles Town, Keyser.

CLASS A:

Section 9—Valley, Bruceton, Terra Alta, Aurora. Section 10—Tunnelton, Newburg, Fellowsville and Rowlesburg. Section 11—Thomas, Kasson, Bayard, Belington and Harman. Section 12—Mill Creek, Pickens, Coalton, Green Bank and Beverly. Section 13—Elk Garden, Piedmont, Fort Ashby and Ridgeley. Section 14—Franklin, Wardensville, Circleville, Mathias and Moorefield. Section 15—Capon Bridge, West Virginia Deaf, Paw Paw and Berkeley Springs. Section 16—Page Jackson, Harpers Ferry, Shepherdstown, Musselman and Ramer.

Junior Brelsford hurled the Old Exports into first place in the City Softball League yesterday when he tossed a six-hitter and whiffed nine to defeat the Knights of Columbus at Post Field by the score of 7-3.

The winners racked up 10 hits, including a double and single by Bill Eckard and two one-base raps by Bill Burke. Fred Meeks' running catch of Harold Hudson's drive to left field was the fielding highlight.

Donnie Madden collected two of the Caseys' six hits and Donnie Farrell smashed a homer in the second inning. Harold Hudson excelled in left field with two nice running catches.

The Old Exports sewed it up in the first inning by grouping three walks with three hits for four runs.

Singles by Moreland, Gene Basilio and Yenkelevitz following Bobby Goss' walk in the fifth inning produced three runs and gave the Hermans a 3-2 decision over the Sports Shoppe at Naval Reserve Fjeld.

Sports Shoppe outhit the Hermans, 8 to 4. Teter collected a pair of two-baggers and Method and Meade had two singles each for the losers. Hayden Phillips notched his sixth win of the season and fanned six. Scores:

Cards Top Braves In 14th On Homer By Curt Flood, 5-4

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Curt Flood slammed his sixth homer of the season in the 14th inning Monday night, giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Flood's blast over the left field fence was the second homer of the game against Lew Burdette, who pitched the entire game for Milwaukee.

Wally Moon sent the game into extra innings with his bases-empty homer in the ninth inning, his second of the season.

Burdette, who allowed ten hits, suffered his eighth loss of the season against nine victories.

Detroit To Open Series With "Cousins" Tonight

Yankees Will Face Foytack, Lary And Bunning In Order

By TOM DYGARD

DETROIT (AP)—By all appearances things ought to be looking up for the Detroit Tigers.

Jim Bunning, their ace pitcher of a year ago who stumbled through the first two months of this season, hit the peak of recovery with a no-hitter against the Boston Red Sox Sunday.

On top of that, the Tigers' cousins, the New York Yankees, are coming to town. The Tigers, with a 9-6 edge over the mighty Yankees this season, are the only team that might boast the Yankees are cousins.

But things are not necessarily looking up for the Tigers.

In the first place, Bunning's no-hitter represented only one victory in a doubleheader. The Tigers dropped the second game 5-2. At the same time the league-leading Yankees were thumping Kansas City twice.

The business of the Tigers holding a whammy on the Yankees may go up like a wisp of smoke in a windstorm. A sweep of the three-game series starting here Tuesday night with the Tigers would do the trick for the Yankees. That would put them even at 9-9 for the season.

The last series—played at New York last week—indicates Casey Stengel may have solved the puzzle of the Tigers' mastery over the Yanks. The Tigers won the first game of a lopsided score, then lost two close ones.

Tiger Manager Bill Norman, who swept a four-game series in his first meeting with the Yankees after taking the helm in June, will pitch Paul Foytack, Frank Lary and Bunning in that order.

Billy Flamio Whips Lynch

Cops Rough-House Affair At St. Nick

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billy Flamio, stubby New York welterweight, tore into Eddie Lynch Monday night and beat him at close quarters for a unanimous decision in such a rough-house fight that the referee was pummelled for more than half a minute in the seventh round.

Their televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena was the roughest staged in New York in years.

Lynch, of New York, weighing 149 pounds to Flamio's 147½, was warned repeatedly for holding and Flamio was likewise warned for butting and kneeing. Lynch was penalized the sixth round for a foul and Flamio the eighth for kneeing.

In the hectic seventh session, when referee Teddy Martin tried to separate them, they fought back for more than 30 seconds with the referee in between them, taking a pummeling. The crowd of 1,254, almost split in their violent partisanship, raised such an uproar that it seemed a riot might ensue.

Fortunately, the referee was strong enough to separate them finally just before the bell rang ending the round.

Barney Oldfield was the first auto racer to drive a mile a minute, in 1910.

Redlegs Defeat Chicago, 9-4

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Thurman's three - run homer helped power Cincinnati's Redlegs to a 9-4 victory over Chicago's Cubs Monday night. Harvey Haddix had to squelch a Cub ninth inning rally before nailing down the victory that jumped Cincinnati from the cellar to fifth place in the tight National League scramble.

In that ninth inning uprising, Cub catcher Cal Neeman led off with a homer over the left field wall and after Bobby Adams grounded out, Tony Taylor doubled.

But Taylor was cut down at the plate trying to score on a single and Haddix got Lee Walls to fly out.

It was the sixth victory in 11 decisions for Haddix who fanned four Cubs and walked two.

Toronto Is Fined $100 For Announcer's Remarks About Ump

MONTREAL (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs have been fined $100 for remarks by their public-address announcer in the first game of a doubleheader with Montreal July 18, International League President Frank Shaughnessy announced Monday.

He said the public-address man told the crowd Lou Kahn, Toronto coach, had been ejected from the game by Umpire Frank Guzzeta for protesting Guzzeta's decision in calling fair a home-run hit by Solly Drake, Montreal outfielder, "when everyone in the park knew it was foul except Guzzeta."

Forty Niners Top Gurley's, Reach Finals

Lefty Mills Tosses 1-Hitter, Wins 5-3

Lefty John Mills pitched the Forty Niners into the finals of the three-team playoff for the first half championship of the City High School Baseball League yesterday when he tossed a one-hitter and whiffed ten to beat Woody Gurley's tossers at Stitcher Field by the score of 5-3.

For the second time this season Wayne Shook broke up a no-hitter for Mills when he garnered Gurley's lone safety. In an earlier game which the Forty Niners won by the score of 9-1 Shook obtained Gurley's only hit off Mills.

Yesterday's win advanced the team managed by Harry Mills and Bob Arthur to the playoff finals with the V.F.W. Friday at 6 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

The Forty Niners nicked Charley Rice for nine hits, six of which were shared by Dick Peck, Jim O'Neal and Jim Hammond. Jim Twigg and Bon Hershberger, Forty Niners' outfielders, turned in several nice catches. Score:

GURLEY'S	200 010 0	3	1
FORTY NINERS	200 030 x	5	9

Anne Quast Wins Medal In Western

CHICAGO (AP) — One-putting seven greens, Anne Quast of Everett, Wash., Monday shot a one-under-par 72 for a competitive course record and medalist honors of the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament.

The 20-year-old history major at Stanford got off to what she hoped will be a carbon copy performance of her 1956 feat of taking the qualifying medal in this same meet and going on to win the title.

Her steady 36-36 over the par 36-37—73 Oak Park Country Club layout also brought the slim, brown-haired beauty the Marion Miley Trophy, presented in memory of the former Women's Western Golf Assn., amateur champion of Lexington, Ky., who was killed a dozen years ago by a burglar.

Her closest pursuers were four 79 shooters; Sandy Spuzich, Indianapolis, Indiana University physical education senior; Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., Indianapolis, 1957 state champion; Clifford Ann Creed, Opelousas, La., Tam O'Shanter's All American and "World" women's amateur champion in 1956, and Betty Kerby, Akron, Ohio, a former school teacher.

LeBaron Signs 6th Redskin Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eddie LeBaron, "Mickey Rooney with muscles," signed Monday for his sixth season with the Washington Redskins.

As usual, the club declined to reveal money terms but LeBaron, who stands 5-7 and weighs only 165 pounds, is believed to be making $14,000 a season.

LeBaron will get stiff competition for the No. 1 quarterback post from Ralph Guglielmi, former Notre Dame star who is rejoining the Redskins after two years in the Air Force.

Dapper Dan All-Stars To Drill Wednesday

Saves Ten Games

Roy Face, the "Boss of the Buc Bullpen," is on the way to his greatest season — being credited with ten saves in his first 30 appearances this year. Two years ago, when Face enjoyed his best season — leading the National League with 68 appearances — Roy was credited with only nine saves, and last year, he saved only eight games.

Wertz To Return

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians announced Monday night that first baseman Vic Wertz will be returned to the active list Tuesday.

Wertz, who suffered a polio attack in 1955 and recovered to record two of his best seasons, has been on the disabled list since he suffered a broken ankle during spring training.

Tribe officials said Wertz, a left-handed batter, will be used mainly as a pinch-hitter.

Senators And Cards Win Three Straight In Dapper Dan Loop

The Senators reeled off their third straight win by whipping the Braves yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 5-4 and tied the Braves for the runner-up spot in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League. Each team has won six and lost five games.

Carl Hubble smashed a three-run homer in the first inning and added a single later in the game. John Roy banged a triple and single and Jimmy Cornelius excelled at short for the victors. Madden pounded a triple and Shroyer a double for two of the Braves' four hits yielded by Roy, who fanned five.

In the Dan Division the Cardinals also won their third in a row by trouncing the Pirates at Penn Avenue Field, 12 to 4.

The win gave the Cards a 5-6 record for the season.

Billy Ronsley, who came on to relieve Gary Morgan in the second frame, notched his third straight pitching triumph to make his record 4-2. He fanned seven. Lewis, losing twirler, struck out eleven, after replacing "Babe" Adams in the second stanza.

Gary Morgan collected four hits, Wally Harper blasted a pair of triples, Don Rice homered and Donnie Maiers garnered two singles for the Cardinals. Lonnie Lewis hit a round-tripper and single and "Ace" Jewell had a pair of base knocks for the Pirates. Scores:

AT EAST SIDE:

BRAVES	100 003	4	1
SENATORS	300 02x	5	4

Westernport tied Barton for first place in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday when Dave Marple pitched a one-hitter and struck out 11 in turning back Zihlman in an 8-0 shutout triumph at Westernport.

The victory gave Westernport a 14-3 record and extended their winning streak to eleven games.

In posting his second straight victory, Marple increased his strikeout total to 26 in two contests. Robeson's single in the second inning was Zihlman's only hit.

Westernport collected nine hits off Bridges and Robeson. Junie Perry and Joe Niland smacked a double and single each while Bobby Raines pounded a triple and Bill Salesky banked a two-bagger.

Seven hits coupled with a walk and sacrifice fly produced Westernport's eight runs in the fourth frame. The barrage included three doubles, a triple and three singles.

Lonaconing slammed the offerings of two Wright's Crossing pitchers to win by the lop-s

DangerSpots On The Farm

Here are the 21 dangerous practices we saw in the pictures appearing on Page 5. Did you find them all?

PHOTOGRAPH A: (1) A barnyard with any kind of livestock is no place for children to play. (2) Many children, just like this one, are drowned each year in water tanks, farm ponds and streams. (3) Farmer is leading the bull without a staff, using only a rope snapped into the nose ring. (4) With his back to the animal, farmer would have little warning should the bull suddenly become mad. (5) Ax with cracked handle is unsafe for use anywhere. Here it leans dangerously against the water tank. (6) Manure forks with tines up and lying on the ground threaten injury to both people and animals.

PHOTOGRAPH B: (1) Unsupervised swimming in deep and treacherous gravel pits or quarries is very dangerous. (2) No light or reflector on bicycle. (3) Careless handling of firearm by boy on abandoned pier. (4) With two boys and one bicycle, it is fair to assume that the bicycle, built for one, carried both boys to the swimming hole.

PHOTOGRAPH C: (1) Every Monday and sometimes in between, someone comes in close contact with electricity by screwing out the bulb and connecting the washing machine to the drop cord in the basement of this house. (2) Sooner or later, using a stand like this, instead of a stepladder, is certain to bring a fall. (3) Light wires are wrapped around nails and water pipe overhead. (4) Glass jars, overshoes, and other items on the cellar steps are sure to cause a tumble for someone. (5) There are better places for the little girl to play with her toys than on the cellar steps. (6) Handrails on steps will keep you from taking a bad fall someday.

PHOTOGRAPH D: (1) Farmer is refueling tractor with engine running. Fuel spilled on a hot manifold could cause a fire. (2) Smoking while refueling your tractor is a sure invitation to a disastrous explosion and fire. (3) Uncovered power take-off can catch sleeve or pants leg. (4) Children and pets should not play near machinery, especially mowers in the hayfield. (5) Driver's loose sleeve could catch in tractor engine or power take-off. Remember your farm equipment dealer has the new "Tips for Safe Tractor Operation" booklet. Ask him today for your free copy.

The National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich. will entertain Federation visitors August 1, 3. Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, director of the National Music Camp, will offer a wide range of programs illustrative of the musical resources of the camp. These will include orchestral, chamber music and band concerts, a piano ensemble program, an organ recital and two operetta performances. The Michigan Federation, of which Mrs. Gilbert Burrell of Lansing is President, will give a Federation luncheon, followed by a musical program, and a Junior Lodge, given to the camp by the Michigan Federation, will be dedicated.

Soloists during the Peninsular festival will include Ilona Kombrink, soprano, of Toronto; Aurelio Estanislao, baritone, from the Philippines; and Grant Johannesen, pianist, who will be heard with the 42-piece Chamber Orchestra, Dr. Thor Johnson conducting. Aside from the numerous concerts, events especially planned for the Federation visitors include a cruise on Green Bay and a dinner and luncheon, at one of which Dr. Johnson, as guest speaker, will report on his recent work in Formosa and the Orient.

The final summer event of 1958 for the Federation will be a Mid-Week at Oglebay Park, W. Va., August 27 and 28. Boris Goldovsky and Leonard Treash, directors of the Oglebay Park Opera Workshop, will give addresses. A production of Verdi's "Falstaff" in English under the direction of Mr. Goldovsky and Mr. Treash is on the entertainment schedule. The Thursday Music Club of Wheeling will furnish the musical program at the Federation Luncheon on Aug. 28.

Family Service

Cumberland decided to form a corporation and found a new agency. This they did, and thus the Family Service Agency, Inc. was established.

Agency Chartered

The charter of this agency empowers this group to furnish any and all assistance on a free and voluntary basis, needed to help any indigent family or individual, where such needed services are not already provided for by some existing agency. In short, Family Service is designed to fill the gap and to take up where others leave off.

Since the basic problem of this family was adequate housing, the Family Service group decided to tackle this problem first. A survey was made to find a house large enough to house a family of 18. Such a house was located in South Cumberland and was rented on a temporary, month to month basis at low rent. A campaign was waged and enough beds, chairs and other furnishings were donated to set up comfortable and adequate housekeeping. Local truckers volunteered the use of men and equipment to move the donated items and the family for the first time, was properly, if temporarily housed.

Mr. Hansford was of the opinion that he owned the tract of land on which his little tarpaper shack was located. Investigation, through the efforts of a Cumberland attorney who donated his services, disclosed that the property actually belonged to Hansford's father and that a brother had an interest. It took some time to arrange for a clear title to the tract, so that this family would have a deed for it, if a house could be built. The father and brother transferred their interest with the understanding that a house would be erected for the family. The Family Service Agency inserted a provision that the property cannot be sold, transferred or rented until the youngest child is 21.

An architest volunteered to design a barracks-type house with two dormitories on the second floor. One of these will house the girls, and the other will house the boys. The first floor is complete with kitchen, dining room, living room and a bedroom for the two parents. There are also the necessary sanitary facilities and adequate bathrooms.

Thus far, the emergency help, the incorporation, the cost of rent and other things which have been purchased, have been paid for by volunteer gifts from a few people. But now the task of actually constructing the house was to begin.

Volunteer Labor

Volunteer labor has been obtained to do the major part of this work at little or no cost. Some building materials have been donated, some firms have offered material at cost, and much more is needed.

The Family Service Agency will accept gifts of building material or cash, in order to complete this project and give a local family proper, safe and sanitary housing for the first time in their lives.

The agency is aware that this is the first of several such projects which are needed here. Already, at least three other have been recommended, but this one is the beginning, the pilot case, and from it perhaps a new way of helping less fortunate neighbors can be evolved.

Any persons who wish to assist may contact Rev. Russell Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, or may mail contributions to the Family Service Agency, Inc., 203 Grand Avenue, Cumberland, Md.

Need Cited

"Most of this group can be considered in desperate need of getting into an institution where they can be given care, but we have no place for them."

She noted that chronic diseases were just that — "those lasting a long time" She said the turnover in the Denmar patient list was slow because of that factor.

"I believe the people should know we have a fine facility at Denmar and that because the Legislature did not appropriate the money, it can not be fully used," she said. "If they know this, then they might want to do something about it."

That something, she believes, would be the contacting of legislative representatives and convince them the entire hospital should be opened for use.

Denmar faced another problem recently which so far has not been solved. Dr. H. T. Elliott, the institution's superintendent for a number of years, died unexpectedly two months ago. He has not been replaced.

"Where you have money enough to operate only on a limited basis it is hard to find qualified personnel to become head of an institution," Miss Hallanan said.

Strong Advance Carries Market To New '58 Peak

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Monday advanced strongly to another 1958 peak. Volume of 3,440,000 shares was the second biggest this year.

Key stocks rose from fractions to 3 points or more.

An estimated $2,440,000,000 was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

Steels, oils, chemicals and rubbers were outstanding in the rise. Three of the five most active stocks were steels.

The market was slightly higher at the start. The ticker tape was a minute behind transactions for a period of three minutes at the opening. Prices improved gradually or held until the final hour when a buying wave pushed stocks to their highs of the session.

Both the international news and the over-all business news are good, brokers said. A suspenseful weekend had passed without dire consequences in the Middle East. The abundance of encouraging economic reports of last week were digested. Added to this were a brighter demand picture expected for the steel industry this summer and another pickup in the steel industry operations.

Market leadership again passed to quality stocks. Strong investment buying was reported. The biggest short interest ever recorded was underneath the market as a future buying cushion, representing brrowed stock sold in the hope of repurchasing profitably in the future.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.90 to its new 1958 high of $180., putting the average at its highest since last Aug. 9. The rise equaled that of April 30 and was bettered this year only by the $2.40 advance of last Jan. 30.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Grain futures prices closed generally easy to heavy on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

At Chicago, wheat finished off 3 to 3⅜ cents; corn (old) off ½ to 1¼ cents; (new) off ⅞ to 1⅜ cents; oats off ½ to 1⅛ cents; rye off 2 to 2⅝ cents; soybeans off 3⅜ to 4⅝ cents.

Apprehension concerning further developments in the mideast crisis slowed trading throughout most of the day and resulted in a heaviness felt particularly in wheat. Few rallies came during the trading. Commission house activity seemed negligible to observers with local representatives dominating most of the business. The July option closes tomorrow.

The September contract showed the concentration of most activity in corn but activity in general was slow.

Oats and soybeans mirrored the slow trading of the leaders.

Grains at outside markets also were rather mixed with prices mostly heavy. The range:

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Model Life

Her face needn't be a model's fortune. But how far could a model go without poised and graceful carriage?

A girl has so much at stake in her posture. Correct, beautiful and poised stance brings greater admiration to a Powers Girl, for instance, than her one-in-a-thousand face.

There's more to looking like a mermaid in this summer's latest bathing suit than just having the necessary vital statistics. It's fine to have a good figure, but, during this season especially, the secret of true allure is good posture.

Practice posture in front of a mirror and you'll soon see that a sprawl looks even gawkier when you wear a swim suit than it does when you have on a formal gown. Since more of you shows out on a beach, posture becomes doubly important.

Here's another pose precaution: Don't arrange your legs in "tailor" or "jackknife" fashion until you know you're slim as a reed; otherwise, you're bound to look bulky.

To become a beauty-on-the-beach this summer, follow these tips on good posture.

When you seat yourself on the sand, hold your back and head erect. Otherwise, your supine curves and shoulders droop and make such a shambles of your figure that even the current cover-up chemises can't correct the situation.

When sitting, always watch the pose of legs. Don't ever spread them. Place legs straight out in front of you, then close them together with the ankles crossed for the most attractive line. Or draw legs to the side, keeping knees together, ankles arched and toes pointed.

Kids Found Rolling $800 Airplane Tire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Officer Paul Wade was surprised Monday when he saw several children rolling the equivalent of $800 down an alley.

The kids said they found it on a street. The officer took it in tow and police are looking for the owner of an almost new, 100-pound, 30-inch high airplane tire.

Police hope it dropped off a passing truck. They had no reports of a tire falling from an airplane.
